The Prince and the Plague.
And a Vague Earthquake.
Good Comes From Sorrow.
Wheat Takes Jump.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Schientists at Georgetown announce a heavy earthquake somewhere on the earth about 6,500 miles away. When you say 6,500 miles you reassure Americans. We all bear other people's troubles well.

The Prince of Wales is stopped in his triumphant tour through British possessions in Africa by an outbreak of plague. That may be a good thing for Africans that lack the prince's facilities for avoiding disease.

When disease threatens those high in power something is done about it. When we wanted to build the canal we found a way to end malaria at Panama.

If the French king had known that he was to die of smallpox with his favorite lady leaving him to die alone like a sick dog, he would probably have done some cleaning up in Paris.

He might even have transferred his attention from his Pare Aux Cerfts harem to the young English doctor, Jenner, then experimenting with vaccination.

The Germans, it should be remembered, had a plan in their mark collapse. They sold printed paper to foreign countries at the price of real money and thus let other countries pay their debts. And, that was not so dull, whatever you may think of it ethically. In any case that plan would not suit France, for there the little man with his wealth in francs really counts. In Germany he is less important.

Herriot's downfall caused President Coolidge to issue a statement praising the work accomplished by the Socialist prime minister. The president observes that Herriot's financial troubles were inherited from the government that preceded his and credits him with excellent results in his effort to reach some settlement with Germany.

Yesterday was the birthday of their son, Calvin, Jr., and the President and Mrs. Coolidge gave a party for the children of Washington on the White House grounds.

Had their son lived he would have witnessed his seventeenth birthday celebration. A day of sad memories for the father and mother, they choose to make it a day of happiness for many other children.

Thus among civilized beings individual sorrow is the source of happiness for others and misfortune finds its solace in doing good.

Wheat jumped up more than seven cents a bushel Saturday and worried the "short sellers." Winter wheat is reported in bad condition. Rumania usually growing a great wheat surplus, is buying wheat. Russia must buy 500,000 tons to avoid famine. Gambling is dangerous on either side of the market and especially on the short side in America.

Russia finds some consolation for a poor wheat crop in her oil wealth and in exports generally. Austria-Hungary bought 30,000 tons of crude oil from Russia last year and Russia's oil business is spreading out in all directions.

The Russians are working desperately hard to enlarge their export business.

Standing on the docks at Budapest or in Vienna, you see barges going up the Danube, fighting the strong current on their way to German markets, and loaded with Russian goods.

The merchandise goes by sea from Odessa to Galatz, and thence up the river in barges.

How long will this country wait before doing business with Russia, a land much bigger than ours and for all we know, far richer potentially.

Woman, Who Hurled Her Twins to Death, Found Asphyxiated

NEW YORK, April 14.—Mrs. Bessie Katz, 28, who hurled her twin baby boys to death from the third story of her home December 2, 1924, was found dead in a gas-filled apartment early today.

Police, who had been searching for her since her disappearance yesterday morning, believed Mrs. Katz killed herself in a fit of despondency over the death of her babies.

FIRE DESTROYS MARTIN HOME IN BLOOMFIELD; LOSS IS $5,000

Blaze Occurs When Members of Family Are Absent.

BLAME CHIMNEY

Bucket Brigade Fails in Attempt to Save Structure.

Fire, originating, it is believed, from a defective chimney, destroyed the seven-room two-story frame house, owned and occupied by Mrs. Mary Martin, in Bloomfield, three and one-half miles north of East Liverpool, at 9 o'clock last night. The loss, estimated at $5,000, is partially covered by insurance.

Barn is Saved.

The blaze occured while Mrs. Martin and her two daughters, Dora and Helen, were absent from the house. Mrs. Martin had left a fire in the kitchen range, when she left early in the evening. John Frazier, a brother of Mrs. Martin, who is a tenant on the farm, visited the house about 8 o'clock. He said there was no sign of fire at that time.

Alfred Eardley, a neighbor, who resides about a half mile from the Martin home, was the first to discover the fire. His attention was attracted by flames shooting from the kitchen chimney. He ran to the house and found the rear end of the building in flames. He notified other neighbors who hurried to the place.

Before a bucket brigade could be formed the entire house was doomed and not a single article of furniture could be saved. The bucket brigade devoted attention to a barn, located about 150 feet from the house, and a nearby outkitchen. One end of the outkitchen was damaged.

Family Find Home in Ruins.

Mrs. Martin knew nothing of the blaze until she returned at 11:30 o'clock. Her two daughters, who had been visiting at relative's home on the Northside, returned at 10 o'clock to discover the home destroyed. When Mrs. Martin reached home from a motion picture show, nothing remained of the house but a mass of smouldering ruins.

Edward Martin, of the C. N. Miller funeral home, a son of the owner, reached the house about a half hour after the blaze was discovered, having been called by a friend. His mother spent the night at his home in Seventh street.

BELIEVE WOMAN DEAD IN BLAZE

Guest Cremated in New Castle—Five Others Hurt.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., April 14.—Mrs. Anna Miller, 63, of Eugene, Oregon, was believed to have been cremated here today when fire destroyed the home of W. A. Weinschneck, president of the National Vegetable Growers' association.

Mrs. Miller was aroused by members of the family when the flames were discovered, but no trace of her was found following the blaze.

Mrs. Miller was spending the winter with the Winschneck family.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 14. — Fire believed to have started in a rubbish pile, swept through the Weitzkorn building and adjoining properties here today, injuring two firemen, overcoming three persons and causing damage estimated at $400,000.

The injured firemen, Ralph French, 26, and Merrill Nelson, 25, are in local hospitals and will recover. French was hurt when he fell through a roof, while the other victim was caught beneath a falling wall. Mr. and Mrs. Levi Snyder and their child, who were overcome, were revived within a short time after they were carried from the building.

ROCHESTER, Kent, England, April 14.—Six persons were dead today, believed to have been drowned when a navy launch capsized after colliding with a barge.

Two Police Officers Ambushed and Slain; Another Is Wounded

Three Victims of Shooting Trapped Near Reedy Creek Ravine, Tenn., While on Way to Make Raid.

KINGSPORT, Tenn., April 14.—A mountain gun battle in which two police officers, John Smith and Hubert Webb, were ambushed and killed, and another officer, George Frazier, probably fatally injured, took place near Reedy Creek ravine late yesterday, according to word brought here today by the survivors.

The officers were shot, according to the survivors, by Kin Wagner, 22, a fugitive from justice, who is said to be wanted in Greene county, Miss., on charges of having killed a constable there.

The three victims of the shooting, together with two other officers, had started for the Reedy Creek ravine to raid a house of ill-fame and were proceeding down the ravine when fire was opened on them from the bushes, the two officers falling dead almost instantly. Before the others could find shelter, Frazier fell with a shot through the body.

The other two officers were routed by the gun fire and returned to Kingsport for help. In the meantime, according to a young farmer, the fugitive during the absence of the officers, reached a nearby highway, commandeered a horse at the point of his gun and made his way to the Virginia border, a few miles south of Kingsport.

It is believed that the fugitive was hiding and on seeing the officers approach thought that they had come to arrest him and opened fire. Posses are searching the mountains near Kingsport for Wagner.

THREE ARE INJURED, ONE PROBABLY FATALLY, IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Seven-year-old Girl May Die as Result of Crash on Columbiana-Middleton Road.

Helen Pusey, 7-year-old daughter of Mrs. Sarah Pusey, of Elm street, Columbiana, is believed fatally injured today, while her four-year-old sister, Rosina, and her mother are in a serious condition, as the result of an automobile accident on the Columbiana-Middleton road, three miles south of Columbiana.

The three victims are in the Salem City hospital. Helen is suffering from a compound fracture of the skull, a broken collar bone and lacerations, and Mrs. Pusey suffered several broken ribs and bruises.

Mrs. Pusey and her two children were motoring with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Therss, also of Columbiana and in an effort to pass another car, the Therss machine was forced from the road into a ditch.

The five occupants were thrown from the car.

Therss is suffering from a nervous break down. His wife was not hurt.

Friday, April 24, Is "Traffic Safety Day" in Schools

Friday, April 24, will be "Traffic Safety Day" in the public and parochial schools of Columbiana county and a section of Hancock county.

The date was set at a meeting of the board of directors of the Columbiana County Motor club, held in Lisbon last night. Speakers are to be sent to most schools, especially those situated along the main highways of the county, by the auto club to explain safety precautions. To schools, located off the main roads, a letter will be forwarded, explaining the campaign.

The movement has been endorsed by the school, municipal and county authorities.

JUMPS, SAVES LIFE IN CRASH

Woman Unhurt as Fast Train Wrecks Automobile.

Mrs. Samuel Gleckler, residing two miles south of Columbiana, saved her life at 7:30 o'clock last evening by leaping from her automobile just a few seconds before it was struck by a fast westbound passenger train at the Elm street crossing in Columbiana. The car was reduced to a mass of wreckage.

Mrs. Gleckler had driven up to the crossing in her machine and stopped to let an eastbound freight train pass. She failed to notice the approach of the passenger train and started her automobile as soon as the freight train passed. The watchman at the crossing signalled her to stop, but she misunderstood his warning and drove her car directly in the path of the approaching train.

The watchman called for her to jump. She leaped from the car just as the locomotive struck it. The automobile was hurled against the railroad tower, badly damaging the supporting posts. The woman escaped without a scratch.

Russia Standing On Edge of Abyss, Is Expert's Belief

LONDON, April 14. — Russia is standing on the edge of an abyss, as the result of concessions made to capital in the hope of restoring production, according to Lancelot Lawton, an expert of Russia, whose articles are appearing in the Daily Chronicle.

He said the Soviet capitol is a ferment and the ranks of the communists are widely divided.

AUTO DRIVERS MUST STOP AT INTERSECTION, POLICE RULING

New Traffic Regulations Drafted by Chief McDermott.

SAVE-LIFE PLAN

Warning Signs Will be Painted on Crossings.

New traffic regulations, compelling automobile drivers to stop before attempting to cross street intersections, particularly in the business district, will become effective here within the next few days, Chief of Police Hugh McDermott said today.

Street intersections where motorists will be required to stop before crossing are Walnut and Fifth street, Broadway and Fifth, Washington and Fifth, Market and Fifth, Jackson and and Sixth, Jefferson and West Eighth street extension and Lisbon and West Eighth streets.

The word "Stop" in large letters is to be painted across the street on each side of the crossing, as a means of reminding drivers of the new regulations. Automobile drivers who disregard the regulations are to be ordered to appear before the mayor.

"With the opening of the motoring season steps must be taken to safeguard the lives of pedestrians as well as the autorist," Chief of Police McDermott declared.

"The police order, compelling motorists to come to a dead stop before attempting to cross the busy downtown street corners will go far toward preventing accidents, this department believes. It is not the intentions of the police department to establish rules and regulations which will work a hardship on the motorist but something must be done this year to reduce traffic hazards wherever possible.

The "no left turn" regulation at the corner of Fifth and Market street is to be rigidly enforced. Any motorist, who ignores this order and meets with an accident at the corner, would be liable to a damage suit inasmuch as he had violated a police order in making the turn off Fifth street. We

DETROIT, April 14.—Twenty-five thousand acres of country extending from Flat Rock to Ypsilanti, are under water today as the result of a torrent which swept down the Huron river through a break in an artificial clay embankment at the Detroit-Edison dam at French Landing.

Scores of persons were made temporarily homeless and Flat Rock and South Rockwood and Belleville were inundated, while several bridges and houses were destroyed by the flood.

The flood was receding this morning.

BODY OF WOMAN, MISSING SINCE FEB. 19, IS FOUND HANGING TO FARM TREE

Mrs. Sarah A. Smith, 54, Widow of Former County Treasurer and Ex-postmaster at Columbiana, Commits Suicide—Mental Collapse Following Husband's Death is Blamed.

GRUESOME DISCOVERY IS MADE NEAR LOUISVILLE BY GROUP OF LABORERS

Body is in Bad State of Decomposition, Indicating Death Occurred Shortly After She Fled From Massillon State Hospital for Insane—Coroner Returns Verdict.

Mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Sarah A. Smith, 54, widow of the late Charles E. Smith, former county treasurer, ex-postmaster and clothing merchant, Columbiana, who disappeared from the Massillon state hospital for the insane on February 19, was solved yesterday with the finding of the woman's body, hanging to a tree on the Jacob Comfort farm, about two and one half miles from Louisville, Stark county.

The gruesome discovery was made by a group of laborers employed at a construction camp, as they were making their way through a wooded section on the Comfort farm. The body, which had been hanging for about six weeks, was in a bad state of decomposition.

Identification was made through a letter, addressed to her daughter, Miss Margaret Smith, a student at Bryn Mawr college, near Philadelphia, which Mrs. Smith had written February 10.

Mrs. Smith suffered a mental collapse following the death of her husband, two years ago.

Committed to State Hospital.

At the request of relatives, Mrs. Smith was adjudged insane and committed to the Massillon hospital after treatment in a private sanitarium in Philadelphia failed to improve her condition.

A country-wide search has been instituted following her escape from the state institution. It is believed she killed herself shortly after she fled from the hospital.

Funeral Services Wednesday.

Coroner T. C. McQuaide, of Canton, returned a verdict of suicide, after the body was taken to that city.

In addition her daughter, Mrs. Smith leaves a son, Charles E. Smith, Jr., of Philadelphia, and four sisters, Miss Grace Baker and Mrs. John Rupert, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Theodore Uran, Alliance and Mrs. William Sharer, Cleveland. She was a member of the Columbiana Presbyterian church.

The body arrived in Columbiana this morning from Canton and was taken to the Frye funeral home, where services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, in charge of Rev. J. C. Struble, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in the Columbiana cemetery.

NIPPON Y. M. C. A. CHIEF SPEAKS

Rotary Members Hear G. C. Converse of Osaka.

Organization and operation of the Rotary club in Osaka, Japan, was discussed by G. C. Converse, honorary secretary of the Y. M. C. A. there, at today's Rotary club luncheon.

Mr. Converse has been located in Japan since 1910 with the exception of a short time he was in the army during the World war. He taught in the government schools before taking up his work as general secretary.

He told of the work done by the Rotary club in the Far East. The membership of the club, he declared, includes the leading business men and professional men of Osaka, a city of approximately one and one-half million people. He came to the United States, a few months ago as delegate from the Osaka club to the International Rotary convention, which will be held in Cleveland in June.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon, Mr. Converse addressed the student body of the high school. He will also speak at a Y. M. C. A. membership dinner in the Y banquet hall, at 6 o'clock tonight.

Wilbur H. Nagel, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was chairman of today's Rotary luncheon.

Charles Boyce, retiring president of the club, expressed his gratitude for the splendid co-operation which members of the club had given him during the year which he had served as head of the club. He then turned the gavel over to Attorney F. L. Wells, of Wellsville, new president. Malcolm Thompson, newly elected vice-president, spoke briefly.

The chorus singing was led by T. E. Lewis.

GOV. DONAHEY ASSAILED FROM FOUR SIDES FOR ATTACK ON UTILITIES BOARD

By HAROLD G. McCOY.

COLUMBUS, April 14.—Covernor Donahey was assailed from four sides today for his attack by radio on the state utilities commission.

Fred W. Warner, Marion, chairman of the Republican state central committee, charged that the governor's appeal for confirmation of his utility commission appointments was a plea for a "meal ticket" for James W. Huffman, "Donahey's Democratic prospective son-in-law." Warner warned the Republican majority in the state senate to "view with caution the creation of an inexperienced crown prince for the Donahey family."

Charges against the commission were also flatly denied by Commissioners George T. Poor, Cincinnati, and Frank B. Maullar, Chillicothe, in a statement in which they asserted the "governor had not been honest with the people of Ohio." Denials of charges also were entered by J. Seney Blue, representative of the American Gas and Electric company, and William B. Woodbury, assistant to the president of the New York Telephone company, who were attacked by Donahey.

Finish Fight Looms.

The statements were accepted here as indicating that Republican leaders propose to accept the governor's challenge for a finish fight over confirmation by the senate of his appointment of James W. Huffman, Chandlersville, and Earl D. Bloom, Bowling Green, as members of the state utilities commission to succeed Poor and Charles C. Marshall, Democratic members of the board.

J. Seney Blue, representative of the American Gas and Electric company, who also was a target of the governor's fire, contented himself with this statement:

"The governor has taken it upon himself to attack me personally. I hope he has had a good time."

Woodbury Denies Charges.

Political leaders here are preparing to watch carefully for the expected results of the governor's frank appeal to the people for support in his fight for confirmation of his utility commission appointments.

William B. Woodbury, assistant to the president of the New York Telephone company, who was charged by the governor with directing the fight of the telephone lobby, denied all charges made against him by the governor, in a statement issued over long distance telephone from New York. He said:

"Truth compels me to make categorical denial of the whole or any part of the governor's chargees.

"I have not been in the Ohio state house in recent months, nor have I talked with any senator personally or through any satellite in behalf of any utility commission nominee's confirmation or rejection.

"I am an officer and director in miscellaneous Ohio corporations and their interests send me to Columbus frequently. I could hardly be called an

Helen Pusey, 7-year-old daughter of Mrs. Sarah Pusey, of Elm street, Columbiana, is believed fatally injured today, while her four-year-old sister, Rosina, and her mother are in a serious condition, as the result of an automobile accident on the Columbiana-Middleton road, three miles south of Columbiana.

The three victims are in the Salem City hospital. Helen is suffering from a compound fracture of the skull, a broken collar bone and lacerations, and Mrs. Pusey suffered several broken ribs and bruises.

Mrs. Pusey and her two children were motoring with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Therss, also of Columbiana and in an effort to pass another car, the Therss machine was forced from the road into a ditch.

The five occupants were thrown from the car.

Therss is suffering from a nervous break down. His wife was not hurt.

Friday, April 24, Is "Traffic Safety Day" in Schools

Friday, April 24, will be "Traffic Safety Day" in the public and parochial schools of Columbiana county and a section of Hancock county.

To schools, located off the main roads, a letter will be forwarded, explaining the campaign.

The movement has been endorsed by the school, municipal and county authorities.

JUMPS, SAVES LIFE IN CRASH

Woman Unhurt as Fast Train Wrecks Automobile.

Mrs. Samuel Gleckler, residing two miles south of Columbiana, saved her life at 7:30 o'clock last evening by leaping from her automobile just a few seconds before it was struck by a fast westbound passenger train at the Elm street crossing in Columbiana. The car was reduced to a mass of wreckage.

Mrs. Gleckler had driven up to the crossing in her machine and stopped to let an eastbound freight train pass. She failed to notice the approach of the passenger train and started her automobile as soon as the freight train passed. The watchman at the crossing signalled her to stop, but she misunderstood his warning and drove her car directly in the path of the approaching train.

The watchman called for her to jump. She leaped from the car just as the locomotive struck it. The automobile was hurled against the railroad tower, badly damaging the supporting posts. The woman escaped without a scratch.

Russia Standing On Edge of Abyss, Is Expert's Belief

He said the Soviet capitol is a ferment and the ranks of the communists are widely divided.

AUTO DRIVERS MUST STOP AT INTERSECTION, POLICE RULING

SAVE-LIFE PLAN

Warning Signs Will be Painted on Crossings.

New traffic regulations, compelling automobile drivers to stop before attempting to cross street intersections, particularly in the business district, will become effective here within the next few days, Chief of Police Hugh McDermott said today.

Street intersections where motorists will be required to stop before crossing are Walnut and Fifth street, Broadway and Fifth, Washington and Fifth, Market and Fifth, Jackson and and Sixth, Jefferson and West Eighth street extension and Lisbon and West Eighth streets.

The word "Stop" in large letters is to be painted across the street on each side of the crossing, as a means of reminding drivers of the new regulations. Automobile drivers who disregard the regulations are to be ordered to appear before the mayor.

"With the opening of the motoring season steps must be taken to safeguard the lives of pedestrians as well as the autorist," Chief of Police McDermott declared.

"The police order, compelling motorists to come to a dead stop before attempting to cross the busy downtown street corners will go far toward preventing accidents, this department believes. It is not the intentions of the police department to establish rules and regulations which will work a hardship on the motorist but something must be done this year to reduce traffic hazards wherever possible.

The "no left turn" regulation at the corner of Fifth and Market street is to be rigidly enforced. Any motorist, who ignores this order and meets with an accident at the corner, would be liable to a damage suit inasmuch as he had violated a police order in making the turn off Fifth street. We

Mrs. Sarah A. Smith, 54, Widow of Former County Treasurer and Ex-postmaster at Columbiana, Commits Suicide—Mental Collapse Following Husband's Death is Blamed.

GRUESOME DISCOVERY IS MADE NEAR LOUISVILLE BY GROUP OF LABORERS

Body is in Bad State of Decomposition, Indicating Death Occurred Shortly After She Fled From Massillon State Hospital for Insane—Coroner Returns Verdict.

Mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Sarah A. Smith, 54, widow of the late Charles E. Smith, former county treasurer, ex-postmaster and clothing merchant, Columbiana, who disappeared from the Massillon state hospital for the insane on February 19, was solved yesterday with the finding of the woman's body, hanging to a tree on the Jacob Comfort farm, about two and one half miles from Louisville, Stark county.

The gruesome discovery was made by a group of laborers employed at a construction camp, as they were making their way through a wooded section on the Comfort farm. The body, which had been hanging for about six weeks, was in a bad state of decomposition.

Identification was made through a letter, addressed to her daughter, Miss Margaret Smith, a student at Bryn Mawr college, near Philadelphia, which Mrs. Smith had written February 10.

Mrs. Smith suffered a mental collapse following the death of her husband, two years ago.

Committed to State Hospital.

At the request of relatives, Mrs. Smith was adjudged insane and committed to the Massillon hospital after treatment in a private santtarium in Philadelphia failed to improve her condition.

A country-wide search has been instituted following her escape from the state institution. It is believed she killed herself shortly after she fled from the hospital.

Funeral Services Wednesday.

Coroner T. C. McQuaide, of Canton, returned a verdict of suicide, after the body was taken to that city.

In addition her daughter, Mrs. Smith leaves a son, Charles E. Smith, Jr., of Philadelphia, and four sisters, Miss Grace Baker and Mrs. John Rupert, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Theodore Uran, Alliance and Mrs. William Sharer, Cleveland. She was a member of the Columbiana Presbyterian church.

The body arrived in Columbiana this morning from Canton and was taken to the Frye funeral home, where services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, in charge of Rev. J. C. Struble, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in the Columbiana cemetery.

NIPPON Y. M. C. A. CHIEF SPEAKS

Rotary Members Hear G. C. Converse of Osaka.

Organization and operation of the Rotary club in Osaka, Japan, was discussed by G. C. Converse, honorary secretary of the Y. M. C. A. there, at today's Rotary club luncheon.

Mr. Converse has been located in Japan since 1910 with the exception of a short time he was in the army during the World war. He taught in the government schools before taking up his work as general secretary.

He told of the work done by the Rotary club in the Far East. The membership of the club, he declared, includes the leading business men and professional men of Osaka, a city of approximately one and one-half million people. He came to the United States, a few months ago as delegate from the Osaka club to the International Rotary convention, which will be held in Cleveland in June.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon, Mr. Converse addressed the student body of the high school. He will also speak at a Y. M. C. A. membership dinner in the Y banquet hall, at 6 o'clock tonight.

Wilbur H. Nagel, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was chairman of today's Rotary luncheon.

Charles Boyce, retiring president of the club, expressed his gratitude for the splendid co-operation which members of the club had given him during the year which he had served as head of the club. He then turned the gavel over to Attorney F. L. Wells, of Wellsville, new president. Malcolm Thompson, newly elected vice-president, spoke briefly.

The chorus singing was led by T. E. Lewis.

GOV. DONAHEY ASSAILED FROM FOUR SIDES FOR ATTACK ON UTILITIES BOARD

By HAROLD G. McCOY.

COLUMBUS, April 14.—Covernor Donahey was assailed from four sides today for his attack by radio on the state utilities commission.

Fred W. Warner, Marion, chairman of the Republican state central committee, charged that the governor's appeal for confirmation of his utility commission appointments was a plea for a "meal ticket" for James W. Huffman, "Donahey's Democratic prospective son-in-law." Warner warned the Republican majority in the state senate to "view with caution the creation of an inexperienced crown prince for the Donahey family."

Charges against the commission were also flatly denied by Commissioners George T. Poor, Cincinnati, and Frank B. Maullar, Chillicothe, in a statement in which they asserted the "governor had not been honest with the people of Ohio." Denials of charges also were entered by J. Seney Blue, representative of the American Gas and Electric company, and William B. Woodbury, assistant to the president of the New York Telephone company, who were attacked by Donahey.

Finish Fight Looms.

The statements were accepted here as indicating that Republican leaders propose to accept the governor's challenge for a finish fight over confirmation by the senate of his appointment of James W. Huffman, Chandlersville, and Earl D. Bloom, Bowling Green, as members of the state utilities commission to succeed Poor and Charles C. Marshall, Democratic members of the board.

J. Seney Blue, representative of the American Gas and Electric company, who also was a target of the governor's fire, contented himself with this statement:

"The governor has taken it upon himself to attack me personally. I hope he has had a good time."

Woodbury Denies Charges.

Political leaders here are preparing to watch carefully for the expected results of the governor's frank appeal to the people for support in his fight for confirmation of his utility commission appointments.

William B. Woodbury, assistant to the president of the New York Telephone company, who was charged by the governor with directing the fight of the telephone lobby, denied all charges made against him by the governor, in a statement issued over long distance telephone from New York. He said:

"Truth compels me to make categorical denial of the whole or any part of the governor's chargees.

"I have not been in the Ohio state house in recent months, nor have I talked with any senator personally or through any satellite in behalf of any utility commission nominee's confirmation or rejection.

"I am an officer and director in miscellaneous Ohio corporations and their interests send me to Columbus frequently. I could hardly be called an

KANSAS LABOR COURT LAW HIT

Union Leader Happy as Supreme Justices Make Ruling.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Terming it their "Magna Charta," American Federation of Labor officials were jubilant today over the United States supreme court decision nullifying the Kansas industrial court law which for more than two years has been the center of a heated controversy.

"The supreme court has re-established the charter rights of labor as laid down by the American Constitution," William Green, president of the federation, said to International News Service.

The Kansas law forced both labor and capital to submit to arbitration and comply with the decision of the arbitration tribunal, providing penalties for non-compliance.

"The decision leaves labor free as it should be to bargain collectively with employers," Green declared. "In my opinion it completely destroys the effectiveness of the Kansas industrial court and American labor can now enter an area of new progress with this milestone behind it."

Capital, Labor Benefit.

Green said the whole industrial atmosphere had been clarified and both capital and labor would materially benefit by the decision.

"Compulsory arbitration, as provided by the Kansas statute, carried to its logical conclusion, means industrial slavery. If you can force men to work, they are slaves," he declared.

A significant feature of the court action, according to Green, was that the Wolf Packing company of Kansas City, employing hundreds of men, was the agency through which the case was carried to the supreme court.

This employer realized that his freedom was also interfered with," he added.

"If men are forced to work against their wills, employers must also abide by decisions of the court which might force them to keep more men on their payrolls than they desired."

Investigate Colorado Laws

Labor attorneys have started an investigation of the Colorado laws which force employes to remain at work for 30 days after a strike has been called so that an investigation of the difficulty can be made by the state tribunal.

Although the Colorado act is not believed to completely parallel the Kansas statute, it is thought that the 30-day compulsory labor clause might similarly be interpreted as interfering with the constitutional rights of American citizens.

Unofficial opinion in labor circles was that an effort might be made to break the Colorado law.

Officials here say that there will be better understanding between employers and employees now that there has been a decision favoring collective bargaining.

outsider. I was born in Columbus and still hold my residence and pay taxes there."

Will Seek Third Term.

The governor's speech was taken here as confirmation of the reports first revealed by International News Service that detectives reputed to be employed by the governor were spying here on the activities of lobbyists active in the utility commission fight.

His remarks also were interpreted as further confirmation of the belief of political leaders that the governor proposes to run for a third term and to make his fight large against utility rates in Ohio.

The reaction upon the legislature, especially upon the members of the senate rules committee which now holds the key to confirmation of Huffman and Bloom as utility commissioners, will not be apparent until the legislature resumes its deliberations Thursday after a three weeks' recess.

The main question to be answered, according to political leaders, is whether the people of the state will respond to the governor's plea for support.

But, the press did not remain motionless. Brother Elkins, whose readers wait for his voice as the desert wanderers waited for Moses to come down, backed a small automobile into his press room, jacked up the wheel, ran the press by automobile power and got out his edition, 1,500 copies to the gallon.

A publisher so resourceful must command attention in his territory.

Good luck and safety go with these young gentlemen, precious and only representative of the theory that sought to establish greatness through heredity.

They cannot, however, hope for the interest aroused by their father when he went lion hunting in Africa, or seeking the man eating fish on "the river of doubt."

"To bring back information from your travels, you must take information with you," say the French. To bring back glory from your big game shooting, you must take glory with you. Theodore, the first, had done something before he went lion hunting.

MOTOR VEHICLE BILL GETS O. K.

Donahey Signs Lipp Measure — Increases Veto List to 23.

COLUMBUS, April 14. — The way was opened today for motor vehicle reciprocity between Ohio and adjoining states. Governor Donahey signed the Lipp bill, permitting the secretary of state and a member of the state utilities commission to enter into such agreements on behalf of Ohio.

The bill was framed by a special committee of the house, headed by Majority Leader Taft, after conference with officials of Indiana and West Virginia legislatures, in the hope of ending controversies between Ohio and adjoining states over recognition of Ohio auto tags in these states, and reciprocal recognition by Ohio of licenses issued in adjoining states.

Five other bills signed by the governor were:

By Representative Davis, Cuyahoga, giving electric light companies powers of eminent domain in appropriation of land.

By Representative Schmuelling, Hamilton, giving union depot companies authority to issue preferred stock.

By Senator McCreary, Hamilton, giving the utilities commission power of review over local ordinance terms other than rates to be charged by utility companies.

By Representative Cooley, Cuyahoga, requiring actions against railroad companies for refund of alleged overcharges for interstate hauling to be brought within three years.

By Mrs. C. J. Ott, Mahoning, permitting library districts to contract for service in contiguous territory outside of county.

Governor Donahey vetoed four more bills, bringing the total disapproved to 23.

One bill vetoed was sponsored by Representative Stewart, Lawrence, and was designed to permit annexation questions to be submitted at primary elections. The governor said at many primary elections so few persons vote that a representative judgment was impossible on such a question.

The governor vetoed another Stewart bill, which would permit county commissioners to order annexation of a portion of the territory of a village, on petition of two thirds of the residents affected. He said the petition method was "notoriously ineffective."

A third bill vetoed was sponsored by Representative Hilt, Meigs, and would have taken final purisdiction in motor vehicle law cases from Mayor's courts.

The governor also vetoed the Rea bill which would have given control of township buildings to a board of seven trustees to be appointed by a common pleas court. He said the division of authority would allow opportunity for mismanagement and graft.

Ford Makes Offer For Stout Metal Airplane Plant

DETROIT, April 14.—Directors of the Stout Metal Airplane company, at a secret meeting this afternoon, will be asked to vote upon an offer from the Ford Motor company, to buy out their concern.

This is the outstanding development following the inauguration Monday of the Ford company's private freight air line to Chicago, soon to embrace other cities. It is considered the pioneer undertaking in American commercial aviation.

Henry Ford, who witnessed the first flight, declared that the Ford company is determined to make a success of commercial aviation. He clinched his remarks with this statement:

"We don't care what it costs. This is the time to get into it and make it go and we can do that, we know. So the orders here are to go ahead and whatever the expense, it will not be given consideration."

The Stout company built the "Maiden Dearborn," used yesterday in the first air freight experiment.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 14—Industrial stocks carried over in today's session the strength which was in evidence at the close of Monday's market. The high priced market leaders including American Can and General Electric sold about a point higher in the early trading and motor stocks exhibited a reactionary trend as a result of the actual cutting of Gulf coast crude oil in Mid-continent.

Specialty stocks were inclined to continue their upward movement. American Sugar ran up fractionally higher to 71¼ and then fell back to 70 on profit-taking. Northwestern railroad stocks were again under pressure, Chicago and Northwestern declining to around it low price for the year.

In the foreign exchange market, French francs lost about five points in the early trading. The grain markets were unsettled at the opening. Money market conditions were easier; call money renewals being posted at 3½ per cent, at the start. Missouri Kansas Texas, Kansas City Southern and Missouri Pacific stocks were fairly active on reports these lines are to be combined, under the direction of L. F. Loree, to form a powerful southwestern system which might also include Chicago and Alton and other roads. Katy common was up nearly 2 points, Missouri Pacific common up 2 points at 34½; Chicago and Alton preferred up 1½ at 14½; Kansas Southern up 2 at 32½.

Consolidated gas was a leader in a moderate rally in public utility stocks, which also included A. T. & T., North American Co., and Utah Securities. Market conditions were favorable for a display of strength in the so-called market specialties, most of which sold up a point or two on fairly active trading. International paper, United Drug, Safety Razor, and Universal Pipe preferred were prominent in this list.

ART, ACTING, ACTION AND MERIT IN "CAPTAIN BLOOD," AT CERAMIC

Sabatini's Famous Love Story Converted Into Photoplay That Wins Plaudits of Critics.

Movies have been described in such glowing terms that there scarcely seems to be words left to describe a really good picture. It is not until the reviewer sees a production like Rafael Sabatini's "Captain Blood," which was presented at the Ceramic theatre last evening, opening a week's engagement, this week, that he wishes he had been more conservative in describing other photoplays.

There is art, acting, action and merit in "Captain Blood." It is different from other films and contains a wealth of those features that have made the photoplay a chief factor in the world's amusement attraction. After witnessing a score of average film production it is as refreshing as an oasis in the desert to see one of the calibre of "Captain Blood."

From the first when Peter Blood is arrested and sent a slave to be sold at Barbadoes, to the final scene when, as governor of the island, he wins the hand of Arabella Bishop, there is not a dull moment. The slave market, the insurrection of the slaves, the attack on Georgetown, the capture of the Arabella by Blood and his fellow rebels, convict, the encounter with the French fleet, duels between Blood and a pirate chief, and with a Spanish officer; the burning of a ship and the sinking of the Arabella are a few of the spectacular highlights in the production. These follow each other in rapid succession.

The love interests is well handled, the major thread being carried in commandable manner by J. Warren Kerrigan as Peter Blood and Jean Paige as Arabella Bishop. Kerrigan has a role different than any he had previously essayed in his long and varied career. Those who admire this versatile actor will surely enjoy his work in the production. Jean Paige has lost none of her charm and ability during her brief absence from the screen. If anything she has returned with more grace and charm.

The minor love interest is carried by James Morison and Charlotte Merriam. Morrison has a difficult role which he handles amiably, and Charlotte Merriam indicates that she will soon be one of the shinning lights of filmdom.

Columns might be written commenting upon the work of such screen favorites as Wilfrid North, Templar Saxe, Allan Forrest, Betram Grassby, Henry Herbert, Otis Harlan, Otto Matiesen, Jack Curtis, Joseph Rickson and a score of others. Each fits into the role with kid glove exactness, leaving nothing to be desired.

The intense dramatic action is relieved by patches of humor in sequence with Otis Harlan, Wilfrid North and Templar Saxe. These touches are capably handled by skilled artists and enhance the entertaining value of the picture a hundredfold.

The photography and art titles are excellent and the entire gem a credit to the masterly direction of David Smith. The massive scenes in which hundreds of players are used, and there are a number., are classics in the way of direction. The sinking of the Arabella is one of the best pieces of screen technic to be shown in a film.

Rafael Sabatini's famous love story has been closely followed with the result that the author's hand is revealed in every sequence. This tends to prove that the closer a company adheres to the original story the better the resultant production. "Captain Blood" may be safely recommended to those who enjoy good photoplays.

That they are serving more than two-thirds of all the commercial concerns, using gasoline and motor oils in this vicinity, was the claim made today by the Ohio Valley Oil company, established here 18 months ago.

This is in addition to the thousands of pleasure cars, using products of the Ohio Valley Oil company. "Quality First" and "Service With a Smile" is the motto of the company.

Expect Sensation In Federal Inquiry Into Liquor Ring

CLEVELAND, O., April 14.—The extreme secrecy which surrounded activities in District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen's offices here today added new grounds to the existing rumors that sensational developments will soon be disclosed in the cautious investigation further into the activities of the ring that drew liquor from the Hayner distillerys at Troy and placed it on the market.

This morning, in the absence of Bernsteen, who will not return from Columbus until late today, newspaper men were barred from the inner office and official conversation was guarded.

This present investigation, regarded as a climax to the first probe which culminated in 10 persons being indicted for conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition laws, is expected to involve at least two prominent Ohioans, one a Clevelander and the other a Columbus man. These two, according to reports, are believed to have been the quiet forces behind the Hayner "leakage," and the higher-ups of the ring.

Auto Drivers

will continue to enforce the 'no left turn' order at the corner of Sixth street and St. Clair avenue but other 'left turn' bans have been lifted.

"Numerous complaints have been received regarding motorists violating the one-way traffic regulations on Washington street, between Fourth and Sixth streets. We will make an example of the first motorist, who is found guilty of driving south on this street or parked on the street headed in the wrong direction."

"Jay Walking" Tabooed.

Not only are orders to be issued requiring the automobile driver to be on the lookout. "Jay walking" is tabooed and pedestrians who have been in the habit of crossing the street at any point will find themselves being called by the police. While few seem to realize it, the chief says, one of the most dangerous practices of the ordinary pedestrian is stepping out from behind an automobile directly into the middle of the street where there is a double string of passing cars.

"Street crossings are for the pedestrian, and at this point it is up to the automobilist to exercise care," said the chief. "However, a person who is in the habit of 'jay walking,' or crossing from one side of the street to the other at points other than the fixed crossings, would have little claim for damages in case of an accident."

Motorcycle Officer on Duty.

The police have also launched a campaign to apprehend motorists who maliciously destroy traffic posts. Scarcely a night passes but what one of these traffic signs, bearing a lantern, is wrecked.

"We are keeping a sharp look-out for reckless drivers who, it appears, willfully strikes these posts and if they are apprehended they will pay dearly for the damage," the chief warned. Heavier posts, mounted on a concrete base, are to be placed at corners where the damage is most frequently done.

Patrolman Herman Roth will do motorcycle duty beginning at 2 o'clock each afternoon. The officer has been given instructions to arrest automobile drivers who exceed the speed limit or drive in a reckless manner within the corporate limits.

KANSAS LABOR COURT LAW HIT

Union Leader Happy as Supreme Justices Make Ruling.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Terming it their "Magna Charta," American Federation of Labor officials were jubilant today over the United States supreme court decision nullifying the Kansas industrial court law which for more than two years has been the center of a heated controversy.

"The supreme court has re-established the charter rights of labor as laid down by the American Constitution," William Green, president of the federation, said to International News Service.

The Kansas law forced both labor and capital to submit to arbitration and comply with the decision of the arbitration tribunal, providing penalties for non-compliance.

"The decision leaves labor free as it should be to bargain collectively with employers," Green declared. "In my opinion it completely destroys the effectiveness of the Kansas industrial court and American labor can now enter an area of new progress with this milestone behind it."

Capital, Labor Benefit.

Green said the whole industrial atmosphere had been clarified and both capital and labor would materially benefit by the decision.

"Compulsory arbitration, as provided by the Kansas statute, carried to its logical conclusion, means industrial slavery. If you can force men to work, they are slaves," he declared.

A significant feature of the court action, according to Green, was that the Wolf Packing company of Kansas City, employing hundreds of men, was the agency through which the case was carried to the supreme court.

This employer realized that his freedom was also interfered with," he added.

"If men are forced to work against their wills, employers must also abide by decisions of the court which might force them to keep more men on their payrolls than they desired."

Investigate Colorado Laws

Labor attorneys have started an investigation of the Colorado laws which force employes to remain at work for 30 days after a strike has been called so that an investigation of the difficulty can be made by the state tribunal.

Although the Colorado act is not believed to completely parallel the Kansas statute, it is thought that the 30-day compulsory labor clause might similarly be interpreted as interfering with the constitutional rights of American citizens.

Unofficial opinion in labor circles was that an effort might be made to break the Colorado law.

Officials here say that there will be better understanding between employers and employees now that there has been a decision favoring collective bargaining.

outsider. I was born in Columbus and still hold my residence and pay taxes there."

Will Seek Third Term.

The governor's speech was taken here as confirmation of the reports first revealed by International News Service that detectives reputed to be employed by the governor were spying here on the activities of lobbyists active in the utility commission fight.

His remarks also were interpreted as further confirmation of the belief of political leaders that the governor proposes to run for a third term and to make his fight large against utility rates in Ohio.

The reaction upon the legislature, especially upon the members of the senate rules committee which now holds the key to confirmation of Huffman and Bloom as utility commissioners, will not be apparent until the legislature resumes its deliberations Thursday after a three weeks' recess.

The main question to be answered, according to political leaders, is whether the people of the state will respond to the governor's plea for support.

But, the press did not remain motionless. Brother Elkins, whose readers wait for his voice as the desert wanderers waited for Moses to come down, backed a small automobile into his press room, jacked up the wheel, ran the press by automobile power and got out his edition, 1,500 copies to the gallon.

A publisher so resourceful must command attention in his territory.

Good luck and safety go with these young gentlemen, precious and only representative of the theory that sought to establish greatness through heredity.

They cannot, however, hope for the interest aroused by their father when he went lion hunting in Africa, or seeking the man eating fish on "the river of doubt."

MOTOR VEHICLE BILL GETS O. K.

Donahey Signs Lipp Measure — Increases Veto List to 23.

COLUMBUS, April 14. — The way was opened today for motor vehicle reciprocity between Ohio and adjoining states. Governor Donahey signed the Lipp bill, permitting the secretary of state and a member of the state utilities commission to enter into such agreements on behalf of Ohio.

The bill was framed by a special committee of the house, headed by Majority Leader Taft, after conference with officials of Indiana and West Virginia legislatures, in the hope of ending controversies between Ohio and adjoining states over recognition of Ohio auto tags in these states, and reciprocal recognition by Ohio of licenses issued in adjoining states.

Five other bills signed by the governor were:

By Representative Davis, Cuyahoga, giving electric light companies powers of eminent domain in appropriation of land.

By Representative Schmuelling, Hamilton, giving union depot companies authority to issue preferred stock.

By Senator McCreary, Hamilton, giving the utilities commission power of review over local ordinance terms other than rates to be charged by utility companies.

By Representative Cooley, Cuyahoga, requiring actions against railroad companies for refund of alleged overcharges for interstate hauling to be brought within three years.

By Mrs. C. J. Ott, Mahoning, permitting library districts to contract for service in contiguous territory outside of county.

Governor Donahey vetoed four more bills, bringing the total disapproved to 23.

One bill vetoed was sponsored by Representative Stewart, Lawrence, and was designed to permit annexation questions to be submitted at primary elections. The governor said at many primary elections so few persons vote that a representative judgment was impossible on such a question.

The governor vetoed another Stewart bill, which would permit county commissioners to order annexation of a portion of the territory of a village, on petition of two thirds of the residents affected. He said the petition method was "notoriously ineffective."

A third bill vetoed was sponsored by Representative Hilt, Meigs, and would have taken final purisdiction in motor vehicle law cases from Mayor's courts.

The governor also vetoed the Rea bill which would have given control of township buildings to a board of seven trustees to be appointed by a common pleas court. He said the division of authority would allow opportunity for mismanagement and graft.

Ford Makes Offer For Stout Metal Airplane Plant

DETROIT, April 14.—Directors of the Stout Metal Airplane company, at a secret meeting this afternoon, will be asked to vote upon an offer from the Ford Motor company, to buy out their concern.

This is the outstanding development following the inauguration Monday of the Ford company's private freight air line to Chicago, soon to embrace other cities. It is considered the pioneer undertaking in American commercial aviation.

Henry Ford, who witnessed the first flight, declared that the Ford company is determined to make a success of commercial aviation. He clinched his remarks with this statement:

"We don't care what it costs. This is the time to get into it and make it go and we can do that, we know. So the orders here are to go ahead and whatever the expense, it will not be given consideration."

The Stout company built the "Maiden Dearborn," used yesterday in the first air freight experiment.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 14.—Industrial stocks carried over in today's session the strength which was in evidence at the close of Monday's market. The high priced market leaders including American Can and General Electric sold about a point higher in the early trading and motor stocks exhibited a reactionary trend as a result of the actual cutting of Gulf coast crude oil in Mid-continent.

Specialty stocks were inclined to continue their upward movement. American Sugar ran up fractionally higher to 71¼ and then fell back to 70 on profit-taking. Northwestern railroad stocks were again under pressure, Chicago and Northwestern declining to around it low price for the year.

In the foreign exchange market, French francs lost about five points in the early trading. The grain markets were unsettled at the opening. Money market conditions were easier; call money renewals being posted at 3½ per cent, at the start. Missouri Kansas Texas, Kansas City Southern and Missouri Pacific stocks were fairly active on reports these lines are to be combined, under the direction of L. F. Loree, to form a powerful southwestern system which might also include Chicago and Alton and other roads. Katy common was up nearly 2 points, Missouri Pacific common up 2 points at 34½; Chicago and Alton preferred up 1½ at 14½; Kansas Southern up 2 at 32½.

Consolidated gas was a leader in a moderate rally in public utility stocks, which also included A. T. & T., North American Co., and Utah Securities. Market conditions were favorable for a display of strength in the so-called market specialties, most of which sold up a point or two on fairly active trading. International paper, United Drug, Safety Razor, and Universal Pipe preferred were prominent in this list.

ART, ACTING, ACTION AND MERIT IN "CAPTAIN BLOOD," AT CERAMIC

Sabatini's Famous Love Story Converted Into Photoplay That Wins Plaudits of Critics.

Movies have been described in such glowing terms that there scarcely seems to be words left to describe a really good picture. It is not until the reviewer sees a production like Rafael Sabatini's "Captain Blood," which was presented at the Ceramic theatre last evening, opening a week's engagement, this week, that he wishes he had been more conservative in describing other photoplays.

There is art, acting, action and merit in "Captain Blood." It is different from other films and contains a wealth of those features that have made the photoplay a chief factor in the world's amusement attraction. After witnessing a score of average film production it is as refreshing as an oasis in the desert to see one of the calibre of "Captain Blood."

From the first when Peter Blood is arrested and sent a slave to be sold at Barbadoes, to the final scene when, as governor of the island, he wins the hand of Arabella Bishop, there is not a dull moment. The slave market, the insurrection of the slaves, the attack on Georgetown, the capture of the Arabella by Blood and his fellow rebels, convict, the encounter with the French fleet, duels between Blood and a pirate chief, and with a Spanish officer; the burning of a ship and the sinking of the Arabella are a few of the spectacular highlights in the production. These follow each other in rapid succession.

The love interests is well handled, the major thread being carried in commandable manner by J. Warren Kerrigan as Peter Blood and Jean Paige as Arabella Bishop. Kerrigan has a role different than any he had previously essayed in his long and varied career. Those who admire this versatile actor will surely enjoy his work in the production. Jean Paige has lost none of her charm and ability during her brief absence from the screen. If anything she has returned with more grace and charm.

The minor love interest is carried by James Morison and Charlotte Merriam. Morrison has a difficult role which he handles amiably, and Charlotte Merriam indicates that she will soon be one of the shinning lights of filmdom.

Columns might be written commenting upon the work of such screen favorites as Wilfrid North, Templar Saxe, Allan Forrest, Betram Grassby, Henry Herbert, Otis Harlan, Otto Matiesen, Jack Curtis, Joseph Rickson and a score of others. Each fits into the role with kid glove exactness, leaving nothing to be desired.

The intense dramatic action is relieved by patches of humor in sequence with Otis Harlan, Wilfrid North and Templar Saxe. These touches are capably handled by skilled artists and enhance the entertaining value of the picture a hundredfold.

The photography and art titles are excellent and the entire gem a credit to the masterly direction of David Smith. The massive scenes in which hundreds of players are used, and there are a number., are classics in the way of direction. The sinking of the Arabella is one of the best pieces of screen technic to be shown in a film.

Rafael Sabatini's famous love story has been closely followed with the result that the author's hand is revealed in every sequence. This tends to prove that the closer a company adheres to the original story the better the resultant production. "Captain Blood" may be safely recommended to those who enjoy good photoplays.

"RAIN," STAGE HIT, IS BOOKED

New York Success Comes to Ceramic on April 23.

"Rain," the play which has had the greatest artistic and financial success in New York city for decades, will be offered at the Ceramic theater Thursday, April 23, by Sam H. Harris, who produced it on Broadway and who will present it here with an excellent cast and perfect scenic equipment. It is a drama that might be called psycho-analytical, as it deals with the workings of the minds of people, diametrically opposed to each other from every point of view, and while it may not solve any big problem of life as it exists on this globe it still cannot help but make people who see it, think, and that is all that can be expected of any sermon or lecture or play.

About two years ago there appeared in the "Smart Set" a magazine at that time edited by H. L. Mencken and George Nathan, a short story called "Miss Thompson," written by W. Somerset Maughan. It was very widely read at the time and later appeared in book form among a collection of this author's short stories. The author himself a dramatist, had not considered it as material for a play, but two young writers, John Colton and Clemence Randolph did, and secured Mr. Maugham's consent to see what they could do with it. Their manuscript fell into the hands of John D. Williams, who thought it good, and took it to Mr. Harris, with the result that it was first presented in Philadelphia with some success and then brought into New York, where it made an enormous hit, running at the Maxine Elliott theater for more than two years.

Ever since Robert Louis Stevenson wrote his tales of the South Sea Islands, that locality has been a favorite spot for the romanticist, and it is not strange that the scenes of "Rain" are laid on one of the islets of the group. The action takes place at Pago Pago, a well known port on the island of Tutuila, which is under the American flag, and the characters are both natives and whites. The production of "Rain" at the local theater cannot help but be one of the real events of the theatrical season.

Diplomas For Plumbers

A technical high school in Cleveland gives 150 diplomas to a class of plumbers, bricklayers and carpenters. All of them are young men and boys who have learned their trades in school, completing their course of apprenticeship in classes maintained by the board of education in co-operation with the local Building Trades Employers association and the labor trades themselves. It was an impressive commencement. Representatives of organized labor sat on the platform along with parents, educators and public officials. Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation fo Labor, said.

"Here we have the realization of labor's concept of education. Here is apprenticeship in the hands of the schools, advised by industry as represented both by the employer and the employe.

"Apprenticeship is not dead. It is being applied and revived in modern terms. Labor is happy to co-operate with the American school system, which it heiped to nourish. In it we find the hope of the masses and the solution of many of our most pressing problems."

With such support, there is much to hope for such education. Widely applied, it would create a new type of skilled worker, more intelligent, efficient and useful than any in the past.

Advice From Karolyi

Count Karolyi, speaking his mind in Canada, advises Americans not to lend any more money to the present Hungarian government, because under the Horthy regime it will be spent for reaction and armament and defeat American aims for peace and ordered freedom.

It is probably good advice. And it might be well at this time to apply the same principle to the rest of Europe. Lending money to any foreign government dominated by militarists and reactionaries is as foolish as lending it to a government dominated by bolshevism.

Loans made to countries know to be doing their best to exemplify the democracy and peace for which America fought serve a useful purpose and carry with them a natural expectation of repayment. Loans to countries that are unsettled or dominated by warlike factions are foolish from every point of view.

Peace To Circus Lions

"The Greatest Show on Earth" has abandoned one of the old-time circus thrillers. Lions and tigers it still has for the curious crowd to gaze at, but no longer are these jungle beasts made to perform at the crack of a whip, the report of a pistol or the prodding of a hot iron. No more will the beautiful lady put her head into the lion's mouth or do other acts similarly tempting to outraged and homesick circus animals.

This sounds like a startling change. What has brought it about? From New York city where the combined Barnum, Bailey and Ringling Brothers circus is heralding the arrival of spring, comes this explanation. It has not come through humane societies or anti-cruelty-to-animals movements. It is a result of the slow and unconscious evolution of popular feeling toward such entertainments. The nation has grown tender-hearted and the circus management responds to the attitude of the circus crowd.

And happily there is enough left of the clowning and the acrobatics and the pageantry of the circus to charm and delight in the same old way the less thrill-craving but still enthusiastic showgoers of the present day.

Path Guides For Walkers

Many good ideas originate in the nation's metropolis, but now and then an idea appears in New York that both amuses and amazes the inhabitants of other towns. Such a one is the recent charting of walks in Central park.

A lot of arrows of different colors have been painted on the walks. The citizen who hasn't originality enough to do his own spring strolling has only to follow the arrows. This of one color will guide him on a 15-minute walk, and so on. Of course, a swift walker might do the 30-minute hike. Possibly the arrows will have to be supplemented by signs stating the speed at which a pedestrian must take his constiutional if he is to make the rounds in the right length of time.

In this less hurried town we still like to take our spring rambles as our own private whims suggest. Following colored arrows does not appeal to us, for we are busy looking at blue skies, blooming flowers and swelling buds.

Harvard astronomers figure that it takes 1,000,000 years for the light to reach us from a certain star beyond the Milky Way. That would be an ideal place to install some of the automobile headlights we meet on dark nights.

Less mighty hunters than the Roosevelt boys might be dismayed by having announced so elaborately, before they start, all the big bame they're expected to shoot.

Serious readers have a rare treat coming. The League of Nations is going to print, every year, a list of the World's 600 Best Books.

The Greek government is going to rebuild the Parthenon at Athens. Will the Greek Goddess of Wisdom come back and dwell in it then?

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 14.—There is an old Chinese in Pell Street who sits in his little shop window from noon until Chinatown's bustle simmers down to vagrant whispers. He seems carven — an expressionless Buddha with unwinking eyes. He is said to be past 90.

In all the 30 years he has been down there he has never been known to leave his shop. He knows nothing of the New York about him. His world is encompassed in what he sees while perched upon his stool. He has a white wife who is seen now and then.

She is a pallid creature with lifeless peroxide streaked hair and the filmy gaze of the opium addict. He seems not to notice her half-ghostly presence. There is a legend in Chinatown that his shop is merely a mignon gesture.

He takes no interest in disposing of the wares on his shelf—dried fins, water-lily flour, lychees, punk-sticks and packages of tea. The story goes that he is a human devil chaser and that superstitious Chinese pay him fees to keep evil spirits away from them.

I visited his shop while in the quarter to talk to him. But he would not talk and was annoyed and in his piping voice said: "You no buy, go away! No talkee." I went over to see Hong Lee, the printer, who often tells of Chinatown characters. But he refused to discuss this ancient.

At the mention of his name Chinatown closes up. Another thing to be noticed in Chinatown lately is the lack of business in the restaurants. The invasion of Chinese restaurants uptown has evidently caused a great loss of patronage.

Broadway now has a dozen gilded chop suey caravansaries. The Palais Royal has been over to Chinese food. So has old Churchill's. They are gaudy affairs with jazz bands and huge dance floors and somehow lack the atmosphere that Chinatown gives to them.

Captain Churchill, incidentally, is often seen on his daily promenade down Broadway. He is still as straight as an arrow with a great shock of white hair and the bearing of a Chesterfield. There are no places like Churchill's left on Broadway. It was the late afternoon rendezvous for the town wits, bon vivants, cartoonists, writers and playrights. His was the open handed hospitality of the small town landlord.

A trembling old man came unannounced to my hotel the other day. He wanted me to become financially interested in an invention of his. For 30 years he has been seeking capital and he told me rather pathetically that in all that time he had not received a word of encouragement. He is a watchman at night and during his waking hours by day he goes patiently on. He feels he has something that will benefit mankind if marketed and that alone impels him to continue his search despite his discouragements.

Pathetic old age touches me as nothing else does. There is an itinerant old knife grinder often seen in midtown. He wears steel spectacles and is half blind and stooped. I saw him one day on one of those brown stone front steps with his head cupped in his hands and there was a mist in his eyes. "I try so hard," he said, "but nobody seems to want me." That is the fate of the old who are penniless. Nobody wants them.

Spring has come to Fifth Avenue. Lavendar Joe with his satchel of sweet lavendar has taken up his stand near St. Thomas'. The shy old fellow in shiny blue serge who sells the pink beribboned white puppies is in front of the library. And the chestnut venders with their charcoal pots have scattered to the four winds.

Fruits of Folly

They were brother officers. But one had been a former sweetheart of the other's wife. Thrown together by fate at an isolated army post, it suddenly fell to the former sweetheart to guard the honor of his friend's wife when chance brought a new and unscrupulous lover into her life. The drama developed with appalling swiftness—and as always happens when a wife forgets her honor and her reputation—it could only end in tragedy. No girl can read this gripping story and not find a powerful lesson and warning in it. It appears under the title: "The Double Price," with many other absorbing features in True Story Magazine for May. Don't miss it.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Fight for Foreign Trade.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—Business men who have been fearful that the United States would get the worst of it in the fight for the markets of the world which is the feature of post-ward economic and commercial readjustments will be reassured by a review of the situation made by Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of Commerce. There is a great struggle on, with England and Germany as our chief rivals, but there is every reason to believe that America will not come out second or third best, and there is no real occasion for the panicky feeling that has been evidenced in some quarters.

In the first place, a casual summary of recent German and British trade papers and trade association reports, says Mr. Klein, reveals any number of signs of a precisely comparable fear on the part of our European rivals as to their prospects in the face of increasing American competitive efforts. They can not understand our continued success in bidding for overseas markets in spite of the six years which Europe has had in which to regain its foreign trade.

Also, it is to be remembered that this is not the first time the United States has encountered vigorous competition in going after export trade. During the years immediately preceding the war, from 1910 to 1913, we were up against a notably stiff fight, and we not only held our own, but in such highly competitive areas as the ABC countries of South America we were rapidly overtaking England and Germany.

"If we examine carefully the more alarming prophesies as to the dangers to our export trade from intensified European competition," continues Mr. Klein, "we find that they proceed in almost every case from the assumption that the trade of the competitive areas has already reached a point of nearly complete saturation and that the issue is simply one of the relative strength of the three leading contestants as to which will gain a predominate position.

An Erroneous Deduction.

"This totally erroneous deduction presumes a rigidity of the standards of living in these economically new lands overseas, which is so profoundly at variance with the actual condition as to be almost absurd.

"If any one outstanding economic or social phenomenon has been demonstrated with irrefutable conviction throughout the world since 1918 it has been the astounding capacity of the human, animal, not only for recovery from the greatest shocks, but for improvements and aspirations toward higher levels of comfort and well-being entirely beyond any expectations of a decade or two ago."

In other words, this trade expert finds that no matter what conclusions may be reached as to whether the world is growing better the world is unquestionably living better. Last year the import purchases of Latin America, Asia, Oceania and Africa were well above six billions of dollars, which was more than double the annual average of 1910-13.

Thus we have constantly growing markets to fight for, and the significant feature from our point of view of this stimulated and greatly expanded purchasing power of the buyer nations is the fact that their requirements are largely for those newer products of industrial ingenuity which have been the peculiar forte of American manufacturers—Moderately priced automobiles, motion picture films, labor saving machinery, ready made clothing, electrical specialties, office equipment, and the like.

And the actual figures of the relative status of the three leading rivals in representative competitive markets prove that the situation is anything but discouraging for our exporters. In 1913, for instance, England supplied 29.7 per cent of the imports of the

A technical high school in Cleveland gives 150 diplomas to a class of plumbers, bricklayers and carpenters. All of them are young men and boys who have learned their trades in school, completing their course of apprenticeship in classes maintained by the board of education in co-operation with the local Building Trades Employers association and the labor trades themselves. It was an impressive commencement. Representatives of organized labor sat on the platform along with parents, educators and public officials. Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation fo Labor, said.

"Here we have the realization of labor's concept of education. Here is apprenticeship in the hands of the schools, advised by industry as represented both by the employer and the employe.

"Apprenticeship is not dead. It is being applied and revived in modern terms. Labor is happy to co-operate with the American school system, which it helped to nourish. In it we find the hope of the masses and the solution of many of our most pressing problems."

With such support, there is much to hope for such education. Widely applied, it would create a new type of skilled worker, more intelligent, efficient and useful than any in the past.

Advice From Karolyi

Count Karolyi, speaking his mind in Canada, advises Americans not to lend any more money to the present Hungarian government, because under the Horthy regime it will be spent for reaction and armament and defeat American aims for peace and ordered freedom.

It is probably good advice. And it might be well at this time to apply the same principle to the rest of Europe. Lending money to any foreign government dominated by militarists and reactionaries is as foolish as lending it to a government dominated by bolshevism.

Loans made to countries know to be doing their best to exemplify the democracy and peace for which America fought serve a useful purpose and carry with them a natural expectation of repayment. Loans to countries that are unsettled or dominated by warlike factions are foolish from every point of view.

Peace To Circus Lions

"The Greatest Show on Earth" has abandoned one of the old-time circus thrillers. Lions and tigers it still has for the curious crowd to gaze at, but no longer are these jungle beasts made to perform at the crack of a whip, the report of a pistol or the prodding of a hot iron. No more will the beautiful lady put her head into the lion's mouth or do other acts similarly tempting to outraged and homesick circus animals.

This sounds like a startling change. What has brought it about? From New York city where the combined Barnum, Bailey and Ringling Brothers circus is heralding the arrival of spring, comes this explanation. It has not come through humane societies or anti-cruelty-to-animals movements. It is a result of the slow and unconscious evolution of popular feeling toward such entertainments. The nation has grown tender-hearted and the circus management responds to the attitude of the circus crowd.

And happily there is enough left of the clowning and the acrobatics and the pageantry of the circus to charm and delight in the same old way the less thrill-craving but still enthusiastic showgoers of the present day.

Path Guides For Walkers

Many good ideas originate in the nation's metropolis, but now and then an idea appears in New York that both amuses and amazes the inhabitants of other towns. Such a one is the recent charting of walks in Central park.

A lot of arrows of different colors have been painted on the walks. The citizen who hasn't originality enough to do his own spring strolling has only to follow the arrows. This of one color will guide him on a 15-minute walk, and so on. Of course, a swift walker might do the 30-minute hike. Possibly the arrows will have to be supplemented by signs stating the speed at which a pedestrian must take his constiutional if he is to make the rounds in the right length of time.

In this less hurried town we still like to take our spring rambles as our own private whims suggest. Following colored arrows does not appeal to us, for we are busy looking at blue skies, blooming flowers and swelling buds.

Harvard astronomers figure that it takes 1,000,000 years for the light to reach us from a certain star beyond the Milky Way. That would be an ideal place to install some of the automobile headlights we meet on dark nights.

Less mighty hunters than the Roosevelt boys might be dismayed by having announced so elaborately, before they start, all the big bame they're expected to shoot.

Serious readers have a rare treat coming. The League of Nations is going to print, every year, a list of the World's 600 Best Books.

The Greek government is going to rebuild the Parthenon at Athens. Will the Greek Goddess of Wisdom come back and dwell in it then?

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 14.—There is an old Chinese in Pell Street who sits in his little shop window from noon until Chinatown's bustle simmers down to vagrant whispers. He seems carven — an expressionless Buddha with unwinking eyes. He is said to be past 90.

In all the 30 years he has been down there he has never been known to leave his shop. He knows nothing of the New York about him. His world is encompassed in what he sees while perched upon his stool. He has a white wife who is seen now and then.

She is a pallid creature with lifeless peroxide streaked hair and the filmy gaze of the opium addict. He seems not to notice her half-ghostly presence. There is a legend in Chinatown that his shop is merely a mignon gesture.

He takes no interest in disposing of the wares on his shelf—dried fins, water-lily flour, lychees, punk sticks and packages of tea. The story goes that he is a human devil chaser and that superstitious Chinese pay him fees to keep evil spirits away from them.

I visited his shop while in the quarter to talk to him. But he would not talk and was annoyed and in his piping voice said: "You no buy, go away! No talkee." I went over to see Hong Lee, the printer, who often tells of Chinatown characters. But he refused to discuss this ancient.

At the mention of his name Chinatown closes up. Another thing to be noticed in Chinatown lately is the lack of business in the restaurants. The invasion of Chinese restaurants uptown has evidently caused a great loss of patronage.

Broadway now has a dozen gilded chop suey caravansaries. The Palais Royal has been over to Chinese food. So has old Churchill's. They are gaudy affairs with jazz bands and huge dance floors and somehow lack the atmosphere that Chinatown gives to them.

Captain Churchill, incidentally, is often seen on his daily promenade down Broadway. He is still as straight as an arrow with a great shock of white hair and the bearing of a Chesterfield. There are no places like Churchill's left on Broadway. It was the late afternoon rendezvous for the town wits, bon vivants, cartoonists, writers and playrights. His was the open handed hospitality of the small town landlord.

A trembling old man came unannounced to my hotel the other day. He wanted me to become financially interested in an invention of his. For 30 years he has been seeking capital and he told me rather pathetically that in all that time he had not received a word of encouragement. He is a watchman at night and during his waking hours by day he goes patiently on. He feels he has something that will benefit mankind if marketed and that alone impels him to continue his search despite his discouragements.

Pathetic old age touches me as nothing else does. There is an itinerant old knife grinder often seen in midtown. He wears steel spectacles and is half blind and stooped. I saw him one day on one of those brown stone front steps with his head cupped in his hands and there was a mist in his eyes. "I try so hard," he said, "but nobody seems to want me." That is the fate of the old who are penniless. Nobody wants them.

Spring has come to Fifth Avenue. Lavendar Joe with his satchel of sweet lavendar has taken up his stand near St. Thomas'. The shy old fellow in shiny blue serge who sells the pink beribboned white puppies is in front of the library. And the chestnut venders with their charcoal pots have scattered to the four winds.

Fruits of Folly

They were brother officers. But one had been a former sweetheart of the other's wife. Thrown together by fate at an isolated army post, it suddenly fell to the former sweetheart to guard the honor of his friend's wife when chance brought a new and unscrupulous lover into her life. The drama developed with appalling swiftness—and as always happens when a wife forgets her honor and her reputation—it could only end in tragedy. No girl can read this gripping story and not find a powerful lesson and warning in it. It appears under the title: "The Double Price," with many other absorbing features in True Story Magazine for May. Don't miss it.

The meeting was opened with devotionals by Miss Margaret Mercer, after which the program, arranged by Miss Hazel Minnix, was presented. Miss Ann Welsh, Miss Jessie Henry, Mrs. Claire Smith, Mrs. L. A. Wallover and Miss Eva Stoddard gave short talks on "Indians." Mrs. G. A. Race discussed the mite box offering, after which Mrs. Olen Dawson told of "Our Work in Alaska." Miss Ruth Galloway sang, "Thy Will Be Done," accompanied by Miss Jackson. The Lenten offering was taken.

If the Fashion Makes Corns Try Her Remedy

"Oh, Joy!" She Says, "The Corn Lifted Right Out"

"If girls wear pumps without straps, they have to get an extra-tight fit," writes Miss Martha Greene, 1875 E. 81st St., Cleveland, O. "That probably means corns. I suffered much and I'm grateful to the friend who told me about 'Blue-jay' Plasters when I was being tortured by a corn.

"I put on a 'Blue-jay' Plaster Saturday night. The soft, felt ring relieved the shoe pressure at once. Monday night when I took off the plaster—Oh, Joy; the corn lifted right out!"

"Blue-jay" Plasters bring comfort to millions the same way. The soft felt pad encircles the corn, removes the shoe pressure, and gives instant relief. The "Blue-jay" preparation is centered in the ring—just the right amount to remove the corn gently; no more, no less—and held exactly on the corn by an adhesive strip. 48 hours later the corn lifts right out. Even stubborn corns rarely require a second plaster.

"Blue-jay" Laboratories make a liquid "Blue-jay" too. But no liquid can remove shoe pressure. And it's hard for you to govern the amount of liquid you drop on. In the plasters the dose is all measured for you. Hence we recommend "Blue-jay" Plasters as better than any liquid, than even our own. These Plasters are shapely, sure and safe.

To avoid infection, never pare corns yourself. So for corn-removal at home, get "Blue-jay" Plasters, six for 25c. So much in demand all druggists sell them. Then please write us your experience. "Blue-jay" Laboratories, 25th and Dearborn Sts., Chicago, Ill.

If the Fashion Makes Corns Try Her Remedy

"Oh, Joy!" She Says, "The Corn Lifted Right Out"

"If girls wear pumps without straps, they have to get an extra-tight fit," writes Miss Martha Greene, 1875 E. 81st St., Cleveland, O. "That probably means corns. I suffered much and I'm grateful to the friend who told me about 'Blue-jay' Plasters when I was being tortured by a corn.

"I put on a 'Blue-jay' Plaster Saturday night. The soft, felt ring relieved the shoe pressure at once. Monday night when I took off the plaster—Oh, Joy; the corn lifted right out!"

"Blue-jay" Plasters bring comfort to millions the same way. The soft felt pad encircles the corn, removes the shoe pressure, and gives instant relief. The "Blue-jay" preparation is centered in the ring—just the right amount to remove the corn gently; no more, no less—and held exactly on the corn by an adhesive strip. 48 hours later the corn lifts right out. Even stubborn corns rarely require a second plaster.

"Blue-jay" Laboratories make a liquid "Blue-jay" too. But no liquid can remove shoe pressure. And it's hard for you to govern the amount of liquid you drop on. In the plasters the dose is all measured for you. Hence we recommend "Blue-jay" Plasters as better than any liquid, than even our own. These Plasters are shapely, sure and safe.

To avoid infection, never pare corns yourself. So for corn-removal at home, get "Blue-jay" Plasters, six for 25c. So much in demand all druggists sell them. Then please write us your experience. "Blue-jay" Laboratories, 25th and Dearborn Sts., Chicago, Ill.

M'KINLEY HOME WILL BE MOVED FOR HOSPITAL

Will be Placed Near Memorial as Museum in Canton.

PLAN REPAIRS

Used as Adjunct of Mercy Hospital for Years.

CANTON—The time has come when the old homestead of the late President William McKinley, the scene of the famous "front porch" campaign, will be retired from active service as a grand old house.

Progress is a firm stalker and now reveals circumstances to cause the moving of the famous homestead to a new location so that a new unit may be constructed to the Canton Mercy hospital. For years McKinley's former home has been used as an adjunct to the hospital, thereby remaining in worthy service after traditional scenes about the life of the martyred president had faded with time.

"The McKinley homestead is fast becoming an old house," observers said when Bishop Schrembs, of the Cleveland diocese of Catholic churches, purchased other property adjoining the hospital property preparatory to constructing the new hospital unit, which will be one of the largest in Ohio when completed.

"Sooner or later it will cease to be the McKinley homestead and become but a shell of its former self. We are anxious to see the house preserved as McKinley's home, but as it is now located it must be used for hospital purposes," Bishop Schrembs said.

It is the present plan to move the house to a spot near the McKinley memorial and to make substantial repairs on it. With the consent of the McKinley Memorial association, furniture of the martyred president will be secured from the many Cantonians who have kept it through the years, and will be set up in the original home. The many letters and relics of the famous president also will be placed in the house, so that visitors from all over the nation may view them, it is intended.

New Silver Alloy Found in England Will Not Tarnish

SHEFFIELD, England—A new alloy of sterling silver which will not tarnish except under the worst conditions, is of good color and is easily handled, has been developed by a local firm.

Tested in a sulphurous atmosphere, the alloy resisted 30 times as much exposure as ordinary silver. The alloy contains 92½ per cent of silver.

Using the American bureau of standards' gas test, the alloy only faintly discolored after 15 minutes, while standard silver badly tarnished in two minutes and was black in 15.

The faint color on the alloy was entirely removed by wiping with silver.

COME TO EAST LIVERPOOL TO SHOP

Your TRANSPORTATION Will Be REFUNDED

—BY THE—

Fare Refunding Association of East Liverpool

EVERY WEDNESDAY AND FRIDAY

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR AND ON SUCH OTHER DAYS AND OCCASIONS AS THE ASSOCIATION MAY DESIGNATE AND ADVERTISE

In Order to Get Your Transportation Paid

Ask the first merchant from whom you make a purchase for a FARE REFUNDING VOUCHER, so you can keep account of your purchases. Present this voucher to the clerk who waits upon you in each store at which you are dealing during the FARE REFUNDING DAY in East Liverpool. If the merchant is one of those who has agreed to pay his portion of your railroad fare he will enter the amount of your purchase, beside his name, on the inside page and return the voucher to you. You are to keep this voucher and present in like manner at each store where purchases are made during the day. By this method it will be readily seen that you will not have to buy everything from one store, or the full amount required which entitles you to your fare refund from any one merchant, but on the contrary, you can patronize as many different stores as you like. Then before leaving for your home take your Voucher to the CLEARING HOUSE, where your fare will be refunded, provided your purchases total the amount designated in advertised schedule. Fares will be refunded to all persons who come from a distance, whether by team, automobile, water or rail; this includes farmers as well as persons living in towns. A money refund to and from any point, not on any railroad, will be given, equaling to what a railroad fare would be, providing the purchases total to the required amount, just as though the persons came by steam or electric railroads to East Liverpool.

New Silver Alloy Found in England Will Not Tarnish

SHEFFIELD, England—A new alloy of sterling silver which will not tarnish except under the worst conditions, is of good color and is easily handled, has been developed by a local firm.

Tested in a sulphurous atmosphere, the alloy resisted 30 times as much exposure as ordinary silver. The alloy contains 92½ per cent of silver.

Using the American bureau of standards' gas test, the alloy only faintly discolored after 15 minutes, while standard silver badly tarnished in two minutes and was black in 15.

The faint color on the alloy was entirely removed by wiping with silver.

EVERY WEDNESDAY AND FRIDAY
THROUGHOUT THE YEAR AND ON SUCH OTHER DAYS AND OCCASIONS AS THE ASSOCIATION MAY DESIGNATE AND ADVERTISE

In Order to Get Your Transportation Paid

Ask the first merchant from whom you make a purchase for a FARE REFUNDING VOUCHER, so you can keep account of your purchases. Present this voucher to the clerk who waits upon you in each store at which you are dealing during the FARE REFUNDING DAY in East Liverpool. If the merchant is one of those who has agreed to pay his portion of your railroad fare he will enter the amount of your purchase, beside his name, on the inside page and return the voucher to you. You are to keep this voucher and present in like manner at each store where purchases are made during the day. By this method it will be readily seen that you will not have to buy everything from one store, or the full amount required which entitles you to your fare refund from any one merchant, but on the contrary, you can patronize as many different stores as you like. Then before leaving for your home take your Voucher to the CLEARING HOUSE, where your fare will be refunded, provided your purchases total the amount designated in advertised schedule. Fares will be refunded to all persons who come from a distance, whether by team, automobile, water or rail; this includes farmers as well as persons living in towns. A money refund to and from any point, not on any railroad, will be given, equaling to what a railroad fare would be, providing the purchases total to the required amount, just as though the persons came by steam or electric railroads to East Liverpool.

CAPITOL COST IS DETAILED

Large Saving Reported by Secretary of Commission.

A saving of $30,932.76 was effected in the actual cost of the first unit of the new capitol building, which has just been completed, from the original contract costs, it became known yesterday when Bonner H. Hill, secretary of the capitol commission, and in charge of construction, gave out a detailed statement showing expenditures on the structure.

The price fixed by the legislature of 1922 for office building No. 1 was $1,250,000 and this statement shows that the total actual cost of the building complete is $1,219,076.24, or $30,932.76 less than the price fixed by the legislature.

In the details of the statement there appears a list of extras, added after the contracts were let, which cost a total of $12,815.22. The statement, however, shows the elimination of certain items from the original specifications which gave the state total credits amounting to $52,775.17, thus offsettings the extras to the amount of $39,959.95.

The cost of the capitol to date, the statement shows, has been $3,150,334.05. The use of this money was divided as follows:

Purchase of real estate for site, $2,006,773.94.

Miscellaneous, $41,508.30.

Payment of contracts for first building, $992,051.81.

The money was obtained, says the statement, from legislative appropriations as follows:

Legislature in 1921 appropriated $2,250,000.

Legislature in 1923 appropriated $500,000.

Received from sale of capital annex $50,256.59, and its use authorized by the legislature.

These appropriations make a total of $3,251,256.59. After deducting from this total, the statement continues, the sum of $3,150,834.05, representing the total costs thus far, a balance of $100,922.54 is shown to be the credit of the capitol commission in the state treasury.

LONDON NEWSPAPERS DEMAND IMMEDIATE WITHDRAWAL OF HINDENBURG FROM PRESIDENTIAL RACE IN GERMANY

Predict Victory for Field Marshal on April 26 Will Mean "Armed France and no Debt Payment to Great Britain."

LONDON, April 14.—The immediate withdrawal of Hindenburg from the German presidential race was the unusual "demand" voiced by Lord Beaverbrook's newspapers today.

They predicted if the field marshal won at the polls April 26, it will mean "an armed France and no debt payment to Great Britain."

The Beaverbrook press said that Germany has made a remarkable recovery and Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, as well as France, would be aroused should Hindenburg win. These extreme statements indicated the extent of alarm in some British circles over the dual ranger of Hindenburg's candidacy and the French crisis, which, it was feared would combine to bring a return of European chaos.

Even the staid and dignified London Times, in its comment on the German presidential situation, shows concern over what may happen, as a result of the latest German political move.

Hindenburg's Enemies Busy.

General Sir Ian Hamilton, army authority and political writer, in a speech declared that England was aiding Hindenburg by prolonging the occupation of Cologne. He said such action aroused suspicion and was worth "thousands of votes" for the former leader of the kaiser's armies.

BERLIN, April 14. — Hindenburg's enemies were busy today plucking his career to pieces, taking particular pains to emphasize his "utter ignorance of politics." Republican newspapers turned the Nationalist presidential candidates's own utterances against him finding apparently ready campaign ammunition in them.

Welt am Montag reminded its readers that the field marshal in March, 1915, told Senator Beveridge:

"We do not dislike France and Russia. We think a lot of the French. But England. We hate England. She caused it all."

Two years and a half later, after the United States had joined forces with the allies, the newspaper pointed out, Hindenburg ridiculed the prospect of America becoming a real factor in the war.

"They cannot 'Barnum' us," he said. "They are too much afraid of Japan. But even if America sends large contingents of troops to Europe. It won't alter the situation."

Pie Social Arranged.

Search is Friutless For Priceless Books Taken by Robbers

SAN REMO, Italy—Canvassers of second-hand book stores and art collectors' studios have failed to recover more than a minimum of the priceless books and rare documents which were stolen from the home of Signora Giulia Grossi here. It is not exactly certain when and how the robbery took place, but the pilligers, who are now under arrest, gradually rifled the library of the half million dollars' worth of treasures.

The greatest loss is that of priceless illuminated codices and rare first editions. Very old historical documents, showing the state and grandeur of Genoa Savona and San Remo, collected and preserved by the Grossi family for more than 500 years, were so scattered by the robbers that little hope is held out for their ultimate recovery. Some of the articles stolen, however, already have been offered for sale to collectors at low prices. Fortunately certain of these collectors have informed the Grossi family, and the treasures were restored to the rightful owners.

Land Gift Accepted.

BUCYRUS, April — The city council has accepted the gift of 30 acres of land made by Daniel Aumiller and will convert it into a municipal playground. The county commissioners are to be asked to construct the bridge necessary across the Sandusky river to make access to the new park convenient.

The colors are simply delightful—refreshing Madonna blues, cool almond greens, warm shades of beige, rose, and innumerable browns. When they add squirrel, muskrat or badger for trimming, the result is absolutely alluring. Some of the models are very straight and slender, some flare at the bottom, and others compromise by bordering a straight hem with a fluffy band of fur.

PLAN TO HELP FRUIT CROPS

State Expert Coming to Aid Orchardists of County.

An expert from the agriculture department of Ohio State university has been assigned to Columbiana county for the purpose of aiding orchardists in the control of scab this year. The object of the state is to do what it can to develop the apple and peach crop in this county.

It is likely that the state orchard expert will arrive in Salem late this week, or not later than Tuesday next and he will watch the trees both in the fruit belt in Columbiana and Mahoning counties.

When the spores begin to shoot 15 different orchardists in this county will be advised to immediately apply the pink spray, this particular spray being applied to the trees for the purpose of controlling the scab.

The different orchardists who will be advised are: L. J. Kirk, New Waterford; J. L. Keller, Leetonia; C. W. Hall, New Waterford; Alfred Akenhead, East Palestine; Sydney Cope, Rogers; F. C. Kinnear, Columbiana; R. W. Armstrong, Elkton; C. M. Armstrong, R. F. D. No. 3, Lisbon; W. H. Matthews, Salem; A. U. Patton, Salem; C. Fred Sitler, Leetonia; Oliver C. Vodrey, East Liverpool; G. W. Armstrong, Lisbon; Efficiency Electric Manufacturing company, East Palestine; John Oyer, Kensington.

As soon as these people have been advised to apply the pink spray, they will immediately advise other orchardists in their immediate neighborhood.

These 15 orchardists compose a committee to disseminate all information that may be imparted to them from the state expert.

The dormant spray has been applied to trees in practically every orchard in the county, according to information just received by County Agent Floyd Lower. The program to keep down the scab will insure a better crop.

C. S. Stevens, calf and sheep salesman for the Producers' Co-Operative Commission company, of Pittsburgh, Pa., an organization controlled by the members of the farm bureau, will hold a calf and sheep grading demonstration in the stock yards at East Rochester at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, April 15.

Particular attention will be given to the grading of calves at the East Rochester demonstration for the reason that many shippers of calves do not understand how calves are graded on the market by the buyers. The loss in dressing will be shown by this expert, and it will be also pointed out what condition the stock should be in when it is placed on sale on the Pittsburgh market.

"We want to show the shippers how top prices are obtained from buyers, and also why some calves do not bring as much as others," announced Phil E. Heim, county distributing agent for the farm bureau. "We also want to assist the shippers in every way we can, and by holding these demonstrations we can point out to the shippers certain weak spots in their stock, and offer suggestions as to how they may be overcome."

thre most important South American countries, while Germany supplied 19.7 per cent and the United States came third with 13.5. Ten years later the United States and England were on practically even terms with 24 per cent each, with perhaps a slight advantage to England because of her large interests in Argentine, while Germany had fallen far behind with about 13 per cent as her share.

Similarly in the Far East our share of the trade shows increases. Our percentage of Japan's imports rose from 16 in 1913 to 26 in 1924, whereas Great Britain's dropped from 16 to 12 per cent and Germany's declined from 9 to 6 per cent.

Even Greater Gain in China.

In China, according to Mr. Klein's data, the American gain was even more impressive during the same period, rising from 6 to 16 per cent, while England's share fell from 16 to 13 per cent and Germany's from 5 to 3 per cent. Even in India, a supposedly impregnable stronghold of British trade, though still dominated by her merchants, the American portion of imports though small is on the increase, having risen from about 2.5 per cent to nearly 6 per cent.

Another factor in our favor in going after foreign markets is the amazing growth of our purchases of raw materials in Asia, Latin America, Africa and Oceanica, which increased from an annual average of $734,000,00 during the five per-ward years to almost treble that figure, or $2,112,000,000 in 1924. We are buying about seven times as much crude rubber as we did before the war, until we now absorb 77 per cent of the total world output, and some two or three times as much silk, vegetable oil, cacao, sugar, and many other raw materials. This means that these countries are establishing large credits in the United States, and naturally they will buy where they sell.

Mr. Klein points out that fundamentally the issue between the American exporter and his rivals would seem to be one of whether quality or cut prices should prevail, and he says that as between the two there is to be no question as to the ultimate decision of the American merchant or manufacturer. A strict adherence to those high standards which have long given American wares their standing in overseas markets would seem to be the best, and, in fact, the only foundation for a lasting edifice in our foreign trade. It is quite likely that this may mean a loss in certain lines and trade centers, but Mr. Klein observes that there is some comfort in noting that European price cutting seems to be decidedly on the wane for several reasons, notably, high interests rates on borrowed capital and high taxes.

"Let us leave the extraordinary risks of price gambling to our competitors," concludes Mr. Klein, "and adhere to those sound principles which have always been the basis of successful merchandising at home and abroad—good quality, just terms, implicit compliance with commitments on delivery, and development of the best production technique.

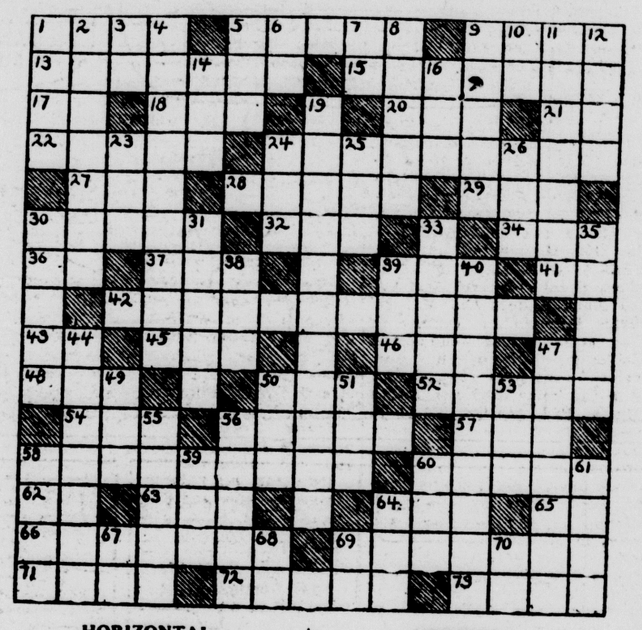

"Let us, above all, keep our heads and not be stampeded by any sudden or momentary shift in the trade current or by the temporary advantages of our competitors."

The export trade of the United States in 1924 increased more than 10 per cent over 1923, and the opening months of 1925 have shown continued satisfactory gains.

Shaw Finds Man He Admits Taught Him Something

LONDON, Eng., April—The brilliant brain of George Bernard Shaw made it easy for him to learn the intricacies of the tango, according to Michael Rinder, who instructed Shaw in the dance recently at Madeira.

Shaw presented Rinder with an autograph as follows: "To the only man in Madeira able to teach me anything.—G. B. Shaw."

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

thre most important South American countries, while Germany supplied 19.7 per cent and the United States came third with 13.5. Ten years later the United States and England were on practically even terms with 24 per cent each, with perhaps a slight advantage to England because of her large interests in Argentine, while Germany had fallen far behind with about 13 per cent as her share.

Similarly in the Far East our share of the trade shows increases. Our percentage of Japan's imports rose from 16 in 1913 to 26 in 1924, whereas Great Britain's dropped from 16 to 12 per cent and Germany's declined from 9 to 6 per cent.

Even Greater Gain In China.

In China, according to Mr. Klein's data, the American gain was even more impressive during the same period, rising from 6 to 16 per cent, while England's share fell from 16 to 13 per cent and Germany's from 5 to 3 per cent. Even in India, a supposedly impregnable stronghold of British trade, though still dominated by her merchants, the American portion of imports though small is on the increase, having risen from about 2.5 per cent to nearly 6 per cent.

Another factor in our favor in going after foreign markets is the amazing growth of our purchases of raw materials in Asia, Latin America, Africa and Oceanica, which increased from an annual average of $734,000,00 during the five per-ward years to almost treble that figure, or $2,112,000,000 in 1924. We are buying about seven times as much crude rubber as we did before the war, until we now absorb 77 per cent of the total world output, and some two or three times as much silk, vegetable oil, cacao, sugar, and many other raw materials. This means that these countries are establishing large credits in the United States, and naturally they will buy where they sell.

Mr. Klein points out that fundamentally the issue between the American exporter and his rivals would seem to be one of whether quality or cut prices should prevail, and he says that as between the two there is to be no question as to the ultimate decision of the American merchant or manufacturer. A strict adherence to those high standards which have long given American wares their standing in overseas markets would seem to be the best, and, in fact, the only foundation for a lasting edifice in our foreign trade. It is quite likely that this may mean a loss in certain lines and trade centers, but Mr. Klein observes that there is some comfort in noting that European price cutting seems to be decidedly on the wane for several reasons, notably, high interests rates on borrowed capital and high taxes.

"Let us leave the extraordinary risks of price gambling to our competitors," concludes Mr. Klein, "and adhere to those sound principles which have always been the basis of successful merchandising at home and abroad—good quality, just terms, implicit compliance with commitments on delivery, and development of the best production technique.

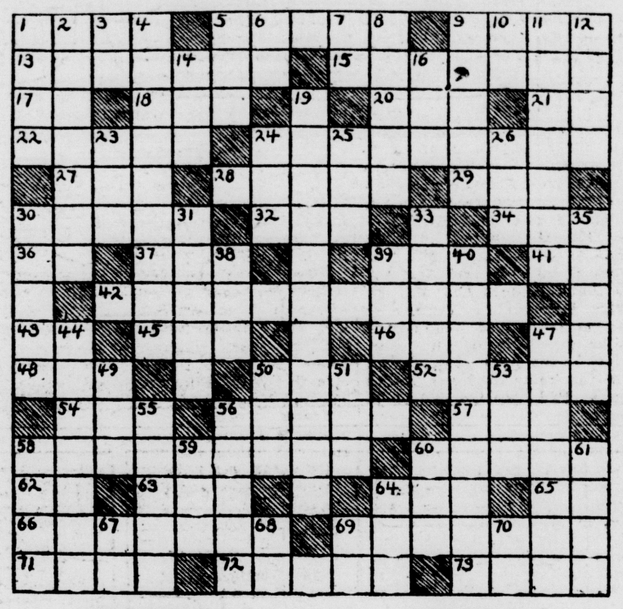

"Let us, above all, keep our heads and not be stampeded by any sudden or momentary shift in the trade current or by the temporary advantages of our competitors."

The export trade of the United States in 1924 increased more than 10 per cent over 1923, and the opening months of 1925 have shown continued satisfactory gains.

Shaw Finds Man He Admits Taught Him Something

LONDON, Eng., April—The brilliant brain of George Bernard Shaw made it easy for him to learn the intricacies of the tango, according to Michael Rinder, who instructed Shaw in the dance recently at Madeira.

"Mr. Shaw came to my bungalow to look on, but remained to learn, and proved an apt pupil," said Rinder. "He applied his precise mind as well as his feet, and it is, of course, an easy task to teach an intelligent person who is eager to learn."

Shaw presented Rinder with an autograph as follows: "To the only man in Madeira able to teach me anything.—G. B. Shaw."

There are several other cases known throughout the world of children being born joined together; but attempts to separate children born in this manner have only twive been successful.

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them.

Britain Sends Super-Sub on Mystery Cruise

While France is refusing to consider discussing curtailment of submarines in the disarmament conference the U. S. professes to hold and Washington is admitting that submarines should be considered part of coast defense forces, Great Britain is preparing to send the biggest sub in the world, the V-1, on a mystery cruise around the world. 250,000 Fans Watch Opening Day Tilts; Weather Is Typical

Heavy Casualties Reported Among Grandmothers; Champion Senators Will Clash With Yankees in New York Before Biggest Crowd of Either Circuit.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Major league baseball, hallowed institution of all that is typically American, will get away running this afternoon in the formal opening of the 1925 season and the citizenry of eight big time cities are agog at the prospect. A Cub reporter, given a story about a mad dog running amuck, once wrote something to the effect that the dog ran a terrible muck down the street. I might say therefore, that the fans are a very successful gog.

It is the big moment for which they annually wait and a grandmother's life, more or less, is a mere nothing.

Close to a quarter of a million souls will attend the various openings, weather permitting, and of that number, some were born with grandmothers, some will achieve them and others, particularly the bosses with office boys, will have them thrust upon them.

Opening day, always a fickle, temperamental proposition in the matter of weather, is running true to form today. Although the general indication is for fair weather, not a few of the favored cities are threatened with showers that may wash the entire proceedings overboard.

Locally, the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees, respective champions and runners-up in the American league last year, are due to oblige at the Yankee stadium and early indications were for clear and cool weather. If no change is manifested before night-fall, the teams will play before nearly 65,000 persons, as the park is a sell out except for the unreserved sections. Walter Johnson is one of several pitching possibilities for Washington. Shocker probably will pitch for the Yankees.

The same conditions will probably effect the opening at Ebbets' field, where the Dodgers and Phillies will hold forth before nearly 30,000. Vance, league leading pitcher, is due for the Dodgers, Jimmy Ring for the Phillies.

Unsettled weather is in prospect for the Giant-Braves' game at Boston, and the Red sox-Athletics' opening at Philadelphia. The day dawned clear in both cities, but the official forecast called for showers late in the afternoon or shortly after dark.

At Cincinnati, where the Cardinals and Reds are due to mingle, much the same conditions prevailed, there being an area of low pressure nearby.

Further west, however, the prospects were more encouraging. Fair weather was in prospect for the Chicago opening between the Pirates and Cubs, and St. Louis for the inaugural ceremonies featuring the Indians and the Browns.

But not so Detroit's prospects. It was cloudy there during the last 24 hours, and the sardonic weather man was pleased to indicate that this condition might continue today.

One other factor, that of the unprecedented number of players affected this year by illness, injury and the bite of the holdout bug, may serve to mar some of the openings.

Babe Ruth, most famous of all ball players, will miss the Yankee inaugural. He is still confined to a local hospital with the flu and can only follow the fortunes of his team through reports brought to his bedside. The Yanks also are likely to start without Everett Scott, shortstop, and his consecutive-game streak seems about to be ended after 1,291 games.

John McGraw will miss his first opening game since becoming manager of the Giants. He is ill. Frisch, Lindstrom and Groh, of the same club, are ailing and any or all of them may be out. The Athletics will be devoid of Hauser and Heimach through injuries and the Cubs must worry along without Maranville, Hollocher and Grigsby.

Moore and Niehaus, of the Pirates, also may prove to be hors de hospital, and Aldridge, of the same club, is a holdout. "Baby Doll" Jackson, of the Browns, is similarly affected, while Wrightstone of the Phillies, and Blue, of the Tigers, are suffering from minor casualties, although both may play.

SPORT CHATTER

Glenna Collett, the feminine Babe Ruth of golfdom, has gone to England to play in the British women's golf championship tourney at Tyron in May. There is no truth, however, in the rumor that she will attempt to go the swimmers one better by trying to drive a golf ball across the English channel.

Iron Man Joe McGinnity played a part in the rise of young Charley Dressen, now with Cincinnati and expected to be a great infielder when he gets under way.

Dressen was obtained from St. Paul last fall and was expected to play short this year. A cold he contracted in his arm late last season has bothered the wing ever since, and to date has kept him out of the game.

Dressen started out to be a pitcher. He pitched for his school team in Decatur, Ill. When he was graduated from school he hooked up with the somewhat famous Decatur Blues, an industrial outfit. McGinnity was then bossing that outfit.

Dressen's diminutive size caused McGinity to make him leadoff man whenever he played. Then Joe decided that while Dressen's chances for making good as a pitcher were limited because of his diminutive size the kid had the makings of a good infielder. Joe promptly shifted him to third base. Moline, in the Three-Eye league, bought him as a third sacker in 1919 and he was still an infielder when the club sold him to Peoria.

Big league scouts looked him over. His size discouraged most of the ivory hunters, Mike Kelly, then bossing St. Paul, heard of Charley, and grabbed him. Sent him to third.

Dressen not only proved himself a brilliant infielder but started hitting at a .300 gait and improved that record.

In 1922 he hit .304. He held this average the next season and then last year rang the bell for a .347 average. He led the league in the 1924 campaign in driving in runs, his trusty bat accounting for 151. He scored 100 himself.

And there seems little reason to doubt that he will keep up his work with the stick when he resumes playing with the Reds.

All of which doesn't make Iron Man Joseph a bit sad or mournful like.

It may be only a co-incidence that the news that Bill Doak had refused to allow the Brooklyn club to pay him $15,000 a year for pitching came co-incident with the report that Owner Ebbetts of the club, who has been ill, was feeling much easier.

Time for another report that Jack Dempsey is to return to the ring—and the usual followup report that he isn't. You can't blame a champion for using that one-two punch idea to keep himself in the public eye, however.

Babe Ruth hit .449 in the exhibition games and .520 at the dinner table—before he lost out.

Bill Doak, veteran pitcher, has announced that he prefers to continue as a real estate salesman in Florida and has turned down a $15,000-a year contract offered him by the club. Which indicates that Bill figures on selling considerable real estate.

Suez canal has no locks and is 100 miles long, while the Panama canal is 40 miles in length.

And He Doesn't Call It "Obre-on"

Out to restore the prestige of the Irish in the ring is Mr. Tommy O'Brien, the young gentleman who socked George Chaney on the button a while ago in the lightweight elimination series and is now seeking more world's to conquer.

W. Va. Frosh Captain Injured in Workout

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 14.—Captain Jake Cottrel, of the freshman track squad, and star end on that football team in the past season, pulled a tendon in practice yesterday, and has been laid off from all workouts by Coach Smith. The Charleston speed boy, recently elected captain of the promising freshman outfit, was running in improved form at the time of his injury. Coach Smith had intended to use him in the 440-yard event and the 220 low hurdles, and hopes to be able to have him reready for the opening meet in Keyser, with Potomac State, on April 18th.

The Mountaineer mentor is having unusual hard luck in the matter of injuries to his track squads this year. In addition to the recent mishap to Cottrell, Michaels, a promising Varsity candidate for the 40, and Morgan, another good-looking prospect who runs the 880, have pulled tendons and were laid up for some time. The coach attributes this to the fact that the track squad is without the services of a rubber or trainer, and must depend upon student assistant managers for this important part of the development and conditioning of his men.

Village Hit Hard.

SOUTH AMHERST, April — This village, which has just subdued a scarlet fever epidemic starting last November, is now in the throes of a flu epidemic, with 25 cases.

Opening Day Finds Three Noted Names Among the Missing

NEW YORK, April 14.—Three of the greatest names in all baseball will be missing from the accounts of the 1925 opening games today as a result of illness and injury.

Babe Ruth, most famous player the game has known, is still confined to his hospital cot by illness and will be missing from the Yankee-Senator opening at the Yankee stadium.

So, according to official statements, will Everett Scott, veteran shortstop and holder of the world's record for consecutive games played. For nine seasons, Scott has played a ball game every day, come what might, until his record reached the amazing total of 1,291 games. Now, it seemingly must come to an end through an abdominal strain contracted in a recent training camp game.

John McGraw, famous manager of the Giants, did not go to Boston with his club. He is confined to his home here with a heavy cold and will miss his first opening since taking over the leadership of the club more than 20 years ago.

Java is to have a 30,000 horsepower hydro electric plant which will furnish power to many industries and cities.

SKY CLEAR FOR PIRATES-CUBS

Yde or Kramer to Oppose Alexander on Mound.

CHICAGO, April 14.—The most perfect of spring days with a warm, summer-like sun hanging high over head and a gentle balmy breeze whispering lazily, greeted the thousands who treked to the lair of the Cubs here today to witness their clash with the Pirates in the National league opener.

Grover Cleveland Alexander was scheduled to do business on the mound for the Cubs and report had it that Yde or Kramer would do the Pirate flinging.

Only Denver Grigsby will be missing from the Cubs' squad when "play ball" is called, although Rabbit Maranville will be present only to give his moral support since a broken ankle will preclude his participating in the day's activities. Grigsby still is in a Los Angeles hospital.

On the Pirate casualty list was Second Baseman Moore, who hurt his shoulder in Oklahoma City and First Baseman Nelhaus, who is suffering from a sprained leg. Both, however, it is said, may be able to play.

DETROIT BOOKS GREB AND ROJAS

DETROIT, Mich., April 14.—Romero Rojas will battle Harry Greb, champion middleweight, here on May 1, it was announced today. The middleweight crown will not be at stake.

School Head Weds

Why the United States Rubber Company's New Flat "Low-Pressure Tread" on Balloon Tires Prevents Early and Uneven Tread Wear

Compare these two tread imprints—
They tell the whole story
of Balloon Tire performance on the road

THESE tread imprints were made by two Balloon Tires of exactly the same size. Both under the same load. Both inflated at the same air-pressure.

Yet one shows 22% more road contact than the other.

Here you see one of the outstanding advantages of the new flat "Low-Pressure Tread," one of the greatest achievements ever contributed to Balloon Tires. And exclusive with U. S. Royal Balloon Cords.

This is the first tread ever designed to properly conform to the action of a Balloon Tire on the road.

It is designed specifically for the low inflations necessary to give real Balloon Tire cushioning.

This means that for the first time you get the full Balloon comfort without sacrificing mileage.

This 22% greater area of contact distributes the load better—lessens the weight on the individual tread blocks—reduces tread wear and movement, and does away with early, uneven and disfiguring tread wear.

It means that you do not have to over-inflate your tires to prevent this early tread wear.

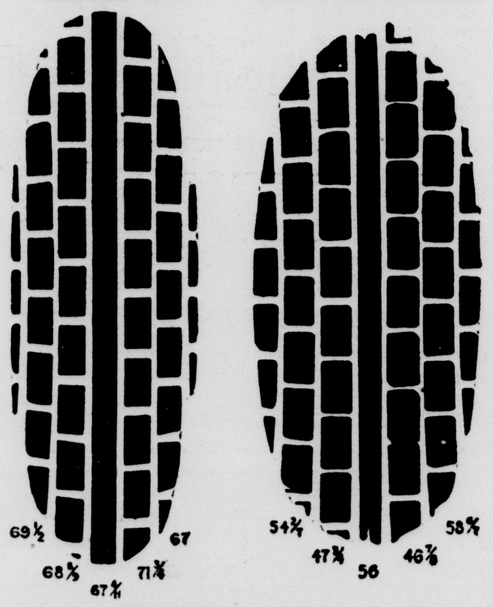

It establishes a new standard of low-pressure inflation. It gives you better cushioning and longer service. It gives better traction, easier steering, and greater stability.

It gives better non-skid protection because the flexible outer row of tread blocks is now brought into full contact with the road.

Specify U. S. Royal Balloon Cords—"the Balloon Tire principle at its Best."

Major League Baseball Battles Under Way In Eight Cities

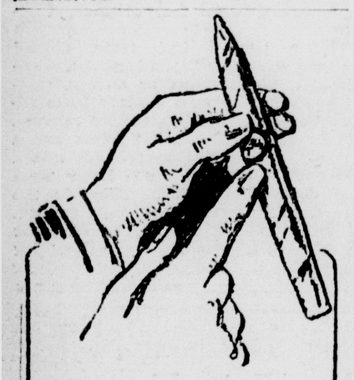

LANDIS WILL SEE GIANTS-BRAVES

BOSTON, April 14.—The lid goes off this 1925 major league baseball season today at Braves Field this afternoon, with Boston playing the New York Giants, last year's National league champions.

"Dave" Bancroft, youthful manager of the Braves, starts his second season in that capacity, with practically a new lineup.

Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, will be present.

The Duke and Duchess of York invariably drive their automobiles themselves.

250,000 Fans Watch Opening Day Tilts; Weather Is Typical

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Major league baseball, hallowed institution of all that is typically American, will get away running this afternoon in the formal opening of the 1925 season and the citizenry of eight big time cities are agog at the prospect. A Cub reporter, given a story about a mad dog running amuck, once wrote something to the effect that the dog ran a terrible muck down the street. I might say therefore, that the fans are a very successful gog.

It is the big moment for which they annually wait and a grandmother's life, more or less, is a mere nothing.

Close to a quarter of amillion souls will attend the various openings, weather permitting, and of that number, some were born with grandmothers, some will achieve them and others, particularly the bosses with office boys, will have them thrust upon them.

Opening day, always a fickle, temperamental proposition in the matter of weather, is running true to form today. Although the general indication is for fair weather, not a few of the favored cities are threatened with showers that may wash the entire proceedings overboard.

Locally, the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees, respective champions and runners-up in the American league last year, are due to oblige at the Yankee stadium and early indications were for clear and cool weather. If no change is manifested before night-fall, the teams will play before nearly 65,000 persons, as the park is a sell out except for the unreserved sections. Walter Johnson is one of several pitching possibilities for Washington. Shocker probably will pitch for the Yankees.

The same conditions will probably effect the opening at Ebbets' field, where the Dodgers and Phillies will hold forth before nearly 30,000. Vance, league leading pitcher, is due for the Dodgers, Jimmy Ring for the Phillies.

Unsettled weather is in prospect for the Giant-Braves' game at Boston, and the Red sox-Athletics' opening at Philadelphia. The day dawned clear in both cities, but the official forecast called for showers late in the afternoon or shortly after dark.

At Cincinnati, where the Cardinals and Reds are due to mingle, much the same conditions prevailed, there being an area of low pressure nearby.

Further west, however, the prospects were more encouraging. Fair weather was in prospect for the Chicago opening between the Pirates and Cubs, and St. Louis for the inaugural ceremonies featuring the Indians and the Browns.

But not so Detroit's prospects. It was cloudy there during the last 24 hours, and the sardonic weather man was pleased to indicate that this condition might continue today.

One other factor, that of the unprecedented number of players affected this year by illness, injury and the bite of the holdout bug, may serve to mar some of the openings.

Babe Ruth, most famous of all ball players, will miss the Yankee inaugural. He is still confined to a local hospital with the flu and can only follow the fortunes of his team through reports brought to his bedside. The Yanks also are likely to start without Everett Scott, shortstop, and his consecutive-game streak seems about to be ended after 1,291 games.

John McGraw will miss his first opening game since becoming manager of the Giants. He is ill. Frisch, Lindstrom and Groh, of the same club, are ailing and any or all of them may be out. The Athletics will be devoid of Hauser and Heimach through injuries and the Cubs must worry along without Maranville, Hollocher and Grigsby.

Moore and Niehaus, of the Pirates, also may prove to be hors de hospital, and Aldridge, of the same club, is a holdout. "Baby Doll" Jackson, of the Browns, is similarly affected, while Wrightstone of the Phillies, and Blue, of the Tigers, are suffering from minor casualties, although both may play.

SPORT CHATTER

Glenna Collett, the feminine Babe Ruth of golfdom, has gone to England to play in the British women's golf championship tourney at Tyron in May. There is no truth, however, in the rumor that she will attempt to go the swimmers one better by trying to drive a golf ball across the English channel.

Iron Man Joe McGinnity played a part in the rise of young Charley Dressen, now with Cincinnati and expected to be a great infielder when he gets under way.

Dressen was obtained from St. Paul last fall and was expected to play short this year. A cold he contracted in his arm late last season has bothered the wing ever since, and to date has kept him out of the game.

Dressen started out to be a pitcher. He pitched for his school team in Decatur, Ill. When he was graduated from school he hooked up with the somewhat famous Decatur Blues, an industrial outfit. McGinnity was then bossing that outfit.

Dressen's diminutive size caused McGinity to make him leadoff man whenever he played. Then Joe decided that while Dressen's chances for making good as a pitcher were limited because of his diminutive size the kid had the makings of a good infielder. Joe promptly shifted him to third base. Moline, in the Three-Eye league, bought him as a third sacker in 1919 and he was still an infielder when the club sold him to Peoria.

Big league scouts looked him over. His size discouraged most of the ivory hunters. Mike Kelly, then bossing St. Paul, heard of Charley, and grabbed him. Sent him to third.

Dressen not only proved himself a brilliant infielder but started hitting at a .300 gait and improved that record.

In 1922 he hit .304. He held this average the next season and then last year rang the bell for a .347 average. He led the league in the 1924 campaign in driving in runs, his trusty bat accounting for 151. He scored 103 himself.

And there seems little reason to doubt that he will keep up his work with the stick when he resumes playing with the Reds.

All of which doesn't make Iron Man Joseph a bit sad or mournful like.

It may be only a co-incidence that the news that Bill Doak had refused to allow the Brooklyn club to pay him $15,000 a year for pitching came co-incident with the report that Owner Ebbetts of the club, who has been ill, was feeling much easier.

Time for another report that Jack Dempsey is to return to the ring—and the usual followup report that he isn't. You can't blame a champion for using that one-two punch idea to keep himself in the public eye, however.

Babe Ruth hit .449 in the exhibition games and .520 at the dinner table—before he lost out.

Bill Doak, veteran pitcher, has announced that he prefers to continue as a real estate salesman in Florida and has turned down a $15,000-a year contract offered him by the club. Which indicates that Bill figures on selling considerable real estate.

Suez canal has no locks and is 100 miles long, while the Panama canal is 40 miles in length.

And He Doesn't Call It "Obre-on"

Out to restore the prestige of the Irish in the ring is Mr. Tommy O'Brien, the young gentleman who socked George Chaney on the button a while ago in the lightweight elimination series and is now seeking more world's to conquer.

W. Va. Frosh Captain Injured in Workout

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 14.—Captain Jake Cottrel, of the freshman track squad, and star end on that football team in the past season, pulled a tendon in practice yesterday, and has been laid off from all workouts by Coach Smith. The Charleston speed boy, recently elected captain of the promising freshman outfit, was running in improved form at the time of his injury. Coach Smith had intended to use him in the 440-yard event and the 220 low hurdles, and hopes to be able to have him ready for the opening meet in Keyser, with Potomac State, on April 18th.

The Mountaineer mentor is having unusual hard luck in the matter of injuries to his track squads this year. In addition to the recent mishap to Cottrell, Michaels, a promising Varsity candidate for the 40, and Morgan, another good-looking prospect who runs the 880, have pulled tendons and were laid up for some time. The coach attributes this to the fact that the track squad is without the services of a rubber or trainer, and must depend upon student assistant managers for this important part of the development and conditioning of his men.

Village Hit Hard.

SOUTH AMHERST, April — This village, which has just subdued a scarlet fever epidemic starting last November, is now in the throes of a flu epidemic, with 25 cases.

Opening Day Finds Three Noted Names Among the Missing

NEW YORK, April 14.—Three of the greatest names in all baseball will be missing from the accounts of the 1925 opening games today as a result of illness and injury.

Babe Ruth, most famous player the game has known, is still confined to his hospital cot by illness and will be missing from the Yankee-Senator opening at the Yankee stadium.

So, according to official statements, will Everett Scott, veteran shortstop and holder of the world's record for consecutive games played. For nine seasons, Scott has played a ball game every day, come what might, until his record reached the amazing total of 1,291 games. Now, it seemingly must come to an end through an abdominal strain contracted in a recent training camp game.

John McGraw, famous manager of the Giants, did not go to Boston with his club. He is confined to his home here with a heavy cold and will miss his first opening since taking over the leadership of the club more than 20 years ago.

Java is to have a 30,000 horsepower hydro electric plant which will furnish power to many industries and cities.

SKY CLEAR FOR PIRATES-CUBS

Yde or Kramer to Oppose Alexander on Mound.

CHICAGO, April 14.—The most perfect of spring days with a warm, summer-like sun hanging high over head and a gentle balmy breeze whispering lazily, greeted the thousands who treked to the lair of the Cubs here today to witness their clash with the Pirates in the National league opener.

Grover Cleveland Alexander was scheduled to do business on the mound for the Cubs and report had it that Yde or Kramer would do the Pirate flinging.

Only Denver Grigsby will be missing from the Cubs' squad when "play ball" is called, although Rabbit Maranville will be present only to give his moral support since a broken ankle will preclude his participating in the day's activities. Grigsby still is in a Los Angeles hospital.

On the Pirate casualty list was Second Baseman Moore, who hurt his shoulder in Oklahoma City and First Baseman Nelhaus, who is suffering from a sprained leg. Both, however, it is said, may be able to play.

DETROIT BOOKS GREB AND ROJAS

DETROIT, Mich., April 14.—Romero Rojas will battle Harry Greb, champion middleweight, here on May 1, it was announced today. The middleweight crown will not be at stake.

School Head Weds

Elyria, April—Helen M. Rice, assistant county school superintendent and graduate of Oberlin college, has announced her marriage to Foster I. Fackler, Shelby, a bus driver, as having taken place at Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 20, 1920.

Why the United States Rubber Company's New Flat "Low-Pressure Tread" on Balloon Tires Prevents Early and Uneven Tread Wear

Compare these two tread imprints—
They tell the whole story
of Balloon Tire performance on the road

THESE tread imprints were made by two Balloon Tires of exactly the same size. Both under the same load. Both inflated at the same air-pressure.

Yet one shows 22% more road contact than the other.

Here you see one of the outstanding advantages of the new flat "Low-Pressure Tread," one of the greatest achievements ever contributed to Balloon Tires. And exclusive with U. S. Royal Balloon Cords.

This is the first tread ever designed to properly conform to the action of a Balloon Tire on the road.

It is designed specifically for the low inflations necessary to give real Balloon Tire cushioning.

This means that for the first time you get the full Balloon comfort without sacrificing mileage.

This 22% greater area of contact distributes the load better—lessens the weight on the individual tread blocks—reduces tread wear and movement, and does away with early, uneven and disfiguring tread wear.

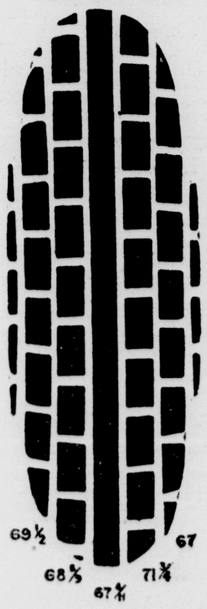

It means that you do not have to over-inflate your tires to prevent this early tread wear.

It establishes a new standard of low-pressure inflation. It gives you better cushioning and longer service. It gives better traction, easier steering, and greater stability.

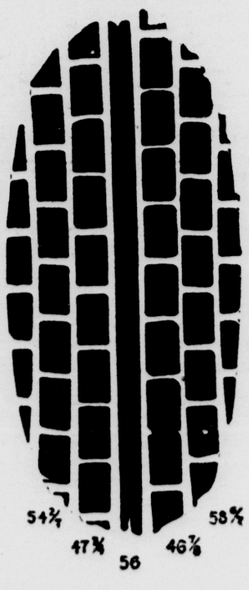

It gives better non-skid protection because the flexible outer row of tread blocks is now brought into full contact with the road.

Specify U. S. Royal Balloon Cords—"the Balloon Tire principle at its Best."

THE BLACK FLAG FLIES HIGH

The Pirates Are Out Again to Scuttle Giant Ship

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

"Fifteen men on the dead man's chest—
Yo-Ho-Ho, and a bottle o' rum."

And as the jolly Pittsburgh Pirates get their National league brigade under way this year they're hoping the dead man will be John McGraw, the New York Giant, who, by cutlass, broad-sword and stink-bomb has kept the National league seas in a reign of terror for lo, these four past years.

As the Pirates plan to board the Giant ship and start slashing Skipper Bill McKechnie makes it clear that he is depending upon a team of youngsters to carry the team through the campaign. But it strikes me he may be overlooking one happening—the failure of his greatest veteran, Max Carey, to swing his mace with usual alacrity in the van of that young boarding crew.

Should the aged but fleet-footed Max suddenly yield to Dad Time McKechnie will receive an awful blow.

Three newcomers in the sea-roaming crew who are expected to play a big part in the success of the team are Vic Aldrich, Gorge Grantham and Al Neihaus, kidnapped from the Cubs in a winter sallie off the main course.

Neihaus, a youngster, found himself in the happy position, when the trade was made, or having a clear claim to the first basing job, despite his youth and lack of acquaintanceship with the Pirate crew. Charley Grimm, first sacker last year, was included in the band that was sent to the Cubs. Grimm, a spectacular player at times, had the unhappy faculty of faltering at times.

Aldrich found himself listed from the crowded ranks of a first-class pitching staff to one sadly in need of an energetic, winning pitcher. Emil Yde, Ray Kremer and Wilbur Cooper carried the brunt of the pitching for the Pirate last season. Lee Meadows ranked fourth. Johnny Morrison, owner of one of the greatest curve balls in baseball, failed once more to find his place in the sun.

McKetchnie allowed Cooper to go to the Cubs, which left him Kremer and Yde as aces. Aldrich, a winner with the Cubs, has the opportunity to make it a "Big Three" combination.

But two outfielders on the Pirate skin ranked with the best of their fellow men last season—Hazen Cuyler and Max Carey. Barhardt and Bigbee played good ball but not stellar. So Grantham, who made a big hit in Cubville, walked into the possibilities of grabbing off a regular outfielding job.

Pretty soft for these three newcomers, then, but softer still for the Pirates.

Then there are Eddie Moore and Glenn Wright, ready to claim once more places with the great infielders of the game. Moore, at second late last season, drew the attention of the baseball world. Wright's play at short was brilliant all season. Pie Traynor is still at third.

Earl Smith hopes to make Jawn McGraw sorrier than ever that he let Mr. Smith go by catching a brilliant game. Johnny Gooch can step with the rest of them behind the plate.

So the Pirate crew is sittin' pretty.

"Fifteen men on the dead man's chest;
Ho-Ho-Ho, and a bottle o' rum."

Ask Commission to O. K. Greb-Walker go

NEW YORK, April 14.—Official sanction for the proposed championship meeting between Harry Greb and Mickey Walker and the arrangement of dates for the various outdoor boxing shows will be requested of the New York State Athletic commission today. It is also possible that Ace Hudkins, Nebraska lightweight, will be inserted among the entries for the lightweight elimination tourney instead of Joe Benjamin, whom Hudkins recently defeated.

Promoters of the milk fund show are expected to be granted a license for the McTigue-Berlenbach meeting May 12, but the Walker-Greb and Wills-Weinert bouts for the Italian hospital fund probably will be postponed from June 19 to July 3, owing to their proximity to the Tunney-Gibbons match on June 12.

THE COACH $735.

Economy

Something More Than a Mere Slogan

The experience of millions of Chevrolet owners driving over all kinds of roads and under all possible conditions has proven beyond the shadow of a doubt that the Chevrolet is, in the end, the most economical of all motor cars regardless of price or type.

The low first cost (made possible only by the enormous quantity production, now exceeding 2,500 per day)—The low gas and oil consumption, the high mileage that Chevrolet owners are able to get from low priced tires—The uniform flat rate system of service — The low depreciation and high resale value are all real economy features, but the sturdy construction, perfect balance, extra heavy gears and rear end of the new 1925 models, reducing repair bills to a minimum seems destined to set still a new standard of economy.

THE BLACK FLAG FLIES HIGH

The Pirates Are Out Again to Scuttle Giant Ship

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

"Fifteen men on the dead man's chest—
Yo-Ho-Ho, and a bottle o' rum."

And as the jolly Pittsburgh Pirates get their National league brigade under way this year they're hoping the dead man will be John McGraw, the New York Giant, who, by cutlass, broad-sword and stink-bomb has kept the National league seas in a reign of terror for lo, these four past years.

As the Pirates plan to board the Giant ship and start slashing Skipper Bill McKechnie makes it clear that he is depending upon a team of youngsters to carry the team through the campaign. But it strikes me he may be overlooking one happening—the failure of his greatest veteran, Max Carey, to swing his mace with usual alacrity in the van of that young boarding crew.

Should the aged but fleet-footed Max suddenly yield to Dad Time McKechnie will receive an awful blow.

Three newcomers in the sea-roaming crew who are expected to play a big part in the success of the team are Vic Aldrich, Gorge Grantham and Al Neihaus, kidnapped from the Cubs in a winter sallie off the main course.

Neihaus, a youngster, found himself in the happy position, when the trade was made, or having a clear claim to the first basing job, despite his youth and lack of acquaintanceship with the Pirate crew. Charley Grimm, first sacker last year, was included in the band that was sent to the Cubs. Grimm, a spectacular player at times, had the unhappy faculty of faltering at times.

Aldrich found himself listed from the crowded ranks of a first-class pitching staff to one sadly in need of an energetic, winning pitcher. Emil Yde, Ray Kremer and Wilbur Cooper carried the brunt of the pitching for the Pirate last season. Lee Meadows ranked fourth. Johnny Morrison, owner of one of the greatest curve balls in baseball, failed once more to find his place in the sun.

McKetchnie allowed Cooper to go to the Cubs, which left him Kremer and Yde as aces. Aldrich, a winner with the Cubs, has the opportunity to make it a "Big Three" combination.

But two outfielders on the Pirate skip ranked with the best of their fellow men last season—Hazen Cuyler and Max Carey. Barhardt and Bigbee played good ball but not stellar. So Grantham, who made a big hit in Cubville, walked into the possibilities of grabbing off a regular outfielding job.

Pretty soft for these three newcomers, then, but softer still for the Pirates.

Then there are Eddie Moore and Glenn Wright, ready to claim once more places with the great infielders of the game. Moore, at second late last season, drew the attention of the baseball world. Wright's play at short was brilliant all season. Pie Traynor is still at third.

Earl Smith hopes to make Jawn McGraw sorrier than ever that he let Mr. Smith go by catching a brilliant game. Johnny Gooch can step with the rest of them behind the plate.

So the Pirate crew is sittin' pretty.

"Fifteen men on the dead man's chest;
Ho-Ho-Ho, and a bottle o' rum."

Ask Commission to O. K. Greb-Walker go

NEW YORK, April 14.—Official sanction for the proposed championship meeting between Harry Greb and Mickey Walker and the arrangement of dates for the various outdoor boxing shows will be requested of the New York State Athletic commission today. It is also possible that Ace Hudkins, Nebraska lightweight, will be inserted among the entries for the lightweight elimination tourney instead of Joe Benjamin, whom Hudkins recently defeated.

Promoters of the milk fund show are expected to be granted a license for the McTigue-Berlenbach meeting May 12, but the Walker-Greb and Wills-Weinert bouts for the Italian hospital fund probably will be postponed from June 19 to July 3, owing to their proximity to the Tunney-Gibbons match on June 12.

Rookies will be widly applauded whether they knock homers, get caught sleeping on base or muff flies. Razzing will start about one week later.

At end of opening day festivities several tail enders will be surprised to find themselves in first place. On the second day they will mave a percentage of .500, following which their percentage in the Standing of the Clubs will look like a thermometer on a cold day in Yukon.

Economy
Something More Than a Mere Slogan

The experience of millions of Chevrolet owners driving over all kinds of roads and under all possible conditions has proven beyond the shadow of a doubt that the Chevrolet is, in the end, the most economical of all motor cars regardless of price or type.

The low first cost (made possible only by the enormous quantity production, now exceeding 2,500 per day)—The low gas and oil consumption, the high mileage that Chevrolet owners are able to get from low priced tires—The uniform flat rate system of service — The low depreciation and high resale value are all real economy features, but the sturdy construction, perfect balance, extra heavy gears and rear end of the new 1925 models, reducing repair bills to a minimum seems destined to set still a new standard of economy.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

The farm wife who wrote the following letter has my deepest sympathy. She is faced by a real dilemma, and not one that is mostly imaginative. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 26 years old and have been married nine years. My husband seems to love me and I still want to believe that he does. But at times he is terrible to me or anything he comes in contact with—cows, cats, horses, etc. He even threatens to kill me and tries to make me leave. All of my coaxing and efforts to keep him out of such moods do no good. When I was just married I cried so much because of this, but now that I am older I look beyond the crying and how much this is ruining my life. When he is not in a mood which lasts for days he treats me as well as he knows how. It has been three years since we purchased a farm. When the contract was drawn up it was done so jointly, but when the deed was made it was in his name. I made objections, but my husband said it was a mistake and I should sign and the matter would be straightened out later. Rather than have any discussion in the presence of lawyers I did as he wanted me to. The deed is the same to this day. We have no children. I work hard, raise chickens, milk four cows, and help out in the field more than any woman I know. All the money goes to pay for my husband's farm. I love work and I am healthy and can stand a lot of hard work, but I have done this for three years and can see nothing coming my way. It wouldn't be so bad if I had a little money for myself, but I haven't a cent. In a mad fit my husband told me that the deed was just as he wanted it and he would never change it for fear I might leave and take part. Should I go on this way, or would you advise me to try a scare and leave for a while? I have a high school education and can mingle well with people. I know I could make my way much easier than I have it now. I don't want to do that. I want in some way to bring about a union which will work with everything. I know I would always love my husband. I often feel I have petted him so much that he couldn't get along without me. If he weren't so selfish it might help. I have an excellent home I could go to any time. My parents understand our trouble but let me be the judge. They never have stepped in.

ANXIOUS WIFE.

Your husband's fits of madness may be due to some mental ailment. If such is the case nothing you can do will remedy matters. But the next time he abuses you and tells you to go, announce quietly that you are going to your parents—or somewhere—for a visit, and keep your word. Perhaps a separation of a month or two will cause him to mend his ways. If this fails, then divorce seems to be the only thing to advise. Since there are no children it is a step you can take without regret.

QUIET: Either the man is indifferent to you, or his nature is such that he is contented without the companionship of a woman. Have other friends too so that you will not depend on him for your happiness. If he cared enough to marry you, you would probably find him an undemonstrative and unsatisfactory husband.

UNHAPPY WIFE: Since your husband will not work and the burden of support falls upon you, refuse to allow him to come home for food and shelter when it pleases him. No man has a right to claim so much from his wife.

N. T. F.: Do not accept invitations to lunch from strangers who come into the office. If you respect your good name it will pay you to be careful in such matters.

Liquor Raid Reprisals.
LOGAN, April — Four men were arrested by Sheriff Shaw and deputies following what is described as guerilla warfare, or bushwhacking, in western Hocking county. Several homes were fired into at night, and the officers voiced belief that the trouble was due to recent liquor raids.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

The farm wife who wrote the following letter has my deepest sympathy. She is faced by a real dilemma, and not one that is mostly imaginative. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 26 years old and have been married nine years. My husband seems to love me and I still want to believe that he does. But at times he is terrible to me or anything he comes in contact with—cows, cats, horses, etc. He even threatens to kill me and tries to make me leave. All of my coaxing and efforts to keep him out of such moods do no good. When I was just married I cried so much because of this, but now that I am older I look beyond the crying and how much this is ruining my life. When he is not in a mood which lasts for days he treats me as well as he knows how. It has been three years since we purchased a farm. When the contract was drawn up it was done so jointly, but when the deed was made it was in his name. I made objections, but my husband said it was a mistake and I should sign and the matter would be straightened out later. Rather than have any discussion in the presence of lawyers I did as he wanted me to. The deed is the same to this day. We have no children. I work hard, raise chickens, milk four cows, and help out in the field more than any woman I know. All the money goes to pay for my husband's farm. I love work and I am healthy and can stand a lot of hard work, but I have done this for three years and can see nothing coming my way. It wouldn't be so bad if I had a little money for myself, but I haven't a cent. In a mad fit my husband told me that the deed was just as he wanted it and he would never change it for fear I might leave and take part. Should I go on this way, or would you advise me to try a scare and leave for a while? I have a high school education and can mingle well with people. I know I could make my way much easier than I have it now. I don't want to do that. I want in some way to bring about a union which will work with everything. I know I would always love my husband. I often feel I have petted him so much that he couldn't get along without me. If he weren't so selfish it might help. I have an excellent home I could go to any time. My parents understand our trouble but let me be the judge. They never have stepped in.

ANXIOUS WIFE.

Your husband's fits of madness may be due to some mental ailment. If such is the case nothing you can do will remedy matters. But the next time he abuses you and tells you to go, announce quietly that you are going to your parents—or somewhere—for a visit, and keep your word. Perhaps a separation of a month or two will cause him to mend his ways. If this fails, then divorce seems to be the only thing to advise. Since there are no children it is a step you can take without regret.

QUIET: Either the man is indifferent to you, or his nature is such that he is contented without the companionship of a woman. Have other friends too so that you will not depend on him for your happiness. If he cared enough to marry you, you would probably find him an undemonstrative and unsatisfactory husband.

UNHAPPY WIFE: Since your husband will not work and the burden of support falls upon you, refuse to allow him to come home for food and shelter when it pleases him. No man has a right to claim so much from his wife.

N. T. F.: Do not accept invitations to lunch from strangers who come into the office. If you respect your good name it will pay you to be careful in such matters.

The Prince and the Plague.
And a Vague Earthquake.
Good Comes From Sorrow.
Wheat Takes Jump.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Schientists at Georgetown announce a heavy earthquake somewhere on the earth about 6,500 miles away. When you say 6,500 miles you reassure Americans. We all bear other people's troubles well.

The Prince of Wales is stopped in his triumphant tour through British possessions in Africa by an outbreak of plague. That may be a good thing for Africans that lack the prince's facilities for avoiding disease.

When disease threatens those high in power something is done about it. When we wanted to build the canal we found a way to end malaria at Panama.

If the French king had known that he was to die of smallpox with his favorite lady leaving him to die alone like a sick dog, he would probably have done some cleaning up in Paris.

He might even have transferred his attention from his Pare Aux Cerfts harem to the young English doctor, Jenner, then experimenting with vaccination.

The Germans, it should be remembered, had a plan in their mark collapse. They sold printed paper to foreign countries at the price of real money and thus let other countries pay their debts. And, that was not so dull, whatever you may think of it ethically. In any case that plan would not suit France, for there the little man with his wealth in francs really counts. In Germany he is less important.

Herriot's downfall caused President Coolidge to issue a statement praising the work accomplished by the Socialist prime minister. The president observes that Herriot's financial troubles were inherited from the government that preceded his and credits him with excellent results in his effort to reach some settlement with Germany.

Yesterday was the birthday of their son, Calvin, Jr., and the President and Mrs. Coolidge gave a party for the children of Washington on the White House grounds.

Had their son lived he would have witnessed his seventeenth birthday celebration. A day of sad memories for the father and mother, they choose to make it a day of happiness for many other children.

Thus among civilized beings individual sorrow is the source of happiness for others and misfortune finds its solace in doing good.

Wheat jumped up more than seven cents a bushel Saturday and worried the "short sellers." Winter wheat is reported in bad condition. Rumania usually growing a great wheat surplus, is buying wheat. Russia must buy 500,000 tons to avoid famine. Gambling is dangerous on either side of the market and especially on the short side in America.

Russia finds some consolation for a poor wheat crop in her oil wealth and in exports generally. Austria-Hungary bought 30,000 tons of crude oil from Russia last year and Russia's oil business is spreading out in all directions.

The Russians are working desperately hard to enlarge their export business.

Standing on the docks at Budapest or in Vienna, you see barges going up the Danube, fighting the strong current on their way to German markets and loaded with Russian goods.

The merchandise goes by sea from Odessa to Galatz, and thence up the river in barges.

How long will this country wait before doing business with Russia, a land much bigger than ours and for all we know, far richer potentially.

Where there is a will you can get

VIRGINIA JUDGE IS GUN VICTIM

BRISTOL, Virginia, April 14.—Judge Jos. L. Kelly, appointed only a week ago to the Virginia supreme court by Governor Trinkle, accidently shot and killed himself at his home here this morning with a shotgun.

The jurist had taken the gun, according to members of the family, to shoot some rats which infested his premises. In going down a flight of stairs the gun was discharged in some manner not disclosed. The entire charge entered his left side and he died 45 minutes later.

Woman, Who Hurled Her Twins to Death, Found Asphyxiated

NEW YORK, April 14.—Mrs. Bessie Katz, 28, who hurled her twin baby boys to death from the third story of her home December 2, 1924, was found dead in a gas-filled apartment early today.

Police, who had been searching for her since her disappearance yesterday morning, believed Mrs. Katz killed herself in a fit of despondency over the death of her babies.

FIRE DESTROYS MARTIN HOME IN BLOOMFIELD; LOSS IS $5,000

Blaze Occurs When Members of Family Are Absent.

BLAME CHIMNEY

Bucket Brigade Fails in Attempt to Save Structure.

Fire, originating, it is believed, from a defective chimney, destroyed the seven-room two-story frame house, owned and occupied by Mrs. Mary Martin, in Bloomfield, three and one-half miles north of East Liverpool, at 9 o'clock last night. The loss, estimated at $5,000, is partially covered by insurance.

Barn is Saved.

The blaze occured while Mrs. Martin and her two daughters, Dora and Helen, were absent from the house. Mrs. Martin had left a fire in the kitchen range, when she left early in the evening. John Frazier, a brother of Mrs. Martin, who is a tenant on the farm, visited the house about 8 o'clock. He said there was no sign of fire at that time.

Alfred Eardley, a neighbor, who resides about a half mile from the Martin home, was the first to discover the fire. His attention was attracted by flames shooting from the kitchen chimney. He ran to the house and found the rear end of the building in flames. He notified other neighbors who hurried to the place.

Before a bucket brigade could be formed the entire house was doomed and not a single article of furniture could be saved. The bucket brigade devoted attention to a barn, located about 150 feet from the house, and a nearby outkitchen. One end of the outkitchen was damaged.

Family Find Home in Ruins.

Mrs. Martin knew nothing of the blaze until she returned at 11:30 o'clock. Her two daughters, who had been visiting at relative's home on the Northside, returned at 10 o'clock to discover the home destroyed. When Mrs. Martin reached home from a motion picture show, nothing remained of the house but a mass of smouldering ruins.

Edward Martin, of the C. N. Miller funeral home, a son of the owner, reached the house about a half hour after the blaze was discovered, having been called by a friend. His mother spent the night at his home in Seventh street.

BELIEVE WOMAN DEAD IN BLAZE

Guest Cremated in New Castle—Five Others Hurt.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., April 14.—Mrs. Anna Miller, 63, of Eugene, Oregon, was believed to have been cremated here today when fire destroyed the home of W. A. Weinschneck, president of the National Vegetable Growers' association.

Mrs. Miller was aroused by members of the family when the flames were discovered, but no trace of her was found following the blaze.

Mrs. Miller was spending the winter with the Winschneck family.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 14. — Fire believed to have started in a rubbish pile, swept through the Weitzkorn building and adjoining properties here today, injuring two firemen, overcoming three persons and causing damage estimated at $400,000.

The injured firemen, Ralph French, 26, and Merrill Nelson, 25, are in local hospitals and will recover. French was hurt when he fell through a roof, while the other victim was caught beneath a falling wall. Mr. and Mrs. Levi Snyder and their child, who were overcome, were revived within a short time after they were carried from the building.

LAUNCH SINKS; SIX MEN DEAD

ROCHESTER, Kent, England, April 14.—Six persons were dead today, believed to have been drowned when a navy launch capsized after colliding with a barge.

Two Police Officers Ambushed and Slain; Another Is Wounded

Three Victims of Shooting Trapped Near Reedy Creek Ravine, Tenn., While on Way to Make Raid.

KINGSPORT, Tenn., April 14.—A mountain gun battle in which two police officers, John Smith and Hubert Webb, were ambushed and killed, and another officer, George Frazier, probably fatally injured, took place near Reedy Creek ravine late yesterday, according to word brought here today by the survivors.

The officers were shot, according to the survivors, by Kin Wagner, 22, a fugitive from justice, who is said to be wanted in Greene county, Miss., on charges of having killed a constable there.

The three victims of the shooting, together with two other officers, had started for the Reedy Creek ravine to raid a house of ill-fame and were proceeding down the ravine when fire was opened on them from the bushes, the two officers falling dead almost instantly. Before the others could find shelter, Frazier fell with a shot through the body.

The other two officers were routed by the gun fire and returned to Kingsport for help. In the meantime, according to a young farmer, the fugitive during the absence of the officers, reached a nearby highway, commandeered a horse at the point of his gun and made his way to the Virginia border, a few miles south of Kingsport.

It is believed that the fugitive was hiding and on seeing the officers approach thought that they had come to arrest him and opened fire. Posses are searching the mountains near Kingsport for Wagner.

THREE ARE INJURED, ONE PROBABLY FATALLY, IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Seven-year-old Girl May Die as Result of Crash on Columbiana-Middleton Road.

Helen Pusey, 7-year-old daughter of Mrs. Sarah Pusey, of Elm street, Columbiana, is believed fatally injured today, while her four-year-old sister, Rosina, and her mother are in a serious condition, as the result of an automobile accident on the Columbiana-Middleton road, three miles south of Columbiana.

The three victims are in the Salem City hospital. Helen is suffering from a compound fracture of the skull, a broken collar bone and lacerations, and Mrs. Pusey suffered several broken ribs and bruises.

Mrs. Pusey and her two children were motoring with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Therss, also of Columbiana and in an effort to pass another car, the Therss machine was forced from the road into a ditch.

The five occupants were thrown from the car.

Therss is suffering from a nervous break down. His wife was not hurt.

BRIAND REFUSES CABINET PLACE

PARIS, April 14.—Aristide Briand, seven times premier of France, will refuse to accept the premiership because of the action of the Socialist congress in refusing to enter the cabinet he was forming, it was said this afternoon.

Friday, April 24, Is "Traffic Safety Day" in Schools

Friday, April 24, will be "Traffic Safety Day" in the public and parochial schools of Columbiana county and a section of Hancock county.

The date was set at a meeting of the board of directors of the Columbiana County Motor club, held in Lisbon last night. Speakers are to be sent to most schools, especially those situated along the main highways of the county, by the auto club to explain safety precautions. To schools, located off the main roads, a letter will be forwarded, explaining the campaign.

The movement has been endorsed by the school, municipal and county authorities.

JUMPS, SAVES LIFE IN CRASH

Woman Unhurt as Fast Train Wrecks Automobile.

Mrs. Samuel Gleckler, residing two miles south of Columbiana, saved her life at 7:30 o'clock last evening by leaping from her automobile just a few seconds before it was struck by a fast westbound passenger train at the Elm street crossing in Columbiana. The car was reduced to a mass of wreckage.

Mrs. Gleckler had driven up to the crossing in her machine and stopped to let an eastbound freight train pass. She failed to notice the approach of the passenger train and started her automobile as soon as the freight train passed. The watchman at the crossing signalled her to stop, but she misunderstood his warning and drove her car directly in the path of the approaching train.

The watchman called for her to jump. She leaped from the car just as the locomotive struck it. The automobile was hurled against the railroad tower, badly damaging the supporting posts. The woman escaped without a scratch.

Russia Standing On Edge of Abyss, Is Expert's Belief

LONDON, April 14. — Russia is standing on the edge of an abyss, as the result of concessions made to capital in the hope of restoring production, according to Lancelot Lawton, an expert of Russia, whose articles are appearing in the Daily Chronicle.

He said the Soviet capitol is a ferment and the ranks of the communists are widely divided.

AUTO DRIVERS MUST STOP AT INTERSECTION, POLICE RULING

New Traffic Regulations Drafted by Chief McDermott.

SAVE-LIFE PLAN

Warning Signs Will be Painted on Crossings.

New traffic regulations, compelling automobile drivers to stop before attempting to cross street intersections, particularly in the business district, will become effective here within the next few days, Chief of Police Hugh McDermott said today.

Street intersections where motorists will be required to stop before crossing are Walnut and Fifth street, Broadway and Fifth, Washington and Fifth, Market and Fifth, Jackson and and Sixth, Jefferson and West Eighth street extension and Lisbon and West Eighth streets.

The word "Stop" in large letters is to be painted across the street on each side of the crossing, as a means of reminding drivers of the new regulations. Automobile drivers who disregard the regulations are to be ordered to appear before the mayor.

"With the opening of the motoring season steps must be taken to safeguard the lives of pedestrians as well as the autorist," Chief of Police McDermott declared.

"The police order, compelling motorists to come to a dead stop before attempting to cross the busy downtown street corners will go far toward preventing accidents, this department believes. It is not the intentions of the police department to establish rules and regulations which will work a hardship on the motorist but something must be done this year to reduce traffic hazards wherever possible.

The "no left turn" regulation at the corner of Fifth and Market street is to be rigidly enforced. Any motorist, who ignores this order and meets with an accident at the corner, would be liable to a damage suit inasmuch as he had violated a police order in making the turn off Fifth street. We

Break in Michigan Dam Floods 25,000 Acres of Country

DETROIT, April 14.—Twenty-five thousand acres of country extending from Flat Rock to Ypsilanti, are under water today as the result of a torrent which swept down the Huron river through a break in an artificial clay embankment at the Detroit-Edison dam at French Landing.

Scores of persons were made temporarily homeless and Flat Rock and South Rockwood and Belleville were inundated, while several bridges and houses were destroyed by the flood.

The flood was receding this morning.

SOLDIERS RESCUE KIDNAPED MAN

WASHINGTON, April 14. — George S. Fertner, an American employed by the Penn-Mex Fuel Co., who was kidnaped by Mexican bandits, on April 6, near Tuxpam, Mexico, was rescued by Soldiers on April 10, American Consul Day at Tampico, informed the state department today. Urgent representations were made by the state department to the Mexican government when Fertner was kidnapped an da detail of soldiers sent to his rescue.

One bandit was killed in action and the leader was hanged on the following morning.

BODY OF WOMAN, MISSING SINCE FEB. 19, IS FOUND HANGING TO FARM TREE

Mrs. Sarah A. Smith, 54, Widow of Former County Treasurer and Ex-postmaster at Columbiana, Commits Suicide—Mental Collapse Following Husband's Death is Blamed.

GRUESOME DISCOVERY IS MADE NEAR LOUISVILLE BY GROUP OF LABORERS

Body is in Bad State of Decomposition, Indicating Death Occurred Shortly After She Fled From Massillon State Hospital for Insane—Coroner Returns Verdict.

Mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Sarah A. Smith, 54, widow of the late Charles E. Smith, former county treasurer, ex-postmaster and clothing merchant, Columbiana, who disappeared from the Massillon state hospital for the insane on February 19, was solved yesterday with the finding of the woman's body, hanging to a tree on the Jacob Comfort farm, about two and one half miles from Louisville, Stark county.

The gruesome discovery was made by a group of laborers employed at a construction camp, as they were making their way through a wooded section on the Comfort farm. The body, which had been hanging for about six weeks, was in a bad state of decomposition.

Identification was made through a letter, addressed to her daughter, Miss Margaret Smith, a student at Bryn Mawr college, near Philadelphia, which Mrs. Smith had written February 10.

Mrs. Smith suffered a mental collapse following the death of her husband, two years ago.

Committed to State Hospital.

At the request of relatives, Mrs. Smith was adjudged insane and committed to the Massillon hospital after treatment in a private sanitarium in Philadelphia failed to improve her condition.

A country-wide search has been instituted following her escape from the state institution. It is believed she killed herself shortly after she fled from the hospital.

Funeral Services Wednesday.

Coroner T. C. McQuaide, of Canton, returned a verdict of suicide, after the body was taken to that city.

In addition her daughter, Mrs. Smith leaves a son, Charles E. Smith, Jr., of Philadelphia, and four sisters, Miss Grace Baker and Mrs. John Rupert, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Theodore Uran, Alliance and Mrs. William Sharer, Cleveland. She was a member of the Columbiana Presbyterian church.

The body arrived in Columbiana this morning from Canton and was taken to the Frye funeral home, where services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, in charge of Rev. J. C. Struble, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in the Columbiana cemetery.

NIPPON Y. M. C. A. CHIEF SPEAKS

Rotary Members Hear G. C. Converse of Osaka.

Organization and operation of the Rotary club in Osaka, Japan, was discussed by G. C. Converse, honorary secretary of the Y. M. C. A. there, at today's Rotary club luncheon.

Mr. Converse has been located in Japan since 1910 with the exception of a short time he was in the army during the World war. He taught in the government schools before taking up his work as general secretary.

He told of the work done by the Rotary club in the Far East. The membership of the club, he declared, includes the leading business men and professional men of Osaka, a city of approximately one and one-half million people. He came to the United States, a few months ago as delegate from the Osaka club to the International Rotary convention, which will be held in Cleveland in June.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon, Mr. Converse addressed the student body of the high school. He will also speak at a Y. M. C. A. membership dinner in the Y banquet hall, at 6 o'clock tonight.

Wilbur H. Nagel, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was chairman of today's Rotary luncheon.

Charles Boyce, retiring president of the club, expressed his gratitude for the splendid co-operation which members of the club had given him during the year which he had served as head of the club. He then turned the gavel over to Attorney F. L. Wells, of Wellsville, new president. Malcolm Thompson, newly elected vice-president, spoke briefly.

The chorus singing was led by T. E. Lewis.

Speedy Trial Looms For Self-Confessed Murderer of Girl

LONDON, April 14.—While preparations went forward today for the funeral of his girl victim, Grace Blackaller, the prospects for a speedy trial were growing for Ernest Rhodes, confessed killer.

GOV. DONAHEY ASSAILED FROM FOUR SIDES FOR ATTACK ON UTILITIES BOARD

By HAROLD G. McCOY.

COLUMBUS, April 14.—Covernor Donahey was assailed from four sides today for his attack by radio on the state utilities commission.

Fred W. Warner, Marion, chairman of the Republican state central committee, charged that the governor's appeal for confirmation of his utility commission appointments was a plea for a "meal ticket" for James W. Huffman, "Donahey's Democratic prospective son-in-law." Warner warned the Republican majority in the state senate to "view with caution the creation of an inexperienced crown prince for the Donahey family."

Charges against the commission were also flatly denied by Commissioners George T. Poor, Cincinnati, and Frank B. Maullar, Chillicothe, in a statement in which they asserted the "governor had not been honest with the people of Ohio." Denials of charges also were entered by J. Seney Blue, representative of the American Gas and Electric company, and William B. Woodbury, assistant to the president of the New York Telephone company, who were attacked by Donahey.

Finish Fight Looms.

The statements were accepted here as indicating that Republican leaders propose to accept the governor's challenge for a finish fight over confirmation by the senate of his appointment of James W. Huffman, Chandlersville, and Earl D. Bloom, Bowling Green, as members of the state utilities commission to succeed Poor and Charles C. Marshall, Democratic members of the board.

J. Seney Blue, representative of the American Gas and Electric company, who also was a target of the governor's fire, contented himself with this statement:

"The governor has taken it upon himself to attack me personally. I hope he has had a good time."

Woodbury Denies Charges.

Political leaders here are preparing to watch carefully for the expected results of the governor's frank appeal to the people for support in his fight for confirmation of his utility commission appointments.

William B. Woodbury, assistant to the president of the New York Telephone company, who was charged by the governor with directing the fight of the telephone lobby, denied all charges made against him by the governor, in a statement issued over long distance telephone from New York. He said:

"Truth compels me to make categorical denial of the whole or any part of the governor's chargees.

"I have not been in the Ohio state house in recent months, nor have I talked with any senator personally or through any satellite in behalf of any utility commission nominee's confirmation or rejection.

"I am an officer and director in miscellaneous Ohio corporations and their interests send me to Columbus frequently. I could hardly be called an

Union Leader Happy as Supreme Justices Make Ruling.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Terming it their "Magna Charta," American Federation of Labor officials were jubilant today over the United States supreme court decision nullifying the Kansas industrial court law which for more than two years has been the center of a heated controversy.

"The supreme court has re-established the charter rights of labor as laid down by the American Constitution," William Green, president of the federation, said to International News Service.

The Kansas law forced both labor and capital to submit to arbitration and comply with the decision of the arbitration tribunal, providing penalties for non-compliance.

"The decision leaves labor free as it should be to bargain collectively with employers," Green declared. "In my opinion it completely destroys the effectiveness of the Kansas Industrial court and American labor can now enter an area of new progress with this milestone behind it."

Capital, Labor Benefit.

Green said the whole industrial atmosphere had been clarified and both capital and labor would materially benefit by the decision.

"Compulsory arbitration, as provided by the Kansas statute, carried to its logical conclusion, means industrial slavery. If you can force men to work, they are slaves," he declared.

A significant feature of the court action, according to Green, was that the Wolf Packing company of Kansas City, employing hundreds of men, was the agency through which the case was carried to the supreme court.

This employer realized that his freedom was also interfered with," he added.

"If men are forced to work against their wills, employers must also abide by decisions of the court which might force them to keep more men on their payrolls than they desired."

Investigate Colorado Laws

Labor attorneys have started an investigation of the Colorado laws which force employes to remain at work for 30 days after a strike has been called so that an investigation of the difficulty can be made by the state tribunal.

Although the Colorado act is not believed to completely parallel the Kansas statute, it is thought that the 30-day compulsory labor clause might similarly be interpreted as interfering with the constitutional rights of American citizens.

Unofficial opinion in labor circles was that an effort might be made to break the Colorado law.

Officials here say that there will be better understanding between employers and employees now that there has been a decision favoring collective bargaining.

Gov. Donahey

outsider. I was born in Columbus and still hold my residence and pay taxes there."

Will Seek Third Term.

The governor's speech was taken here as confirmation of the reports first revealed by International News Service that detectives reputed to be employed by the governor were spying here on the activities of lobbyists active in the utility commission fight.

His remarks also were interpreted as further confirmation of the belief of political leaders that the governor proposes to run for a third term and to make his fight large against utility rates in Ohio.

The reaction upon the legislature, especially upon the members of the senate rules committee which now holds the key to confirmation of Huffman and Bloom as utility commissioners, will not be apparent until the legislature resumes its deliberations Thursday after a three weeks' recess.

The main question to be answered, according to political leaders, is whether the people of the state will respond to the governor's plea for support.

out your edition, and Byron Elkins, publisher of the West Frankfort American in Illinois, proves it. His power plant went wrong and there stood his press as motionless and useless as a painted ship upon a painted sea.

But, the press did not remain motionless. Brother Elkins, whose readers wait for his voice as the desert wanderers waited for Moses to come down, backed a small automobile into his press room, jacked up the wheel, ran the press by automobile power and got out his edition, 1,500 copies to the gallon.

A publisher so resourceful must command attention in his territory.

Theodore Roosevelt II and his brother Kermit are off to gather wild animals and glory on "the top of the world," otherwise the high mountain regions of Tibet. Good luck and safety go with these young gentlemen, precious and only representative of the theory that sought to establish greatness through heredity.

They cannot, however, hope for the interest aroused by their father when he went lion hunting in Africa, or seeking the man eating fish on "the river of doubt."

"To bring back information from your travels, you must take information with you," say the French. To bring back glory from your big game shooting, you must take glory with you. Theodore, the first, had done something before he went lion hunting.

MOTOR VEHICLE BILL GETS O. K.

Donahey Signs Lipp Measure — Increases Veto List to 23.

COLUMBUS, April 14. — The way was opened today for motor vehicle reciprocity between Ohio and adjoining states. Governor Donahey signed the Lipp bill, permitting the secretary of state and a member of the state utilities commission to enter into such agreements on behalf of Ohio.

The bill was framed by a special committee of the house, headed by Majority Leader Taft, after conference with officials of Indiana and West Virginia legislatures, in the hope of ending controversies between Ohio and adjoining states over recognition of Ohio auto tags in these states, and reciprocal recognition by Ohio of licenses issued in adjoining states.

Five other bills signed by the governor were:

By Representative Davis, Cuyahoga, giving electric light companies powers of eminent domain in appropriation of land.

By Representative Schmuelling, Hamilton, giving union depot companies authority to issue preferred stock.

By Senator McCreary, Hamilton, giving the utilities commission power of review over local ordinance terms other than rates to be charged by utility companies.

By Representative Cooley, Cuyahoga, requiring actions against railroad companies for refund of alleged overcharges for interstate hauling to be brought within three years.

By Mrs. C. J. Ott, Mahoning, permitting library districts to contract for service in contiguous territory outside of county.

Governor Donahey vetoed four more bills, bringing the total disapproved to 23.

One bill vetoed was sponsored by Representative Stewart, Lawrence, and was designed to permit annexation questions to be submitted at primary elections. The governor said at many primary elections so few persons vote that a representative judgment was impossible on such a question.

The governor vetoed another Stewart bill, which would permit county commissioners to order annexation of a portion of the territory of a village, on petition of two thirds of the residents affected. He said the petition method was "notoriously ineffective."

A third bill vetoed was sponsored by Representative Hilt, Meigs, and would have taken final purisdiction in motor vehicle law cases from Mayor's courts.

The governor also vetoed the Rea bill which would have given control of township buildings to a board of seven trustees to be appointed by a common pleas court. He said the division of authority would allow opportunity for mismanagement and graft.

Ford Makes Offer For Stout Metal Airplane Plant

DETROIT, April 14.—Directors of the Stout Metal Airplane company, at a secret meeting this afternoon, will be asked to vote upon an offer from the Ford Motor company, to buy out their concern.

This is the outstanding development following the inauguration Monday of the Ford company's private freight air line to Chicago, soon to embrace other cities. It is considered the pioneer undertaking in American commercial aviation.

Henry Ford, who witnessed the first flight, declared that the Ford company is determined to make a success of commercial aviation. He clinched his remarks with this statement:

"We don't care what it costs. This is the time to get into it and make it go and we can do that, we know. So the orders here are to go ahead and whatever the expense, it will not be given consideration."

The Stout company built the "Maiden Dearborn," used yesterday in the first air freight experiment.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 14.—Industrial stocks carried over in today's session the strength which was in evidence at the close of Monday's market. The high priced market leaders including American Can and General Electric sold about a point higher in the early trading and motor stocks exhibited a reactionary trend as a result of the actual cutting of Gulf coast crude oil in Mid-continent.

Specialty stocks were inclined to continue their upward movement. American Sugar ran up fractionally higher to 71¼ and then fell back to 70 on profit-taking. Northwestern railroad stocks were again under pressure, Chicago and Northwestern declining to around it low price for the year.

In the foreign exchange market, French francs lost about five points in the early trading. The grain markets were unsettled at the opening. Money market conditions were easier; call money renewals being posted at 3½ per cent, at the start. Missouri Kansas Texas, Kansas City Southern and Missouri Pacific stocks were fairly active on reports these lines are to be combined, under the direction of L. F. Loree, to form a powerful southwestern system which might also include Chicago and Alton and other roads. Katy common was up nearly 2 points, Missouri Pacific common up 2 points at 34½; Chicago and Alton preferred up 1½ at 14½; Kansas Southern up 2 at 32½.

Consolidated gas was a leader in a moderate rally in public utility stocks, which also included A. T. & T., North American Co., and Utah Securities. Market conditions were favorable for a display of strength in the so-called market specialties, most of which sold up a point or two on fairly active trading. International paper, United Drug, Safety Razor, and Universal Pipe preferred were prominent in this list.

ART, ACTING, ACTION AND MERIT IN "CAPTAIN BLOOD," AT CERAMIC

Sabatini's Famous Love Story Converted Into Photoplay That Wins Plaudits of Critics.

Movies have been described in such glowing terms that there scarcely seems to be words left to describe a really good picture. It is not until the reviewer sees a production like Rafael Sabatini's "Captain Blood," which was presented at the Ceramic theatre last evening, opening a week's engagement, this week, that he wishes he had been more conservative in describing other photoplays.

There is art, acting, action and merit in "Captain Blood." It is different from other films and contains a wealth of those features that have made the photoplay a chief factor in the world's amusement attraction. After witnessing a score of average film production it is as refreshing as an oasis in the desert to see one of the calibre of "Captain Blood."

From the first when Peter Blood is arrested and sent a slave to be sold at Barbadoes, to the final scene when, as governor of the island, he wins the hand of Arabella Bishop, there is not a dull moment. The slave market, the insurrection of the slaves, the attack on Georgetown, the capture of the Arabella by Blood and his fellow rebels, convict, the encounter with the French fleet, duels between Blood and a pirate chief, and with a Spanish officer; the burning of a ship and the sinking of the Arabella are a few of the spectacular highlights in the production. These follow each other in rapid succession.

The love interests is well handled, the major thread being carried in commandable manner by J. Warren Kerrigan as Peter Blood and Jean Paige as Arabella Bishop. Kerrigan has a role different than any he had previously essayed in his long and varied career. Those who admire this versatile actor will surely enjoy his work in the production. Jean Paige has lost none of her charm and ability during her brief absence from the screen. If anything she has returned with more grace and charm.

The minor love interest is carried by James Morison and Charlotte Merriam. Morrison has a difficult role which he handles amiably, and Charlotte Merriam indicates that she will soon be one of the shinning lights of filmdom.

Columns might be written commenting upon the work of such screen favorites as Wilfrid North, Templar Saxe, Allan Forrest, Betram Grassby, Henry Herbert, Otis Harlan, Otto Matiesen, Jack Curtis, Joseph Rickson and a score of others. Each fits into the role with kid glove exactness, leaving nothing to be desired.

The intense dramatic action is relieved by patches of humor in sequence with Otis Harlan, Wilfrid North and Templar Saxe. These touches are capably handled by skilled artists and enhance the entertaining value of the picture a hundredfold.

The photography and art titles are excellent and the entire gem a credit to the masterly direction of David Smith. The massive scenes in which hundreds of players are used, and there are a number, are classics in the way of direction. The sinking of the Arabella is one of the best pieces of screen technic to be shown in a film.

Rafael Sabatini's famous love story has been closely followed with the result that the author's hand is revealed in every sequence. This tends to prove that the closer a company adheres to the original story the better the resultant production. "Captain Blood" may be safely recommended to those who enjoy good photoplays.

Although there are 5,000,000 head of cattle in Yugoslavia, there is a shortage of leather in that country.

Ohio Valley Oil Company's Slogan, "Service With Smile"

That they are serving more than two-thirds of all the commercial concerns, using gasoline and motor oils in this vicinity, was the claim made today by the Ohio Valley Oil company, established here 18 months ago.

This is in addition to the thousands of pleasure cars, using products of the Ohio Valley Oil company. "Quality First" and "Service With a Smile" is the motto of the company.

The Ohio Valley Oil company is purely an East Liverpool concern, of which Frank G. Jones is president. In addition to the main offices at the corner of St. Clair avenue and Broadway, two filling stations are maintained in Wellsville, another in Chester and a fourth at New Cumberland, W. Va.

Expect Sensation In Federal Inquiry Into Liquor Ring

CLEVELAND, O., April 14.—The extreme secrecy which surrounded activities in District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen's offices here today added new grounds to the existing rumors that sensational developments will soon be disclosed in the cautious investigation further into the activities of the ring that drew liquor from the Hayner distillerys at Troy and placed it on the market.

This morning, in the absence of Bernsteen, who will not return from Columbus until late today, newspaper men were barred from the inner office and official conversation was guarded.

This present investigation, regarded as a climax to the first probe which culminated in 10 persons being indicted for conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition laws, is expected to involve at least two prominent Ohioans, one a Clevelander and the other a Columbus man. These two, according to reports, are believed to have been the quiet forces behind the Hayner "leakage," and the higher-ups of the ring.

Auto Drivers

will continue to enforce the 'no left turn' order at the corner of Sixth street and St. Clair avenue but other 'left turn' bans have been lifted.

"Numerous complaints have been received regarding motorists violating the one-way traffic regulations on Washington street, between Fourth and Sixth streets. We will make an example of the first motorist, who is found guilty of driving south on this street or parked on the street headed in the wrong direction."

"Jay Walking" Tabooed.

Not only are orders to be issued requiring the automobile driver to be on the lookout. "Jay walking" is tabooed and pedestrians who have been in the habit of crossing the street at any point will find themselves being called by the police. While few seem to realize it, the chief says, one of the most dangerous practices of the ordinary pedestrian is stepping out from behind an automobile directly into the middle of the street where there is a double string of passing cars.

"Street crossings are for the pedestrian, and at this point it is up to the automoblist to exercise care," said the chief. "However, a person who is in the habit of 'jay walking,' or crossing from one side of the street to the other at points other than the fixed crossings, would have little claim for damages in case of an accident."

Motorcycle Officer on Duty.

The police have also launched a campaign to apprehend motorists who maliciously destroy traffic posts. Scarcely a night passes but what one of these traffic signs, bearing a lantern, is wrecked.

"We are keeping a sharp look-out for reckless drivers who, it appears, willfully strikes these posts and if they are apprehended they will pay dearly for the damage," the chief warned. Heavier posts, mounted on a concrete base, are to be placed at corners where the damage is most frequently done.

Patrolman Herman Roth will do motorcycle duty beginning at 2 o'clock each afternoon. The officer has been given instructions to arrest automobile drivers who exceed the speed limit or drive in a reckless manner within the corporate limits.

"RAIN," STAGE HIT, IS BOOKED

New York Success Comes to Ceramic on April 23.

"Rain," the play which has had the greatest artistic and financial success in New York city for decades, will be offered at the Ceramic theater Thursday, April 23, by Sam H. Harris, who produced it on Broadway and who will present it here with an excellent cast and perfect scenic equipment. It is a drama that might be called psycho-analytical, as it deals with the workings of the minds of people, diametrically opposed to each other from every point of view, and while it may not solve any big problem of life as it exists on this globe it still cannot help but make people who see it, think, and that is all that can be expected of any sermon or lecture or play.

About two years ago there appeared in the "Smart Set" a magazine at that time edited by H. L. Mencken and George Nathan, a short story called "Miss Thompson," written by W. Somerset Maughan. It was very widely read at the time and later appeared in book form among a collection of this author's short stories. The author himself a dramatist, had not considered it as material for a play, but two young writers, John Colton and Clemence Randolph did, and secured Mr. Maugham's consent to see what they could do with it. Their manuscript fell into the hands of John D. Williams, who thought it good, and took it to Mr. Harris, with the result that it was first presented in Philadelphia with some success and then brought into New York, where it made an enormous hit, running at the Maxine Elliott theater for more than two years.

Ever since Robert Louis Stevenson wrote his tales of the South Sea Islands, that locality has been a favorite spot for the romanticist, and it is not strange that the scenes of "Rain" are laid on one of the islets of the group. The action takes place at Pago Pago, a well known port on the island of Tutuila, which is under the American flag, and the characters are both natives and whites. The production of "Rain" at the local theater cannot help but be one of the real events of the theatrical season.

Diplomas For Plumbers

A technical high school in Cleveland gives 150 diplomas to a class of plumbers, bricklayers and carpenters. All of them are young men and boys who have learned their trades in school, completing their course of apprenticeship in classes maintained by the board of education in co-operation with the local Building Trades Employers association and the labor trades themselves. It was an impressive commencement. Representatives of organized labor sat on the platform along with parents, educators and public officials. Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation fo Labor, said.

"Here we have the realization of labor's concept of education. Here is apprenticeship in the hands of the schools, advised by industry as represented both by the employer and the employe.

"Apprenticeship is not dead. It is being applied and revived in modern terms. Labor is happy to co-operate with the American school system, which it helped to nourish. In it we find the hope of the masses and the solution of many of our most pressing problems."

With such support, there is much to hope for such education. Widely applied, it would create a new type of skilled worker, more intelligent, efficient and useful than any in the past.

Advice From Karolyi

Count Karolyi, speaking his mind in Canada, advises Americans not to lend any more money to the present Hungarian government, because under the Horthy regime it will be spent for reaction and armament and defeat American aims for peace and ordered freedom.

It is probably good advice. And it might be well at this time to apply the same principle to the rest of Europe. Lending money to any foreign government dominated by militarists and reactionaries is as foolish as lending it to a government dominated by bolshevism.

Loans made to countries know to be doing their best to exemplify the democracy and peace for which America fought serve a useful purpose and carry with them a natural expectation of repayment. Loans to countries that are unsettled or dominated by warlike factions are foolish from every point of view.

Peace To Circus Lions

"The Greatest Show on Earth" has abandoned one of the old-time circus thrillers. Lions and tigers it still has for the curious crowd to gaze at, but no longer are these jungle beasts made to perform at the crack of a whip, the report of a pistol or the prodding of a hot iron. No more will the beautiful lady put her head into the lion's mouth or do other acts similarly tempting to outraged and homesick circus animals.

This sounds like a startling change. What has brought it about? From New York city where the combined Barnum, Bailey and Ringling Brothers circus is heralding the arrival of spring, comes this explanation. It has not come through humane societies or anti-cruelty-to-animals movements. It is a result of the slow and unconscious evolution of popular feeling toward such entertainments. The nation has grown tender-hearted and the circus management responds to the attitude of the circus crowd.

And happily there is enough left of the clowning and the acrobatics and the pageantry of the circus to charm and delight in the same old way the less thrill-craving but still enthusiastic showgoers of the present day.

Path Guides For Walkers

Many good ideas originate in the nation's metropolis, but now and then an idea appears in New York that both amuses and amazes the inhabitants of other towns. Such a one is the recent charting of walks in Central park.

A lot of arrows of different colors have been painted on the walks. The citizen who hasn't originality enough to do his own spring strolling has only to follow the arrows. This of one color will guide him on a 15-minute walk, and so on. Of course, a swift walker might do the 30-minute hike. Possibly the arrows will have to be supplemented by signs stating the speed at which a pedestrian must take his constiutional if he is to make the rounds in the right length of time.

In this less hurried town we still like to take our spring rambles as our own private whims suggest. Following colored arrows does not appeal to us, for we are busy looking at blue skies, blooming flowers and swelling buds.

Harvard astronomers figure that it takes 1,000,000 years for the light to reach us from a certain star beyond the Milky Way. That would be an ideal place to install some of the automobile headlights we meet on dark nights.

Less mighty hunters than the Roosevelt boys might be dismayed by having announced so elaborately, before they start, all the big bame they're expected to shoot.

Serious readers have a rare treat coming. The League of Nations is going to print, every year, a list of the World's 600 Best Books.

The Greek government is going to rebuild the Parthenon at Athens. Will the Greek Goddess of Wisdom come back and dwell in it then?

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 14.—There is an old Chinese in Pell Street who sits in his little shop window from noon until Chinatown's bustle simmers down to vagrant whispers. He seems carven — an expressionless Buddha with unwinking eyes. He is said to be past 90.

In all the 30 years he has been down there he has never been known to leave his shop. He knows nothing of the New York about him. His world is encompassed in what he sees while perched upon his stool. He has a white wife who is seen now and then.

She is a pallid creature with lifeless peroxide streaked hair and the filmy gaze of the opium addict. He seems not to notice her half-ghostly presence. There is a legend in Chinatown that his shop is merely a mignon gesture.

He takes no interest in disposing of the wares on his shelf—dried fins, water-lily flour, lychees, punk-sticks and packages of tea. The story goes that he is a human devil chaser and that superstitious Chinese pay him fees to keep evil spirits away from them.

I visited his shop while in the quarter to talk to him. But he would not talk and was annoyed and in his piping voice said: "You no buy, go away! No talkee." I went over to see Hong Lee, the printer, who often tells of Chinatown characters. But he refused to discuss this ancient.

At the mention of his name Chinatown closes up. Another thing to be noticed in Chinatown lately is the lack of business in the restaurants. The invasion of Chinese restaurants uptown has evidently caused a great loss of patronage.

Broadway now has a dozen gilded chop suey caravansaries. The Palais Royal has been over to Chinese food. So has old Churchill's. They are gaudy affairs with jazz bands and huge dance floors and somehow lack the atmosphere that Chinatown gives to them.

Captain Churchill, incidentally, is often seen on his daily promenade down Broadway. He is still as straight as an arrow with a great shock of white hair and the bearing of a Chesterfield. There are no places like Churchill's left on Broadway. It was the late afternoon rendezvous for the town wits, bon vivants, cartoonists, writers and playrights. His was the open handed hospitality of the small town landlord.

A trembling old man came unannounced to my hotel the other day. He wanted me to become financially interested in an invention of his. For 30 years he has been seeking capital and he told me rather pathetically that in all that time he had not received a word of encouragement. He is a watchman at night and during his waking hours by day he goes patiently on. He feels he has something that will benefit mankind if marketed and that alone impels him to continue his search despite his discouragements.

Pathetic old age touches me as nothing else does. There is an itinerant old knife grinder often seen in midtown. He wears steel spectacles and is half blind and stooped. I saw him one day on one of those brown stone front steps with his head cupped in his hands and there was a mist in his eyes. "I try so hard," he said, "but nobody seems to want me." That is the fate of the old who are penniless. Nobody wants them.

Spring has come to Fifth Avenue. Lavendar Joe with his satchel of sweet lavendar has taken up his stand near St. Thomas'. The shy old fellow in shiny blue serge who sells the pink beribboned white puppies is in front of the library. And the chestnut venders with their charcoal pots have scattered to the four winds.

Fruits of Folly

They were brother officers. But one had been a former sweetheart of the other's wife. Thrown together by fate at an isolated army post, it suddenly fell to the former sweetheart to guard the honor of his friend's wife when chance brought a new and unscrupulous lover into her life. The drama developed with appalling swiftness—and as always happens when a wife forgets her honor and her reputation—it could only end in tragedy. No girl can read this gripping story and not find a powerful lesson and warning in it. It appears under the title: "The Double Price," with many other absorbing features in True Story Magazine for May. Don't miss it.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Fight for Foreign Trade.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—Business men who have been fearful that the United States would get the worst of it in the fight for the markets of the world which is the feature of post-ward economic and commercial readjustments will be reassured by a review of the situation made by Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of Commerce. There is a great struggle on, with England and Germany as our chief rivals, but there is every reason to believe that America will not come out second or third best, and there is no real occasion for the panicky feeling that has been evidenced in some quarters.

In the first place, a casual summary of recent German and British trade papers and trade association reports, says Mr. Klein, reveals any number of signs of a precisely comparable fear on the part of our European rivals as to their prospects in the face of increasing American competitive efforts. They can not understand our continued success in bidding for overseas markets in spite of the six years which Europe has had in which to regain its foreign trade.

Also, it is to be remembered that this is not the first time the United States has encountered vigorous competition in going after export trade. During the years immediately preceding the war, from 1910 to 1913, we were up against a notably stiff fight, and we not only held our own, but in such highly competitive areas as the ABC countries of South America we were rapidly overtaking England and Germany.

"If we examine carefully the more alarming prophesies as to the dangers to our export trade from intensified European competition," continues Mr. Klein, "we find that they proceed in almost every case from the assumption that the trade of the competitive areas has already reached a point of nearly complete saturation and that the issue is simply one of the relative strength of the three leading contestants as to which will gain a predominate position.

An Erroneous Deduction.

"This totally erroneous deduction presumes a rigidity of the standards of living in these economically new lands overseas, which is so profoundly at variance with the actual condition as to be almost absurd.

"If any one outstanding economic or social phenomenon has been demonstrated with irrefutable conviction throughout the world since 1918 it has been the estounding capacity of the human, animal, not only for recovery from the greatest shocks, but for improvements and aspirations toward higher levels of comfort and well-being entirely beyond any expectations of a decade or two ago."

In other words, this trade expert finds that no matter what conclusions may be reached as to whether the world is growing better the world is unquestionably living better. Last year the import purchases of Latin America, Asia, Oceania and Africa were well above six billions of dollars, which was more than double the annual average of 1910-13.

Thus we have constantly growing markets to fight for, and the significant feature from our point of view of this stimulated and greatly expanded purchasing power of the buyer nations is the fact that their requirements are largely for those newer products of industrial ingenuity which have been the peculiar forte of American manufacturers—Moderately priced automobiles, motion picture films, labor saving machinery, ready made clothing, electrical specialties, office equipment, and the like.

And the actual figures of the relative status of the three leading rivals in representative competitive markets prove that the situation is anything but discouraging for our exporters. In 1913, for instance, England supplied 29.7 per cent of the imports of the

"Oh, Joy!" She Says, "The Corn Lifted Right Out"

"If girls wear pumps without straps, they have to get an extra-tight fit," writes Miss Martha Greene, 1875 E. 81st St., Cleveland, O. "That probably means corns. I suffered much and I'm grateful to the friend who told me about 'Blue-jay' Plasters when I was being tortured by a corn.

"I put on a 'Blue-jay' Plaster Saturday night. The soft, felt ring relieved the shoe pressure at once. Monday night when I took off the plaster—Oh, Joy; the corn lifted right out!"

"Blue-jay" Plasters bring comfort to millions the same way. The soft felt pad encircles the corn, removes the shoe pressure, and gives instant relief. The "Blue-jay" preparation is centered in the ring—just the right amount to remove the corn gently; no more, no less—and held exactly on the corn by an adhesive strip. 48 hours later the corn lifts right out. Even stubborn corns rarely require a second plaster.

"Blue-jay" Laboratories make a liquid "Blue-jay" too. But no liquid can remove shoe pressure. And it's hard for you to govern the amount of liquid you drop on. In the plasters the dose is all measured for you. Hence we recommend "Blue-jay" Plasters as better than any liquid, than even our own. These Plasters are shapely, sure and safe.

To avoid infection, never pare corns yourself. So for corn-removal at home, get "Blue-jay" Plasters, six for 25c. So much in demand all druggists sell them. Then please write us your experience. "Blue-jay" Laboratories, 25th and Dearborn Sts., Chicago, Ill.

M'KINLEY HOME WILL BE MOVED FOR HOSPITAL

Will be Placed Near Memorial as Museum in Canton.

PLAN REPAIRS

Used as Adjunct of Mercy Hospital for Years.

CANTON—The time has come when the old homestead of the late President William McKinley, the scene of the famous "front porch" campaign, will be retired from active service as a grand old house.

Progress is a firm stalker and now reveals circumstances to cause the moving of the famous homestead to a new location so that a new unit may be constructed to the Canton Mercy hospital. For years McKinley's former home has been used as an adjunct to the hospital, thereby remaining in worthy service after traditional scenes about the life of the martyred president had faded with time.

"The McKinley homestead is fast becoming an old house," observers said when Bishop Schrembs, of the Cleveland diocese of Catholic churches, purchased other property adjoining the hospital property preparatory to constructing the new hospital unit, which will be one of the largest in Ohio when completed.

"Sooner or later it will cease to be the McKinley homestead and become but a shell of its former self. We are anxious to see the house preserved as McKinley's home, but as it is now located it must be used for hospital purposes," Bishop Schrembs said.

It is the present plan to move the house to a spot near the McKinley memorial and to make substantial repairs on it. With the consent of the McKinley Memorial association, furniture of the martyred president will be secured from the many Cantonians who have kept it through the years, and will be set up in the original home. The many letters and relics of the famous president also will be placed in the house, so that visitors from all over the nation may view them, it is intended.

New Silver Alloy Found in England Will Not Tarnish

SHEFFIELD, England—A new alloy of sterling silver which will not tarnish except under the worst conditions, is of good color and is easily handled, has been developed by a local firm.

Tested in a sulphurous atmosphere, the alloy resisted 30 times as much exposure as ordinary silver. The alloy contains 92½ per cent of silver.

Using the American bureau of standards' gas test, the alloy only faintly discolored after 15 minutes, while standard silver badly tarnished in two minutes and was black in 15.

The faint color on the alloy was entirely removed by wiping with silver.

Your TRANSPORTATION Will Be REFUNDED
—BY THE—
Fare Refunding Association of East Liverpool
EVERY WEDNESDAY AND FRIDAY
THROUGHOUT THE YEAR AND ON SUCH OTHER DAYS AND OCCASIONS AS THE ASSOCIATION MAY DESIGNATE AND ADVERTISE

In Order to Get Your Transportation Paid

Ask the first merchant from whom you make a purchase for a FARE REFUNDING VOUCHER, so you can keep account of your purchases. Present this voucher to the clerk who waits upon you in each store at which you are dealing during the FARE REFUNDING DAY in East Liverpool. If the merchant is one of those who has agreed to pay his portion of your railroad fare he will enter the amount of your purchase, beside his name, on the inside page and return the voucher to you. You are to keep this voucher and present in like manner at each store where purchases are made during the day. By this method it will be readily seen that you will not have to buy everything from one store, or the full amount required which entitles you to your fare refund from any one merchant, but on the contrary, you can patronize as many different stores as you like. Then before leaving for your home take your Voucher to the CLEARING HOUSE, where your fare will be refunded, provided your purchases total the amount designated in advertised schedule. Fares will be refunded to all persons who come from a distance, whether by team, automobile, water or rail; this includes farmers as well as persons living in towns. A money refund to and from any point, not on any railroad, will be given, equaling to what a railroad fare would be, providing the purchases total to the required amount, just as though the persons came by steam or electric railroads to East Liverpool.

CAPITOL COST IS DETAILED

Large Saving Reported by Secretary of Commission.

A saving of $30,932.76 was effected in the actual cost of the first unit of the new capitol building, which has just been completed, from the original contract costs, it became known yesterday when Bonner H. Hill, secretary of the capitol commission, and in charge of construction, gave out a detailed statement showing expenditures on the structure.

The price fixed by the legislature of 1922 for office building No. 1 was $1,250,000 and this statement shows that the total actual cost of the building complete is $1,219,076.24, or $30,932.76 less than the price fixed by the legislature.

In the details of the statement there appears a list of extras, added after the contracts were let, which cost a total of $12,815.22. The statement, however, shows the elimination of certain items from the original specifications which gave the state total credits amounting to $52,775.17, thus offsettings the extras to the amount of $39,959.95.

The cost of the capitol to date, the statement shows, has been $3,150,334.05. The use of this money was divided as follows:

Purchase of real estate for site, $2,006,773.94.

Miscellaneous, $41,508.30.

Payment of contracts for first building, $992,051.81.

The money was obtained, says the statement, from legislative appropriations as follows:

Legislature in 1921 appropriated $2,250,000.

Legislature in 1923 appropriated $500,000.

Received from sale of capital annex $50,256.59, and its use authorized by the legislature.

These appropriations make a total of $3,251,256.59. After deducting from this total, the statement continues, the sum of $3,150,834.05, representing the total costs thus far, a balance of $100,922.54 is shown to be the credit of the capitol commission in the state treasury.

SICK WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Can Be Carried Comfortably Over The Critical Period by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound —Note Mrs. Headden's Case

Macon, Georgia.—"During the Change of Life I suffered with my whole right side and could not lie on my left side. I was in bed about two months and could not get up only as my son would lift me. After doctoring without relief a man who was rooming with us told my son that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured his mother at the Change of Life, so I began taking your medicine. After taking it for two weeks I could get out of my bed by myself. I am now 53 years old and in better health and stronger than ever in my life. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to many suffering women, young and old, and you may use my name anywhere as long as you please. I will be glad to answer any letters sent to me." —Mrs. F. B. HEADDEN, 5 Holt Avenue, Macon Georgia.

In a recent country-wide canvass of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, over 200,000 replies were received and 98 out of every 100 reported they had been benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

LONDON NEWSPAPERS DEMAND IMMEDIATE WITHDRAWAL OF HINDENBURG FROM PRESIDENTIAL RACE IN GERMANY

Predict Victory for Field Marshal on April 26 Will Mean "Armed France and no Debt Payment to Great Britain."

LONDON, April 14.—The immediate withdrawal of Hindenburg from the German presidential race was the unusual "demand" voiced by Lord Beaverbrook's newspapers today.

They predicted if the field marshal won at the polls April 26, it will mean "an armed France and no debt payment to Great Britain."

The Beaverbrook press said that Germany has made a remarkable recovery and Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, as well as France, would be aroused should Hindenburg win. These extreme statements indicated the extent of alarm in some British circles over the dual ranger of Hindenburg's candidacy and the French crisis, which, it was feared would combine to bring a return of European chaos.

Even the staid and dignified London Times, in its comment on the German presidential situation, shows concern over what may happen, as a result of the latest German political move.

Hindenburg's Enemies Busy.

General Sir Ian Hamilton, army authority and political writer, in a speech declared that England was aiding Hindenburg by prolonging the occupation of Cologne. He said such action aroused suspicion and was worth "thousands of votes" for the former leader of the kaiser's armies.

BERLIN, April 14. — Hindenburg's enemies were busy today plucking his career to pieces, taking particular pains to emphasize his "utter ignorance of politics." Republican newspapers turned the Nationalist presidential candidates's own utterances against him finding apparently ready campaign ammunition in them.

Welt am Montag reminded its readers that the field marshal in March, 1915, told Senator Beveridge:

"We do not dislike France and Russia. We think a lot of the French. But England. We hate England. She caused it all."

Two years and a half later, after the United States had joined forces with the allies, the newspaper pointed out, Hindenburg ridiculed the prospect of America becoming a real factor in the war.

"They cannot 'Barnum' us," he said. "They are too much afraid of Japan. But even if America sends large contingents of troops to Europe. It won't alter the situation."

Search is Friutless For Priceless Books Taken by Robbers

SAN REMO, Italy—Canvassers of second-hand book stores and art collectors' studios have failed to recover more than a minimum of the priceless books and rare documents which were stolen from the home of Signora Giulia Grossi here. It is not exactly certain when and how the robbery took place, but the pilligers, who are new under arrest, gradually rifled the library of the half million dollars' worth of treasures.

The greatest loss is that of priceless illuminated codices and rare first editions. Very old historical documents, showing the state and grandeur of Genoa Savona and San Remo, collected and preserved by the Grossi family for more than 500 years, were so scattered by the robbers that little hope is held out for their ultimate recovery. Some of the articles stolen, however, already have been offered for sale to collectors at low prices. Fortunately certain of these collectors have informed the Grossi family, and the treasures were restored to the rightful owners.

Land Gift Accepted.

BUCYRUS, April — The city council has accepted the gift of 30 acres of land made by Daniel Aumiller and will convert it into a municipal playground. The county commissioners are to be asked to construct the bridge necessary across the Sandusky river to make access to the new park convenient.

Rub the Chest

For Deep, Heavy Colds

Here is the best way to get rid of a bad cold. First apply hot wet towels over throat and chest to open the pores of the skin.

Then massage briskly with Vicks for five minutes, spread on thickly and cover with two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. Leave the bedclothing loose about the neck so that the vapors arising may be freely inhaled. These vapors, inhaled with each breath, carry the medication directly to the affected parts.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin, helping the vapors inhaled to relieve tightness and soreness.

PLAN TO HELP FRUIT CROPS

State Expert Coming to Aid Orchardists of County.

An expert from the agriculture department of Ohio State university has been assigned to Columbiana county for the purpose of aiding orchardists in the control of scab this year. The object of the state is to do what it can to develop the apple and peach crop in this county.

It is likely that the state orchard expert will arrive in Salem late this week, or not later than Tuesday next and he will watch the trees both in the fruit belt in Columbiana and Mahoning counties.

When the spores begin to shoot 15 different orchardists in this county will be advised to immediately apply the pink spray, this particular spray being applied to the trees for the purpose of controlling the scab.

The different orchardists who will be advised are: L. J. Kirk, New Waterford; J. L. Keller, Leetonia; C. W. Hall, New Waterford; Alfred Akenhead, East Palestine; Sydney Cope, Rogers; F. C. Kinnear, Columbiana; R. W. Armstrong, Elkton; C. M. Armstrong, R. F. D. No. 3, Lisbon; W. H. Matthews, Salem; A. U. Patton, Salem; C. Fred Sitler, Leetonia; Oliver C. Vodrey, East Liverpool; G. W. Armstrong, Lisbon; Efficiency Electric Manufacturing company, East Palestine; John Oyer, Kensington.

As soon as these people have been advised to apply the pink spray, they will immediately advise other orchardists in their immediate neighborhood.

These 15 orchardists compose a committee to disseminate all information that may be imparted to them from the state expert.

The dormant spray has been applied to trees in practically every orchard in the county, according to information just received by County Agent Floyd Lower. The program to keep down the scab will insure a better crop.

C. S. Stevens, calf and sheep salesman for the Producers' Co-Operative Commission company, of Pittsburgh, Pa., an organization controlled by the members of the farm bureau, will hold a calf and sheep grading demonstration in the stock yards at East Rochester at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, April 15.

Particular attention will be given to the grading of calves at the East Rochester demonstration for the reason that many shippers of calves do not understand how calves are graded on the market by the buyers. The loss in dressing will be shown by this expert, and it will be also pointed out what condition the stock should be in when it is placed on sale on the Pittsburgh market.

"We want to show the shippers how top prices are obtained from buyers, and also why some calves do not bring as much as others," announced Phil E. Heim, county distributing agent for the farm bureau. "We also want to assist the shippers in every way we can, and by holding these demonstrations we can point out to the shippers certain weak spots in their stock, and offer suggestions as to how they may be overcome."

thre most important South American countries, while Germany supplied 19.7 per cent and the United States came third with 13.5. Ten years later the United States and England were on practically even terms with 24 per cent each, with perhaps a slight advantage to England because of her large interests in Argentine, while Germany had fallen far behind with about 13 per cent as her share.

Similarly in the Far East our share of the trade shows increases. Our percentage of Japan's imports rose from 16 in 1913 to 26 in 1924, whereas Great Britain's dropped from 16 to 12 per cent and Germany's declined from 9 to 6 per cent.

Even Greater Gain in China.

In China, according to Mr. Klein's data, the American gain was even more impressive during the same period, rising from 6 to 16 per cent, while England's share fell from 16 to 13 per cent and Germany's from 5 to 3 per cent. Even in India, a supposedly impregnable stronghold of British trade, though still dominated by her merchants, the American portion of imports though small is on the increase, having risen from about 2.5 per cent to nearly 6 per cent.

Another factor in our favor in going after foreign markets is the amazing growth of our purchases of raw materials in Asia, Latin America, Africa and Oceanica, which increased from an annual average of $734,000,00 during the five per-ward years to almost treble that figure, or $2,112,000,000 in 1924. We are buying about seven times as much crude rubber as we did before the war, until we now absorb 77 per cent of the total world output, and some two or three times as much silk, vegetable oil, cacao, sugar, and many other raw materials. This means that these countries are establishing large credits in the United States, and naturally they will buy where they sell.

Mr. Klein points out that fundamentally the issue between the American exporter and his rivals would seem to be one of whether quality or cut prices should prevail, and he says that as between the two there is to be no question as to the ultimate decision of the American merchant or manufacturer. A strict adherence to those high standards which have long given American wares their standing in overseas markets would seem to be the best, and, in fact, the only foundation for a lasting edifice in our foreign trade. It is quite likely that this may mean a loss in certain lines and trade centers, but Mr. Klein observes that there is some comfort in noting that European price cutting seems to be decidedly on the wane for several reasons, notably, high interests rates on borrowed capital and high taxes.

"Let us leave the extraordinary risks of price gambling to our competitors," concludes Mr. Klein, "and adhere to those sound principles which have always been the basis of successful merchandising at home and abroad—good quality, just terms, implicit compliance with commitments on delivery, and development of the best production technique.

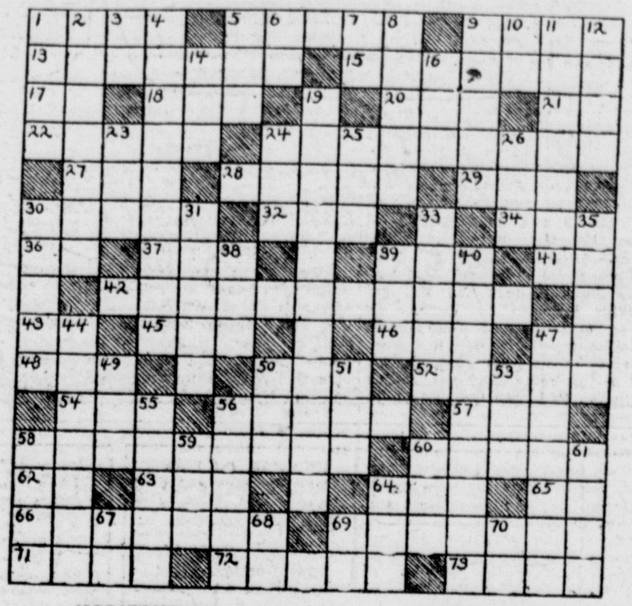

"Let us, above all, keep our heads and not be stampeded by any sudden or momentary shift in the trade current or by the temporary advantages of our competitors."

The export trade of the United States in 1924 increased more than 10 per cent over 1923, and the opening months of 1925 have shown continued satisfactory gains.

Shaw Finds Man He Admits Taught Him Something

LONDON, Eng., April—The brilliant brain of George Bernard Shaw made it easy for him to learn the intricacies of the tango, according to Michael Rinder, who instructed Shaw in the dance recently at Madeira.

"Mr. Shaw came to my bungalow to look on, but remained to learn, and proved an apt pupil," said Rinder. "He applied his precise mind as well as his feet, and it is, of course, an easy task to teach an intelligent person who is eager to learn."

Shaw presented Rinder with an autograph as follows: "To the only man in Madeira able to teach me anything.—G. B. Shaw."

Siamese Twins Born To Engineer's Wife In Rotherham, Eng.

ROTHERHAM, England, April.—Mrs. Bell, the young wife of a Rotherham engineer, has given birth to twins whose bodies are joined together and inseparable.

These modern counterparts of the famous Siamese Twins are girls and their parents, first offspring. Doctors state that they are well and healthy and are likely to live.

There are several other cases known throughout the world of children being born joined together; but attempts to separate children born in this manner have only twice been successful.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

Q. Did country or city boys average best in physical fitness during the war? R. E. P.

Q. When do the northern lights appear? J. F. C.

A. The Naval Observatory says that there is no specified time for the northern lights to appear. The cause of the aurora borealis is incompletely understood. There seems to be some connection between sunspots and the appearance of the autoras. Probably they are merely an electric luminosity of very rare gases. It is certain that the auroras are connected with the magnetism of the earth and that a strong influence upon the magnetic needle is exerted in some manner.

Q. How can I get a position as a mail aviator? ? E. L.

Q. Does the Erie Triangle, giving Pennsylvania a sea port on Lake Erie, belong to the federal government? If not why are there government markers on it? C. M. T.

A. The Geological Survey says that the Erie Triangle was sold by New York to the federal government in 1781. This in turn was sold by the federal government to Pennsylvania in 1792. It is not federal land but owned by the state. The markers or benches on this land are merely historical markers.

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of calonite powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Britain Sends Super-Sub on Mystery Cruise

While France is refusing to consider discussing curtailment of submarines in the disarmament conference the U. S. professes to hold and Washington is admitting that submarines should be considered part of coast defense forces, Great Britain is preparing to send the biggest sub in the world, the V-1, on a mystery cruise around the world. Naval authorities emphasize the growing importance of under-sea boats, because of the proven efficacy of airplanes in fighting water-level craft. STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause — Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the REAL cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

250,000 Fans Watch Opening Day Tilts; Weather Is Typical

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Major league baseball, hallowed institution of all that is typically American, will get away running this afternoon in the formal opening of the 1925 season and the citizenry of eight big time cities are agog at the prospect. A Cub reporter, given a story about a mad dog running amuck, once wrote something to the effect that the dog ran a terrible muck down the street. I might say therefore, that the fans are a very successful gog.

It is the big moment for which they annually wait and a grandmother's life, more or less, is a mere nothing.

Close to a quarter of amillion souls will attend the various openings, weather permitting, and of that number, some were born with grandmothers, some will achieve them and others, particularly the bosses with office boys, will have them thrust upon them.

Opening day, always a fickle, temperamental proposition in the matter of weather, is running true to form today. Although the general indication is for fair weather, not a few of the favored cities are threatened with showers that may wash the entire proceedings overboard.

Locally, the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees, respective champions and runners-up in the American league last year, are due to oblige at the Yankee stadium and early indications were for clear and cool weather. If no change is manifested before night-fall, the teams will play before nearly 65,000 persons, as the park is a sell out except for the unreserved sections. Walter Johnson is one of several pitching possibilities for Washington. Shocker probably will pitch for the Yankees.

The same conditions will probably effect the opening at Ebbets' field, where the Dodgers and Phillies will hold forth before nearly 30,000. Vance, league leading pitcher, is due for the Dodgers, Jimmy Ring for the Phillies.

Unsettled weather is in prospect for the Giant-Braves' game at Boston, and the Red sox-Athletics' opening at Philadelphia. The day dawned clear in both cities, but the official forecast called for showers late in the afternoon or shortly after dark.

At Cincinnati, where the Cardinals and Reds are due to mingle, much the same conditions prevailed, there being an area of low pressure nearby.

Further west, however, the prospects were more encouraging. Fair weather was in prospect for the Chicago opening between the Pirates and Cubs, and St. Louis for the inaugural ceremonies featuring the Indians and the Browns.

But not so Detroit's prospects. It was cloudy there during the last 24 hours, and the sardonic weather man was pleased to indicate that this condition might continue today.

One other factor, that of the unprecedented number of players affected this year by illness, injury and the bite of the holdout bug, may serve to mar some of the openings.

Babe Ruth, most famous of all ball players, will miss the Yankee inaugural. He is still confined to a local hospital with the flu and can only follow the fortunes of his team through reports brought to his bedside. The Yanks also are likely to start without Everett Scott, shortstop, and his consecutive-game streak seems about to be ended after 1,291 games.

John McGraw will miss his first opening game since becoming manager of the Giants. He is ill. Frisch, Lindstrom and Groh, of the same club, are ailing and any or all of them may be out. The Athletics will be devoid of Hauser and Heimach through injuries and the Cubs must worry along without Maranville, Hollocher and Grigsby.

Moore and Niehaus, of the Pirates, also may prove to be hors de hospital, and Aldridge, of the same club, is a holdout. "Baby Doll" Jackson, of the Browns, is similarly affected, while Wrightstone of the Phillies, and Blue, of the Tigers, are suffering from minor casualties, although both may play.

SPORT CHATTER

G'enna Collett, the feminine Babe Ruth of golfdom, has gone to England to play in the British women's golf championship tourney at Tyron in May. There is no truth, however, in the rumor that she will attempt to go the swimmers one better by trying to drive a golf ball across the English channel.

Iron Man Joe McGinnity played a part in the rise of young Charley Dressen, now with Cincinnati and expected to be a great infielder when he gets under way.

Dressen was obtained from St. Paul last fall and was expected to play short this year. A cold he contracted in his arm late last season has bothered the wing ever since, and to date has kept him out of the game.

Dressen started out to be a pitcher. He pitched for his school team in Decatur, Ill. When he was graduated from school he hooked up with the somewhat famous Decatur Blues, an industrial outfit. McGinnity was then bossing that outfit.

Dressen's diminutive size caused McGinity to make him leadoff man whenever he played. Then Joe decided that while Dressen's chances for making good as a pitcher were limited because of his diminutive size the kid had the makings of a good infielder. Joe promptly shifted him to third base. Moline, in the Three-Eye league, bought him as a third sacker in 1919 and he was still an infielder when the club sold him to Peoria.

Big league scouts looked him over. His size discouraged most of the ivory hunters. Mike Kelly, then bossing St. Paul, heard of Charley, and grabbed him. Sent him to third.

Dressen not only proved himself a brilliant infielder but started hitting at a .300 gait and improved that record.

In 1922 he hit .304. He held this average the next season and then last year rang the bell for a .347 average. He led the league in the 1924 campaign in driving in runs, his trusty bat accounting for 151. He scored 100 himself.

And there seems little reason to doubt that he will keep up his work with the stick when he resumes playing with the Reds.

All of which doesn't make Iron Man Joseph a bit sad or mournful like.

It may be only a co-incidence that the news that Bill Doak had refused to allow the Brooklyn club to pay him $15,000 a year for pitching came co-incident with the report that Owner Ebbetts of the club, who has been ill, was feeling much easier.

Time for another report that Jack Dempsey is to return to the ring—and the usual followup report that he isn't. You can't blame a champion for using that one-two punch idea to keep himself in the public eye, however.

Babe Ruth hit .449 in the exhibition games and .520 at the dinner table—before he lost out.

Bill Doak, veteran pitcher, has announced that he prefers to continue as a real estate salesman in Florida and has turned down a $15,000-a year contract offered him by the club. Which indicates that Bill figures on selling considerable real estate.

Suez canal has no locks and is 100 miles long, while the Panama canal is 40 miles in length.

And He Doesn't Call It "Obre-on"

Out to restore the prestige of the Irish in the ring is Mr. Tommy O'Brien, the young gentleman who socked George Chaney on the button a while ago in the lightweight elimination series and is now seeking more world's to conquer.

W. Va. Frosh Captain Injured in Workout

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 14.—Captain Jake Cottrel, of the freshman track squad, and star end on that football team in the past season, pulled a tendon in practice yesterday, and has been laid off from all workouts by Coach Smith. The Charleston speed boy, recently elected captain of the promising freshman outfit, was running in improved form at the time of his injury. Coach Smith had intended to use him in the 440-yard event and the 220 low hurdles, and hopes to be able to have him reeady for the opening meet in Keyser, with Potomac State, on April 18th.

The Mountaineer mentor is having unusual hard luck in the matter of injuries to his track squads this year. In addition to the recent mishap to Cottrell, Michaels, a promising Varsity candidate for the 40, and Morgan, another good-looking prospect who runs the 880, have pulled tendons and were laid up for some time. The coach attributes this to the fact that the track squad is without the services of a rubber or trainer, and must depend upon student assistant managers for this important part of the development and conditioning of his men.

SOUTH AMHERST, April — This village, which has just subdued a scarlet fever epidemic starting last November, is now in the throes of a flu epidemic, with 25 cases.

Opening Day Finds Three Noted Names Among the Missing

NEW YORK, April 14.—Three of the greatest names in all baseball will be missing from the accounts of the 1925 opening games today as a result of illness and injury.

Babe Ruth, most famous player the game has known, is still confined to his hospital cot by illness and will be missing from the Yankee-Senator opening at the Yankee stadium.

So, according to official statements, will Everett Scott, veteran shortstop and holder of the world's record for consecutive games played. For nine seasons, Scott has played a ball game every day, come what might, until his record reached the amazing total of 1,291 games. Now, it seemingly must come to an end through an abdominal strain contracted in a recent training camp game.

John McGraw, famous manager of the Giants, did not go to Boston with his club. He is confined to his home here with a heavy cold and will miss his first opening since taking over the leadership of the club more than 20 years ago.

Java is to have a 30,000 horsepower hydro electric plant which will furnish power to many industries and cities.

SKY CLEAR FOR PIRATES-CUBS

Yde or Kramer to Oppose Alexander on Mound.

CHICAGO, April 14.—The most perfect of spring days with a warm, summer-like sun hanging high over head and a gentle balmy breeze whispering lazily, greeted the thousands who treked to the lair of the Cubs here today to witness their clash with the Pirates in the National league opener.

Grover Cleveland Alexander was scheduled to do business on the mound for the Cubs and report had it that Yde or Kramer would do the Pirate flinging.

Only Denver Grigsby will be missing from the Cubs' squad when "play ball" is called, although Rabbit Maranville will be present only to give his moral support since a broken ankle will preclude his participating in the day's activities. Grigsby still is in a Los Angeles hospital.

On the Pirate casualty list was Second Baseman Moore, who hurt his shoulder in Oklahoma City and First Baseman Nelhaus, who is suffering from a sprained leg. Both, however, it is said, may be able to play.

DETROIT BOOKS GREB AND ROJAS

DETROIT, Mich., April 14.—Romero Rojas will battle Harry Greb, champion middleweight, here on May 1, it was announced today. The middleweight crown will not be at stake.

School Head Weds

Elyria, April—Helen M. Rice, assistant county school superintendent and graduate of Oberlin college, has announced her marriage to Foster I. Fackler, Shelby, a bus driver, as having taken place at Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 20, 1920.

Why the United States Rubber Company's New Flat "Low-Pressure Tread" on Balloon Tires Prevents Early and Uneven Tread Wear

Compare these two tread imprints—
They tell the whole story
of Balloon Tire performance on the road

THESE tread imprints were made by two Balloon Tires of exactly the same size. Both under the same load. Both inflated at the same air-pressure.

Yet one shows 22% more road contact than the other.

Here you see one of the outstanding advantages of the new flat "Low-Pressure Tread," one of the greatest achievements ever contributed to Balloon Tires. And exclusive with U. S. Royal Balloon Cords.

This is the first tread ever designed to properly conform to the action of a Balloon Tire on the road.

It is designed specifically for the low inflations necessary to give real Balloon Tire cushioning.

This means that for the first time you get the full Balloon comfort without sacrificing mileage.

This 22% greater area of contact distributes the load better—lessens the weight on the individual tread blocks—reduces tread wear and movement, and does away with early, uneven and disfiguring tread wear.

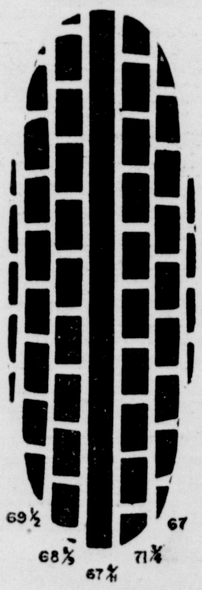

It means that you do not have to over-inflate your tires to prevent this early tread wear.

It establishes a new standard of low-pressure inflation. It gives you better cushioning and longer service. It gives better traction, easier steering, and greater stability.

It gives better non-skid protection because the flexible outer row of tread blocks is now brought into full contact with the road.

Specify U. S. Royal Balloon Cords—"the Balloon Tire principle at its Best."

Imprint of a round-tread Balloon Tire

Imprint of the new, flat "LOW-PRESSURE TREAD"

What Actual Scientific Measurements Prove about Load Distribution on the New "LOW-PRESSURE TREAD"

Compare the two tread imprints above. Note the figures opposite each row of tread blocks. They represent the average load in pounds carried by each tread block in that row. They show how the new flat "Low-Pressure Tread" lessens the pressure on each tread block.

Here is the first Balloon Tire designed specifically to give maximum wear and service with the ideal low air-pressure.

It is the complete answer to all arguments for higher air-pressure in Balloon Tires in order to prevent quick and uneven tread wear.

THE BLACK FLAG FLIES HIGH

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

"Fifteen men on the dead man's chest—
Yo-Ho-Ho, and a bottle o' rum."

And as the jolly Pittsburgh Pirates get their National league brigade under way this year they're hoping the dead man will be John McGraw, the New York Giant, who, by cutlass, broad-sword and stink-bomb has kept the National league seas in a reign of terror for lo, these four past years.

As the Pirates plan to board the Giant ship and start slashing Skipper Bill McKechnie makes it clear that he is depending upon a team of youngsters to carry the team through the campaign. But it strikes me he may be overlooking one happening—the failure of his greatest veteran, Max Carey, to swing his mace with usual alacrity in the van of that young boarding crew.

Should the aged but fleet-footed Max suddenly yield to Dad Time McKechnie will receive an awful blow.

Three newcomers in the sea-roaming crew who are expected to play a big part in the success of the team are Vic Aldrich, Gorge Grantham and Al Neihaus, kidnapped from the Cubs in a winter sallie off the main course.

Neihaus, a youngster, found himself in the happy position, when the trade was made, or having a clear claim to the first basing job, despite his youth and lack of acquaintanceship with the Pirate crew. Charley Grimm, first sacker last year, was included in the band that was sent to the Cubs. Grimm, a spectacular player at times, had the unhappy faculty of faltering at times.

Aldrich found himself listed from the crowded ranks of a first-class pitching staff to one sadly in need of an energetic, winning pitcher. Emil Yde, Ray Kremer and Wilbur Cooper carried the brunt of the pitching for the Pirate last season. Lee Meadows ranked fourth. Johnny Morrison, owner of one of the greatest curve balls in baseball, failed once more to find his place in the sun.

McKetchnie allowed Cooper to go to the Cubs, which left him Kremer and Yde as aces. Aldrich, a winner with the Cubs, has the opportunity to make it a "Big Three" combination.

But two outfielders on the Pirate ship ranked with the best of their fellow men last season—Hazen Cuyler and Max Carey. Barbardt and Bigbee played good ball but not stellar. So Grantham, who made a big hit in Cubville, walked into the possibilities of grabbing off a regular outfielding job.

Pretty soft for these three newcomers, then, but softer still for the Pirates.

Then there are Eddie Moore and Glenn Wright, ready to claim once more places with the great infielders of the game. Moore, at second late last season, drew the attention of the baseball world. Wright's play at short was brilliant all season. Pie Traynor is still at third.

Earl Smith hopes to make Jawn McGraw sorrier than ever that he let Mr. Smith go by catching a brilliant game. Johnny Gooch can step with the rest of them behind the plate.

So the Pirate crew is sittin' pretty.

"Fifteen men on the dead man's chest;
Ho-Ho-Ho, and a bottle o' rum."

Ask Commission to O. K. Greb-Walker go

NEW YORK, April 14.—Official sanction for the proposed championship meeting between Harry Greb and Mickey Walker and the arrangement of dates for the various outdoor boxing shows will be requested of the New York State Athletic commission today. It is also possible that Ace Hudkins, Nebraska lightweight, will be inserted among the entries for the lightweight elmination tourney instead of Joe Benjamin, whom Hudkins recently defeated.

Promoters of the milk fund show are expected to be granted a license for the McTigue-Berlenbach meeting May 12, but the Walker-Greb and Wills-Weinert bouts for the Italian hospital fund probably will be postponed from June 19 to July 3, owing to their proximity to the Tunney-Gibbons match on June 12.

Liquor Raid Reprisals.

LOGAN, April — Four men were arrested by Sheriff Shaw and deputies following what is described as guerilla warfare, or bushwhacking, in western Hocking county. Several homes were fired into at night, and the officers voiced belief that the trouble was due to recent liquor raids.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

The farm wife who wrote the following letter has my deepest sympathy. She is faced by a real dilemma, and not one that is mostly imaginative. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 26 years old and have been married nine years. My husband seems to love me and I still want to believe that he does. But at times he is terrible to me or anything he comes in contact with—cows, cats, horses, etc. He even threatens to kill me and tries to make me leave. All of my coaxing and efforts to keep him out of such moods do no good. When I was just married I cried so much because of this, but now that I am older I look beyond the crying and how much this is ruining my life. When he is not in a mood which lasts for days he treats me as well as he knows how. It has been three years since we purchased a farm. When the contract was drawn up it was done so jointly, but when the deed was made it was in his name. I made objections, but my husband said it was a mistake and I should sign and the matter would be straightened out later. Rather than have any discussion in the presence of lawyers I did as he wanted me to. The deed is the same to this day. We have no children. I work hard, raise chickens, milk four cows, and help out in the field more than any woman I know. All the money goes to pay for my husband's farm. I love work and I am healthy and can stand a lot of hard work, but I have done this for three years and can see nothing coming my way. It wouldn't be so bad if I had a little money for myself, but I haven't a cent. In a mad fit my husband told me that the deed was just as he wanted it and he would never change it for fear I might leave and take part. Should I go on this way, or would you advise me to try a scare and leave for a while? I have a high school education and can mingle well with people. I know I could make my way much easier than I have it now. I don't want to do that. I want in some way to bring about a union which will work with everything. I know I would always love my husband. I often feel I have petted him so much that he couldn't get along without me. If he weren't so selfish it might help. I have an excellent home I could go to any time. My parents understand our trouble but let me be the judge. They never have stepped in.

ANXIOUS WIFE.

Your husband's fits of madness may be due to some mental ailment. If such is the case nothing you can do will remedy matters. But the next time he abuses you and tells you to go, announce quietly that you are going to your parents—or somewhere—for a visit, and keep your word. Perhaps a separation of a month or two will cause him to mend his ways. If this fails, then divorce seems to be the only thing to advise. Since there are no children it is a step you can take without regret.

QUIET: Either the man is indifferent to you, or his nature is such that he is contented without the companionship of a woman. Have other friends too so that you will not depend on him for your happiness. If he cared enough to marry you, you would probably find him an undemonstrative and unsatisfactory husband.

UNHAPPY WIFE: Since your husband will not work and the burden of support falls upon you, refuse to allow him to come home for food and shelter when it pleases him. No man has a right to claim so much from his wife.

N. T. F.: Do not accept invitations to lunch from strangers who come into the office. If you respect your good name it will pay you to be careful in such matters.
